Breaking the Glass Ceiling

Women’s Equality Day celebrates right to vote, ratification anniversary

By Alex Connor and Ellen Rembold @iowastatedaily.com

Equality p3

THE 19TH AMENDMENT
The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

THIELEN STUDENT HEALTH CENTER

Thielen gets accreditation after year of transitions

By Sarah Muller @iowastatedaily.com

The Thielen Student Health Center achieved accreditation after a year of changes including leadership, management, and infrastructure. The Student Health Center was elected to participate in a survey by Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care (AAHC), which provides standards during on-site visit every three years. There are more than 200 standards by the Health Center judged at the beginning of May. “Our goal every time that they come is to show that we substantially meet all the criteria and result in accreditation,” said Bridget Konz, registered nurse and quality improvement officer. “To achieve that, you’re looking at the whole area. Without meeting the threshold, you aren’t accredited. That goal every time is to be an accredited health care institution and that is what we do provide quality care and quality services.”

HEALTH p4

Expanding limits of understanding

ISU researchers receive grant to create revolutionary microscope

By Koman Kent @iowastatedaily.com

Nanoscope p4

A team of top researchers from Iowa State recently received a grant to develop a novel microscope - a device they believe may expand the limits of human understanding.

The instrument, scheduled for completion in 2019, combines existing understandings of optics, metamaterials and powerful lasers to develop a “map” of the objects to be observed. The team, working under the direction of Paul Canfield, will study, understanding the topography and the electromagnetic patterns of these materials at the nanoscale more deeply than has ever been accomplished with existing microscopes.

The research team, headed by Jigang Wang, associate professor of physics and astronomy, includes Fei Fei, then an associate professor at Carnegie Mellon University, and distinguished professors Paul Canfield and Charles Kittel.

For Wang, Fei was the “last piece of a puzzle” required to begin work on a new instrument he calls the extreme quantum terahertz nanoscope. After being enlisted by Wang, Fei became the final member of the elite team that includes highly respected researchers who stand as national leaders in their area of expertise, as well as Koschny. At the time, these researchers were working with Wang to develop plans for a project that would require $3.5 million in grants from the National Science Foundation.

The team, now backed by the university and outside contributors, hopes to develop a device that has never been seen before. The nanoscope will provide information about the world in the small, faster and least energetic dimensions, which researchers have never before been able to observe simultaneously.

The project is not for us, not just for Iowa State,” Wang said. “It has reached consensus to promote the scientific community, to bring funding for technology, to increase our understanding of the imaginations of the general public.”

The nanoscope will work using a prism, a laser, a grating and a camera and will be able to observe nanometers across thousands of times smaller than the width of a human hair. The nanoscope will work using a prism, a laser, a grating and a camera and will be able to observe nanometers across thousands of times smaller than the width of a human hair.

The research, funded by the Department of Energy, will be completed in 2019. The individual was an Iowa State student, and was identified as David Benjamin Stein, 19, of Verona, Wisconsin. Stein was a sophomore in pre- architecture in the College of Design, according to the Iowa State online directory.

Police said that at about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, they responded to a call from a friend stating that he was a potentially suicidal man.

With assistance from the Ames Police Department, officers then located Stein and his vehicle in the corner lots of the Iowa State Center.

Officers found him dead in his vehicle upon arrival to the scene, according to police.

Iowa State Police said no foul play is suspected at this time, but the Ames Police told IowaStater Daily reporters that it was possible.

“We were saddened to learn of David Stein’s death,” said President Steven Leath in a statement. “It’s always diffi cult when a young life is lost, and I ask that members of the Iowa State family devise their thoughts and prayers in David and his family’s time of grief.

We want all students to know that the university offers a number of resources and services to support those who are hurting or struggling with any issue. You are not alone; we have to take care of one another.”

Students seeking counseling or other services are available to find them on the Iowa State Student Affairs website.

The Thielen Student Health Center received accreditation after participating in a survey by Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care, which provides standards during on-site visit every three years. There are more than 200 standards by the Health Center judged at the beginning of May.

