Journal of Critical Thought and Praxis (JCTP) invites you to submit your work for inclusion in our Spring 2015 Special Issue on gender and social justice. JCTP is a peer-reviewed on-line journal that provides a space for emerging scholars, educators, and activists to engage in critical and progressive inter/transdisciplinary scholarship and dialogue that supports awareness of social justice issues and challenges individuals to move towards advocacy and concrete engagement with social justice movements. JCTP is also committed to providing all authors with developmental feedback that helps clarify, sharpen, and communicate ideas and arguments in a manner accessible to a broad social justice community.

We invite proposals that explore a wide range of topics about the relationship between gender and social justice including but not limited to:

- Sexual and gender identification issues
- Political rhetoric and feminism
- Feminist critiques of power structures
- Gender-based violence
- The role of gender in discourse about intersectionality
- Men and Masculinities studies
- Gender sexuality and sports
- Gender, race, and ethnicity
- Gender and notions of motherhood
- Gender and poverty
- Gender and education
- Teaching gender justice
- Social justice and LGBTQ Communities
- Gender intersectionality with food systems
- Gender and globalization
- History of feminist thought and movements

We want to hear from scholars, practitioners, and activists in the U.S. and abroad. We encourage new scholars in and across multiple disciplines to develop theoretical or empirical work relating back to social justice themes in the realm of gender studies.

Specific Guidelines:

Extended Submission Deadline: March 1, 2015

Submissions must include an abstract and should be no more than 30 pages double-spaced (not including abstract, figures, photos, tables, appendices, notes, and references). Manuscripts should follow APA 6th Edition guidelines (if applicable to manuscript). Please include a cover letter with your submission explaining how your work contributes to the mission and scope of JCTP and the special issue. For more detailed author guidelines and submission procedures, please see the journal's website: http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/jctp/ and http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/jctp/policies.html. Also, feel free to contact us at jctp@iastate.edu with questions.