ISU Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Publications Issued in Series

Abstract

This is a compilation of known publication series issued by the Iowa State University Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service, as of the last update. The list includes ISU Library call number, location and holdings, wherever possible along with earlier/later title information for each series. In cases where a series is not available in the ISU collections, some entries mention other libraries that have it available. This is an ongoing work in progress. The list is added to as new publications are uncovered.

ISU Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Publications Issued in Series

Compiled by Lorrie Pellack
(Long version – last updated 8/10/16)

NOTE: University Archives is continually receiving gifts of old ISU publications, so if you need something not listed here check with Archives before heading elsewhere. If the Library does not own something, check the University of Iowa catalog to see if they have it available. They have a phenomenal (and well-cataloged) collection of ISU Extension publications. The Hathi Trust also has full-text electronic versions of some individual volumes, primarily those with pre-1923 publication dates – check under both the series title and the volume title. Be sure to search their Catalog – not the Full-text – at <http://www.hathitrust.org/>

Farm and Home Week

Issued: 1900-1914, 1916-1918, 1921-1946

LD2541 I68x – Media Center (on microfilm) and Archives has 1916 (16th) – 1946 (46th)

Title varies: Short Course and Farmers’ Week; Program for Farmers’ Week; Farm and Home Week Program; Annual Farm and Home Week Program

See also: Program for Farm and Home Week

Note: Issued as part of the Official Publications (Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts) series up through 1927.

Note: There is quite a bit of confusion over Farm and Home Week related publications. There were announcements, individual programs for various parts of the week, as well as a number of conferences and short courses that were held in conjunction with the week.

Note: In the winter of each year, ISU Extension hosted a Farmers’ Week also known as Farm and Home Week. It was not held in 1919 or 1920 due to an influenza epidemic [in Better Iowa, Dec. 6, 1920, on page 1 it says “after two year’s abandonment due to influenza epidemic, Iowa’s big Farm and Home short courses will be held without fail this winter...”] and was also not held “the winter of the foot and mouth disease epidemic.” [Better Iowa, Dec. 1, 1914, p.1, first article, says the Dec. 28, 1914-Jan 2, 1915 event was being cancelled due to Food and Mouth Disease outbreak...although some parts were still being held – Engineers Division meetings, dairy manufacturing and the corn show. In 1927, the program introduction said it had been held annually since 1900 “except for interruptions due to the war.” [Clearly this was inaccurate.]

Program for Farm and Home Week

LD2451 I69x oversize– Archives has 1916-1918, 1920-1929

See also: Farm and Home Week

Note: In the winter of each year, ISU Extension hosted a Farmers’ Week also known as Farm and Home Week. It was not held in 1919 or 1920 due to an influenza epidemic [in Better Iowa, Dec. 6, 1920, on page 1 it says “after two year’s abandonment due to influenza epidemic, Iowa’s big Farm and Home short courses will be held without fail this winter...”] and was also not held “the winter of the foot and mouth disease epidemic.” [in Better Iowa, Dec. 1, 1914, p.1, first article, says the Dec. 28, 1914-Jan 2, 1915 event was being cancelled due to Food and Mouth Disease outbreak...although some parts were still being held – Engineers Division meetings, dairy manufacturing and the corn show. In 1927, the program introduction said it had been held annually since 1900 “except for interruptions due to the war.” [Clearly this was inaccurate.] There was a program published for winter of 1920, even though the events were not held.