“Our goal every time that they come is to show that we substantially meet all the criteria and result in accreditation,” said Bridget Konz, registered nurse and quality improvement officer. "Without meeting the threshold, you aren’t accredited. That goal every time is to be an accredited health care institution and that is what we do provide quality care and quality services."
The Iowa State Daily is the studentedited and sold by students.

The project will include improvements, drainage improvements, and the addition of on-street parking. Improvements are expected to be completed by fall 2018.

The Iowa State Daily welcomes comments and suggestions about its content and corrections. To submit a correction, please send address changes to: Iowa State Daily Publication Board, 2420 Lincoln Way, Suite 205, Ames, IA 50010. For digital editions, visit iowastatedaily.com.

Iowa State Daily
901 S. Fifth Street
Suite 100
Ames, IA 50010
Main Office: 294-4120

Monday to Saturday Appointments
Walk-in Care or Call
205 Clark Ave
251-232-2676
251-512-5455
@iowastatedaily.com

With the student body meeting tonight at 5 p.m., the project will be put on hold until the meeting. The project will then be taken up again after the meeting and will be brought back to the ISU Student Senate for final approval.

The City of Ames is planning to move forward with the project on South Thirteenth Street and South Duff Avenue and on South Fourth Street between Square Creek and South Duff Avenue.

The City of Ames is planning to move forward with the project on South Thirteenth Street and South Duff Avenue and on South Fourth Street between Square Creek and South Duff Avenue.

The project will include pavement improvements, drainage improvements, and the addition of on-street parking on South Thirteenth Street, according to the city. The project will be held on the Samuelson property, which is owned by the state of Iowa, and will be paid for out of state funds.

The Iowa State Daily welcomes comments and suggestions about its content and corrections. To submit a correction, please send address changes to: Iowa State Daily Publication Board, 2420 Lincoln Way, Suite 205, Ames, IA 50010. For digital editions, visit iowastatedaily.com.

The ISU football team showed up for an audition time.

The Iowa State Daily welcomes comments and suggestions about its content and corrections. To submit a correction, please send address changes to: Iowa State Daily Publication Board, 2420 Lincoln Way, Suite 205, Ames, IA 50010. For digital editions, visit iowastatedaily.com.
Why do people eat healthy at restaurants?

By Alex Hanson

Having a meal out occasionally can be a pleasure and a convenience for many people. But the question of why people choose to eat healthy, or not, is a complex one. Researchers have found that a variety of factors can influence a person's decision to choose healthy or unhealthy options when dining out.

One study published in the Journal of Foodservice Business Research found that an increase in healthy eating among people who dine out. The study was published in the journal "Journal of Foodservice Business Research.

Equality p1

IOWA STATE DAILY

Weekly politics wraps-up

By Alex Hanson

Here’s a range of the latest political news with a Weekly politics wrap-up.

President Donald Trump spent the weekend talking about a possible shift in his immigration policies. He has been considering a plan to select a humanitarian alternative when someone is found to be an active participant in the electoral college.

"The idea is to have a plan to select a humanitarian alternative when someone is found to be an active participant in the electoral college," a campaign aide told CNN.

"It's a priority to make sure that there is a plan in place to select a humanitarian alternative when someone is found to be an active participant in the electoral college." The aide said.

Cheryl Gavrin, director of the Carrie Chapman Catt Center for Women's Studies, has also been speaking about the importance of electing women to office. A former candidate for U.S. Senate, she has been speaking about the importance of electing women to office.

"We need to make sure that women are represented in positions of power," Gavrin said.

"I also think we need to make sure that women are represented in positions of power," she added.

The study showed that 60% of the women surveyed said they would be more likely to choose a candidate who is a woman.

A trend that has been shown in recent studies is that women are more likely to vote for candidates who are women. A study published in the Journal of Women's History found that women are more likely to vote for women candidates.

"Women are more likely to vote for women candidates," the study found.

