Bakken pipeline approved

By Alex Hanson
@iowastatedaily.com

Iowa becomes final state to accept proposal

The Iowa Utility Board voted 3-0 on Thursday to approve the Bakken oil pipeline, which would carry crude oil through four states. The pipeline approved by Dakota Access LLC would stretch 1,188 miles long, including diagonally across Iowa and three other states: North Dakota, South Dakota and Illinois.

Iowa is the last state to approve the pipeline, and the unanimous decision would also allow Dakota Access to enter eminent domain for the construction of the pipeline.

"This is significant," said Chuck Reynolds, who served on the board, all appointed by Iowa Utilities Board chairman Pat Lyons. "This is widely supported by the people who live near the pipeline...I'm an Iowan, and I'm happy the people came out and supported it." Activists have argued against the pipeline, saying it is an environmental threat. Those in favor say the pipeline would create jobs and push the United States toward energy independence.

The Iowa Utilities Board meeting Thursday, board members stood up one by one, saying "I'm an Iowan, and I'm happy the people came out and supported it.

Equality director selected

Margo Foreman intends to 'make the world better'

By Alex Hanson
@iowastatedaily.com

Margo Foreman has been selected as the new director of the Office of Equal Opportunity. President Steven Leath announced in an email to students Thursday that the announcement includes a national search that included four finalists, all of whom visited campus.

Foreman currently serves as the associate director of the Office of Equal Opportunity at Indiana University-Purdue University. In this capacity, she has packed the Sprint Center for campus events.

"The university mission doesn't include it, but personal relationships, my career ideals about making the world a better place," Foreman said. "I feel in love with..."

Senate race heats up

Grassley takes on 4 Democratic contenders

By Varad Diwate
@owastatedaily.com

The U.S. Senate race from Iowa is shaping up to become one of the Democratic candidates and incumbent Sen. Chuck Grassley.

The election will take place on Nov. 8 this year. The Democratic candidate will be decided during the primary on June 7.

"This Senate election is pretty crowded," said Chuck Grassley, the incumbent Republican candidate for Senate. "It's a very crowded field, and there are a lot of candidates."

The announcement follows a special screening of the movie "A League of Their Own" at the U.S. Senate on Thursday night.

Foreman selected

Margo Foreman was selected as the new assistant director of the Office of Equal Opportunity, President Steven Leath announced in an email to students Thursday that the appointment includes a national search that included four finalists, all of whom visited campus.

Foreman currently serves as the associate director of the Office of Equal Opportunity at Indiana University-Purdue University. In this capacity, she has packed the Sprint Center for campus events.

"The university mission doesn't include it, but personal relationships, my career ideals about making the world a better place," Foreman said. "I feel in love with..."
Daylight Saving Time

Correction

The Iowa State Daily welcomes comments and suggestions that enhance our work and that are respectful, polite, and constructive. We reserve the right to remove comments that contain obscenity, vulgarity, hate speech, personal attacks, commercial solicitations, or harassment. Readers who continue to violate these guidelines may have their comments automatically filtered. Comments can be sent to editor@iowastatedaily.com.
Students showcase unique cultures

By Iliana Caron
IowastateDaily.com

From fun performances and food to engaging talks and fits and talks, international students at Iowa State are given the chance to showcase their unique cultures to ISU students and the Iowa City area.

For the past seven years, the International Friendship Fair, or the Internationals, has taken place every Friday at the Ames Public Library. This is an event where international students show off their unique cultures in informally engaging with ISU students and the Ames community to make the campus more diverse.

The International student union is no doubt one of the biggest campus organizations at Iowa State. In the fall of 2015, Iowa State had a student body of more than 100,000 people filling the campus with individuals from more than 100 different foreign countries.

President Barack Obama and former First Lady Nancy Reagan will be able to see a Henna tattoo, such as the one shown here, at the International Friendship Fair on April 18, 2014, in the Memorial Union. The fair goes along with other fairs at ISU to celebrate and showcase the culture of different foreign countries. (Official White House Photo by Pete Souza)

The Internationals is an opportunity for the entire community to make great friends with ISU students as well as to make new international friends. The International Friendship Fair is meant for everyone: you don’t need to have grown up in other cultures as well; it educates you and makes ISU a more diverse campus.

This year, the YWCA Ames-Boone has worked with numerous charitable groups, spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year. The YWCA has also worked with numerous charitable groups, spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.

The YWCA has worked with numerous charitable groups, and spent hundreds of hours preparing, and put on various cultural fairs throughout the year.
Amy Smith pursues book
ISU assistant professor to work on manuscript at Notre Dame

By Alex Cory
w@iowanewsdaily.com

Amy Smith, assistant professor of political science at ISU, will spend the fall working on her political history book at the University of Notre Dame. Smith’s book, “The Struggle for the Senate,” was awarded a visiting fellowship at the University of Notre Dame in May. The University of Notre Dame Kellogg Institute for International Studies awards a fellowship to one professor at ISU in order to work on their book. Smith wrote her book titled “The Culture Wars: Spain, France, England, Russia, Catholics, Calvinists, and Rantuf", which examines the development of religion in the United States and how religious politics affects politics in a diverse nation. Smith said she has become more politically engaged because of policy positions but are generally more active in promoting evangelical politics, such as adding more evangelicals to their statements and the large number of evangelicals in the media.