The study also found that women are more likely to vote for candidates who are women. The study found that women are more likely to vote for women candidates.

"Women are more likely to vote for women candidates," the study found.

The study also found that women are more likely to vote for candidates who are women. The study found that women are more likely to vote for women candidates.

"Women are more likely to vote for women candidates," the study found.

The study also found that women are more likely to vote for candidates who are women. The study found that women are more likely to vote for women candidates.

"Women are more likely to vote for women candidates," the study found.

The study also found that women are more likely to vote for candidates who are women. The study found that women are more likely to vote for women candidates.

"Women are more likely to vote for women candidates," the study found.
SUDOKU

CROSSWORD

- HOROSCOPES
  - An idea that could lead to new possibilities, and dreams. Propose a new connection presents an influence with important people. In distance gigs. You're gaining ready to dance. Line up long-term possibilities, and dreams. Propose your methods.
  -make promotions.
  -The team hopes that superconductivity may be the first of many phenomena.
  -A new goal for the department is extending the mental health services. While the department has Dr. Carver Nebbe, who is skilled in family practice and pediatric care, the Student Health Center continues to see increase in demand for mental health. Students there have had an increase in addition to other services provided.
  -The Student Health Center provides multiple services including pregnancy testing and birth control counseling. They have explained their intentions to have more consultants for both males and females. The Student Health Center's working to be a full-service clinic.

NEWS

ADD BEATS TO YOUR SUMMER. You can't buy a wireless Beats® headphone when you buy an eligible Mac® or iPad Pro™ for college. And save up to $200 with Apple® education pricing.*

---

*See store for details.

---

COMPENSATION PROVIDED

MONAD

Libra – 6 (Oct. 23-Nov. 22)

- make meditation your habit.

Scorpio – 7 (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

- A new connection presents an opportunity for you to move in a different direction. You're gaining new energy.

Sagittarius – 7 (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

- Call an important person.

Capricorn – 8 (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

- A new connection presents an opportunity for you to move in a different direction. You're gaining new energy.

Aquarius – 9 (Feb. 19-March 20)

- A new goal for the department is extending the mental health services. While the department has Dr. Carver Nebbe, who is skilled in family practice and pediatric care, the Student Health Center continues to see increase in demand for mental health. Students there have had an increase in addition to other services provided.

Pisces – 8 (March 21-April 19)

- A new goal for the department is extending the mental health services. While the department has Dr. Carver Nebbe, who is skilled in family practice and pediatric care, the Student Health Center continues to see increase in demand for mental health. Students there have had an increase in addition to other services provided.

---

LEADERSHIP

Health PT

Kenz creates their physical therapy practice.

NEWS

LEADERSHIP

Kenz creates their physical therapy practice.

---

MEDICINE

Health PT

Kenz creates their physical therapy practice.

---

MEDICINE

Kenz creates their physical therapy practice.

---

MEDICINE

Kenz creates their physical therapy practice.

---

MEDICINE

Kenz creates their physical therapy practice.

---

MEDICINE

Kenz creates their physical therapy practice.

---

MEDICINE

Kenz creates their physical therapy practice.

---

MEDICINE

Kenz creates their physical therapy practice.
Feminism is a message. Equal- ity for all. I’m tired of hearing people, especially other women, say they are not feminists, as if listen- ing to a conversation about an ideological mystery. Guess what? If you say this, you are a feminist. I say this against you civil rights. Surprised? If you are, you might not know what feminism is. It is the belief that men are not necessarily better than women. Feminism is not about crazy women shot up, but none in a variety of formats. I see no a rotating cast of cities should foot for minoritized students were. At the end of the diversity and inclusion are alive and well. Phrases that “improve the ISU Experience for minority students” do not lay out specific necessary to make campus a safe environment non-drive behind them for change, and their voices are suppressed, sometimes even intentionally ignored. And all the while, minoritized students. And all the while, minoritized students. At the end of the semester, LUCHA members and one panel of • On campus, websites are most underrepresented students, it will mean nothing if logical and rea- sons for the change necessary to make campus a safe environment • Microaggressions, by their very na- mens of specific identity groups. They can be gener- ated voices calling for the change necess- ary to make campus a safe environment • 12 percent of ISU students are defined as “multicultural,” with that number • The Daily encourages discussion but does not • Mohamed Abufalgha, community member • Majors and/or group affiliation(s)
By Rich Stevens
@iowastatedaily.com
for hard work

By Brian Mozey
@iowastatedaily.com

The ISU soccer team had a strong showing in their first practice of the season. Coming off their first win of the season, the Cyclones will set out to take the positives from that victory and mold them into a building block for this weekend.

The Cyclones: 1-0, 0-0 Big 12 tied to take on South Dakota State in the Big 12 opener. In 2015, the Cyclones topped the Jackrabbits 2-0, in Ames.

Coach Tony Minatta has been putting a lot of emphasis on defense this season, and it translates to offense. The team has to block both ends of the 1-0 victory against South Dakota State Saturday, and it paid dividends.

While a cheerful win is a great way to begin the sea- son, senior defender Madil Ort said that moving forward is what’s important now. “We’re learning a lot of things every game is a lesson. We’re try- ing to learn from them and get better every day.”

On placed all 18 minutes into Sunday’s match. The strong defense threat, crea- ted with the defense of the ball shown and the -1 victory against South Dakota State Saturday, and it paid dividends.

The team is looking to use its experience to shut down an improved Creighton team. Creighton returning 10 players, while bringing in 17 new players. Hendon said that the Cyclones’ all-american defense will

ISU head football coach Matt Campbell leads the first practice of the 2016 season on Aug. 4. Iowa State will take on Northern Illinois on Sept. 3 at Jack Trice Stadium.

The ISU football team has more than 100 players on its roster, and coach Matt Campbell expects to see a majority of them during the up- coming season.

Campbell said that he was in a situation similar to this in his three seasons on the field at Iowa State. In 2015, he took 125 tackles while playing in every game and recorded a fumble in the season opener against Northern Iowa.

Spreen’s credentials are similar. He played in 10 games last season while recording 11 tackles. “He was really unprepared when he got here,” Spreen said of the release. “At first, I thought I was in trouble. But then he told me the truth. I was doing everything I was supposed to do, but for some reason, he couldn’t make it work.”

Both Minatta and the defensive coordinator, has been putting a big empha- sis on maintaining the level of energy to come off the bench at any point in the game. “You’ve got to have multiple people,” Minatta said. “You’ve got to have people you can count on. You need to be able to count on players that you know you can count on.”

Yet, the Cyclones are best known for two things: sacrificing and hard work. The offensive line isn’t returning more than 100 players on its roster, and Campbell expects battles to continue for the foreseeable future.

So what is happening with the offensive line? “As of Wednesday, Campbell said, ‘I expect the offensive line to be a lot better.”

As for the defense, Campbell is preparing players into the team’s dif- ferent formations, and he wants to see who steps up before his home opener. He is watching to see which players are comfortable in the nickel or dime formations, but players will move around to different positions.

“Depths is such a huge piece of the puzzle we’re in,” Campbell said. “You’ve got to have multiple people, because you don’t want to lose the nature of college football today.”

ISU head football coach Matt Campbell leads the first practice of the 2016 season on Aug. 4. Iowa State will take on Northern Illinois on Sept. 3 at Jack Trice Stadium.

The ISU football team has more than 100 players on its roster, and coach Matt Campbell expects to see a majority of them during the up- coming season.

Campbell said that he was in a situation similar to this in his three seasons on the field at Iowa State. In 2015, he took 125 tackles while playing in every game and recorded a fumble in the season opener against Northern Iowa.

Spreen’s credentials are similar. He played in 10 games last season while recording 11 tackles. “He was really unprepared when he got here,” Spreen said of the release. “At first, I thought I was in trouble. But then he told me the truth. I was doing everything I was supposed to do, but for some reason, he couldn’t make it work.”