While her book has yet to be published, her research has been featured in national news outlets and numerous conservative think tanks is a constant part of the media. She has been quoted in articles about the media and discussing issues such as gay rights and conservative politics. Smith is intent on making the book a success and having it become a political bestseller and a constant part of the media.

---

StuGov hosts Big XII on the Hill

By Zach Camenson

The Big 12 tournament has arrived, but student interns from across the country traveled to the nation’s capital to learn more about different kinds of Big XII teams. Activities will include tailgates, networking, and a luncheon. However, this was just the beginning of the event. There will be special Student Government members and panelists from different universities in the nation’s capital to discuss issues surrounding NCAA and its impact.

GRASSLEY ponders taking stand on immigration

The 114th Congress is now in session and has begun to work on various immigration bills that will be fought over during this session. One of the bills that will be discussed is the Senate’s “DREAM Act,” which would create a path to citizenship for those who entered the United States as children and have been living here for at least five years. The bill would also provide a pathway to legal status for undocumented immigrants who have graduated from high school or have served in the military. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell has said that he does not support the bill, while President Barack Obama has called for its passage.

The Senate’s version of the “DREAM Act” was introduced on March 3, 2016, by Sens. Michael Bennet of Colorado, Richard Durbin of Illinois, Dick Durbin of Illinois, and Dick Durbin of Illinois. The bill would provide a pathway to citizenship for those who entered the United States as children and have been living here for at least five years. The bill would also provide a pathway to legal status for undocumented immigrants who have graduated from high school or have served in the military. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell has said that he does not support the bill, while President Barack Obama has called for its passage.

---

Horoscopes by Linda Bluck

Today's Birthday
(Feb. 19-March 20)
Virgo - 9
In search of perfection, you may seem a bit nitpicky these days. You'll want to see every detail fall into place, even if it takes a little longer than expected. Be patient and try to understand the reasoning behind any decisions. Today's Birthday

(Dec. 21-22)
Sagittarius - 2
You may not be as critical these days, but you'll be quick to point out others' faults. Remember to be kind when interacting with others. You're getting a bit more sensitive, and that's a good thing. Today's Birthday

(July 23-Aug. 23)
Leo - 9
Take the time to do something for yourself today. You may be feeling a bit overwhelmed, but you'll benefit from some alone time. You're in a good place to work on your personal goals and dreams. Today's Birthday

(Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Sagittarius - 2
You may not be as critical these days, but you'll be quick to point out others' faults. Remember to be kind when interacting with others. You're getting a bit more sensitive, and that's a good thing. Today's Birthday

(Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Virgo - 9
In search of perfection, you may seem a bit nitpicky these days. You'll want to see every detail fall into place, even if it takes a little longer than expected. Be patient and try to understand the reasoning behind any decisions. Today's Birthday

(May 21-June 20)
Cancer - 8
Today, you may feel a bit more secure. You're in a good place to work on your personal goals and dreams. You may also feel more confident in your abilities. Today's Birthday

(June 21-July 22)
Cancer - 8
Today, you may feel a bit more secure. You're in a good place to work on your personal goals and dreams. You may also feel more confident in your abilities. Today's Birthday

(Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Virgo - 9
In search of perfection, you may seem a bit nitpicky these days. You'll want to see every detail fall into place, even if it takes a little longer than expected. Be patient and try to understand the reasoning behind any decisions. Today's Birthday

(May 21-June 20)
Cancer - 8
Today, you may feel a bit more secure. You're in a good place to work on your personal goals and dreams. You may also feel more confident in your abilities. Today's Birthday

---

Friday, March 11, 2016

(Through March 18, 2016)
On the past few years, a great number of issues have come up at Iowa State. Things like Huntsman's run, the GPSS election, and the recent diversity problem have been handled. Although there have been good candidates who have had the chance to run, there have been a lot of others who have not. In addition to being elected to the Student Government, one can also run for a Senate seat. The two candidates who were just mentioned are just two examples of how students can and should participate in diversity. If you're looking to make some difference, then you should definitely consider running. The University of Iowa has all sorts of issues that need to be handled. The diversity task force is one of those issues and the task force has yet to be properly executed. If you have ideas or suggestions for improving the campus or the diversity task force, you should definitely consider running.

When you're complaining about a certain issue, you're saying that you're frustrated with the way things are being handled. But if you're looking to make a change, then you should definitely consider running. The University of Iowa has all sorts of issues that need to be handled. The diversity task force is one of those issues and the task force has yet to be properly executed. If you have ideas or suggestions for improving the campus or the diversity task force, you should definitely consider running.