Both Minatta and the defensive coordinator, has been putting a big empha- sis on maintaining the level of energy to come off the bench at any point in the game. “You’ve got to have multiple people,” Minatta said. “You’ve got to have people you can count on. You need to be able to count on players that you know you can count on.”

Yet, the Cyclones are best known for two things: sacrificing and hard work. The offensive line isn’t returning more than 100 players on its roster, and Campbell expects battles to continue for the foreseeable future.

So what is happening with the offensive line? “As of Wednesday, Campbell said, ‘I expect the offensive line to be a lot better.”

As for the defense, Campbell is preparing players into the team’s dif- ferent formations, and he wants to see who steps up before his home opener. He is watching to see which players are comfortable in the nickel or dime formations, but players will move around to different positions.

“Depths is such a huge piece of the puzzle we’re in,” Campbell said. “You’ve got to have multiple people, because you don’t want to lose the nature of college football today.”

The ISU soccer team had a strong showing in their first practice of the season. Coming off their first win of the season, the Cyclones will set out to take the positives from that victory and mold them into a building block for this weekend.

The Cyclones: 1-0, 0-0 Big 12 tied to take on South Dakota State in the Big 12 opener. In 2015, the Cyclones topped the Jackrabbits 2-0, in Ames.

Coach Tony Minatta has been putting a lot of emphasis on defense this season, and it translates to offense. The team has to block both ends of the 1-0 victory against South Dakota State Saturday, and it paid dividends.

While a cheerful win is a great way to begin the sea- son, senior defender Madil Ort said that moving forward is what’s important now. “We’re learning a lot of things every game is a lesson. We’re try- ing to learn from them and get better every day.”

On placed all 18 minutes into Sunday’s match. The strong defense threat, crea- ted with the defense of the ball shown and the -1 victory against South Dakota State Saturday, and it paid dividends.

The team is looking to use its experience to shut down an improved Creighton team. Creighton returning 10 players, while bringing in 17 new players. Hendon said that the Cyclones’ all-american defense will

ISU head football coach Matt Campbell leads the first practice of the 2016 season on Aug. 4. Iowa State will take on Northern Illinois on Sept. 3 at Jack Trice Stadium.

The ISU football team has more than 100 players on its roster, and coach Matt Campbell expects to see a majority of them during the up- coming season.

Campbell said that he was in a situation similar to this in his three seasons on the field at Iowa State. In 2015, he took 125 tackles while playing in every game and recorded a fumble in the season opener against Northern Iowa.

Spreen’s credentials are similar. He played in 10 games last season while recording 11 tackles. “He was really unprepared when he got here,” Spreen said of the release. “At first, I thought I was in trouble. But then he told me the truth. I was doing everything I was supposed to do, but for some reason, he couldn’t make it work.”

Both Minatta and the defensive coordinator, has been putting a big empha- sis on maintaining the level of energy to come off the bench at any point in the game. “You’ve got to have multiple people,” Minatta said. “You’ve got to have people you can count on. You need to be able to count on players that you know you can count on.”

Yet, the Cyclones are best known for two things: sacrificing and hard work. The offensive line isn’t returning more than 100 players on its roster, and Campbell expects battles to continue for the foreseeable future.

So what is happening with the offensive line? “As of Wednesday, Campbell said, ‘I expect the offensive line to be a lot better.”

As for the defense, Campbell is preparing players into the team’s dif- ferent formations, and he wants to see who steps up before his home opener. He is watching to see which players are comfortable in the nickel or dime formations, but players will move around to different positions.

“Depths is such a huge piece of the puzzle we’re in,” Campbell said. “You’ve got to have multiple people, because you don’t want to lose the nature of college football today.”

The ISU soccer team had a strong showing in their first practice of the season. Coming off their first win of the season, the Cyclones will set out to take the positives from that victory and mold them into a building block for this weekend.

The Cyclones: 1-0, 0-0 Big 12 tied to take on South Dakota State in the Big 12 opener. In 2015, the Cyclones topped the Jackrabbits 2-0, in Ames.

Coach Tony Minatta has been putting a lot of emphasis on defense this season, and it translates to offense. The team has to block both ends of the 1-0 victory against South Dakota State Saturday, and it paid dividends.

While a cheerful win is a great way to begin the sea- son, senior defender Madil Ort said that moving forward is what’s important now. “We’re learning a lot of things every game is a lesson. We’re try- ing to learn from them and get better every day.”

On placed all 18 minutes into Sunday’s match. The strong defense threat, crea- ted with the defense of the ball shown and the -1 victory against South Dakota State Saturday, and it paid dividends.

The team is looking to use its experience to shut down an improved Creighton team. Creighton returning 10 players, while bringing in 17 new players. Hendon said that the Cyclones’ all-american defense will changing the future of transportation

By Emma Blickensderfer
@iowastatedaily.com

Hill said one of the biggest things students take away from PrISUm is how to solve problems and handle stress. In a race, there are no excuses because the race will happen. "You are on your own, and situations will come up that you have to overcome," Hill said.

"They aren’t afraid to take on something new."

People wouldn’t expect the amount of subgroups needed when they see the car driving around, said Charlotte Brandenburg, composite manager. "PrISUm reached more than 70,000 people this year, which is a testament to how many students know how to fundraise, market and brand their organization and are committed to their success. Students of all different majors, such as elementary education, entrepreneurial studies and communication, are a part of PrISUm."

Someday, Goode said, "This year, the team competed their way to a national championship, said Matt Goode, project manager. "This year, the team competed their way to a national championship, but we were really able to stay on top of the team. They are aren’t afraid to take on something new."
Every Friday, the Iowa State Daily will publish a photo page to showcase the great work from around campus and interesting things happening in the community. With all of the events and activities taking place, we would appreciate you submitting your photos. If you take a photo and would like it published in future weeks, use the hashtag #snapISU.

Want your photos featured? Tweet them out using #snapISU

IOWA STATE DAILY BUSINESS DIRECTORY

Jackson Cleaning Service
Call us at 231-3649

• Residential Cleaning
• Getting Your Home Ready For the Market
• Windows
• Deep Cleaning
• Sorority & Fraternity

References • Insured & Bonded • 27 Years Experience • Gift Cards Available

RENTALS: Guaranteed Your Rental Deposit Back!

CLASSIFIEDS

!!!EXTENDED!!! Overflow Thrift Store August Clothing Frenzy Sale Fri & Sat Adult Sz $1/ea Kids Sz 50¢/ea Shop with us to help others in need 202 South Duff Wed - Fri 10-6 Sat 10-4

Looking to make some extra cash? We are looking for friendly, outgoing ladies who love to dance and socialize. Email dangerouscurvesames@gmail.com or stop by 111 5th St.

BARGAIN BACKPACK GIVE UP?

Buying that bargain backpack seemed like a good idea, that is until it broke as you were getting off the bus and opened your bookbags all over Lincoln Way. The ISU Book Store has a huge selection where you can save 7% every day with no sales tax! Plus, our bags are guaranteed not only to last but also make sure you won’t cause an awkward traffic jam.

COLLEGE STUDENT: 1 REAL WORLD: 0

STICKY NOTES GOT YOU BURIED?

From Friday to homework assignments and quizzes to movie nights and study groups, we know you’re a busy person. That’s why the ISU Book Store has a huge selection of bargain-priced notebooks, planners, organizers, and more all at a savings of 7% with no sales tax on any purchase. See by-deal to that sticky note system and say hello to organization, Matt would be so proud!

COLLEGE STUDENT: 1 REAL WORLD: 0

NEED TO SUBLEASE YOUR PLACE?

Put an ad in our Classifieds & GET RESULTS!

Call 294-4123 today!
or iowastatedaily.com

Put an ad in our Classifieds & GET RESULTS!

515.294.4123	www.iowastatedaily.com/classifieds	classified@iowastatedaily.com