The diversity task force is one of those issues and the task force has yet to be properly executed. If you have ideas or suggestions for improving the campus or the diversity task force, you should definitely consider running.

The diversity task force is one of those issues and the task force has yet to be properly executed. If you have ideas or suggestions for improving the campus or the diversity task force, you should definitely consider running.
Getting to know Christina Hillman and two-time national champion to the ending indoor season shut down by the pandemic and experiencing an outdoor season fall of disappointments back to back is a shame.

It requires the understanding that someone can be a top-notch character trait.

She is one of the strongest shot putters in the country but wouldn't be a fun one to have seen as a senior or any of her competitors but never fails to recognize the achievements of her opponents and themselves. She is one of the most consistent and best shot putter.

The Wildcats are currently ranked 21st in the nation, according to the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Rankings.

The team will travel to Lincoln, Neb., to compete again Saturday after winning the CyHawk meet.

The Cyclones are right up so I can get to that goal eventually I can be.

It requires the understanding that someone can be a top-notch character trait.

Shots putter, young jumpers leap into nationals

By Kate Hall

Kate Hall was my favorite moment,” Hillman said. “I was jumping up and down, I was just so excited.

I was thinking about winning and not to get ahead of herself. Our relationship is awesome. She helps me, and I help her.”

Despite having an NCAA qualification, Hillman isn’t 100 percent.

“Knowing that we can do more and contribute more,” Young said. “Please take care of your body, please. When I was freshmen.

We're going to be there to push each other and encourage each other, and that's what matters.”

Hillman owns the fifth best mark this year’s Big 12 Championship.

It's going to be an awesome experience,” Hall said. “It’s going to be an awesome experience. She definitely deserves the title. She was a freshman: “That was the first time I've been on this team that we've gotten a 19,” said sophomore Haylee Young.

“Knowing that we can do it will give us that extra bit of confidence and [really]

She has even spent the entire indoor season dealing with an elbow injury, and her back still isn’t 100 percent.

But she doesn’t waste time pouting herself.

“[If people] think that, everyone has injuries,” Hillman said. “I know I'm not the only one that has had their share of injuries. Some of the female shot putters will tell you the whole shot put story. We put our heart, our soul, in it.

Some of the female shot putters in the country but never fails to recognize the achievements of her opponents and themselves. She is one of the most consistent and best shot putter.

Shot putter, young jumpers leap into nationals

By Kate Hall

Kate Hall was my favorite moment,” Hillman said. “I was jumping up and down, I was just so excited.

I was thinking about winning and not to get ahead of herself. Our relationship is awesome. She helps me, and I help her.”

Despite having an NCAA qualification, Hillman isn’t 100 percent.

“Knowing that we can do more and contribute more,” Young said. “Please take care of your body, please. When I was freshmen.

We're going to be there to push each other and encourage each other, and that's what matters.”

Hillman owns the fifth best mark this year’s Big 12 Championship.

It's going to be an awesome experience,” Hall said. “It’s going to be an awesome experience. She definitely deserves the title. She was a freshman: “That was the first time I've been on this team that we've gotten a 19,” said sophomore Haylee Young.

“Knowing that we can do it will give us that extra bit of confidence and [really]

She has even spent the entire indoor season dealing with an elbow injury, and her back still isn’t 100 percent.

But she doesn’t waste time pouting herself.

“[If people] think that, everyone has injuries,” Hillman said. “I know I'm not the only one that has had their share of injuries. Some of the female shot putters will tell you the whole shot put story. We put our heart, our soul, in it.

Some of the female shot putters in the country but never fails to recognize the achievements of her opponents and themselves. She is one of the most consistent and best shot putter.

Shot putter, young jumpers leap into nationals

By Kate Hall

Kate Hall was my favorite moment,” Hillman said. “I was jumping up and down, I was just so excited.

I was thinking about winning and not to get ahead of herself. Our relationship is awesome. She helps me, and I help her.”

Despite having an NCAA qualification, Hillman isn’t 100 percent.

“Knowing that we can do more and contribute more,” Young said. “Please take care of your body, please. When I was freshmen.

We're going to be there to push each other and encourage each other, and that's what matters.”

Hillman owns the fifth best mark this year’s Big 12 Championship.

It's going to be an awesome experience,” Hall said. “It’s going to be an awesome experience. She definitely deserves the title. She was a freshman: “That was the first time I've been on this team that we've gotten a 19,” said sophomore Haylee Young.

“Knowing that we can do it will give us that extra bit of confidence and [really]

She has even spent the entire indoor season dealing with an elbow injury, and her back still isn’t 100 percent.

But she doesn’t waste time pouting herself.

“[If people] think that, everyone has injuries,” Hillman said. “I know I'm not the only one that has had their share of injuries. Some of the female shot putters will tell you the whole shot put story. We put our heart, our soul, in it.

Some of the female shot putters in the country but never fails to recognize the achievements of her opponents and themselves. She is one of the most consistent and best shot putter.

Shot putter, young jumpers leap into nationals

By Kate Hall

Kate Hall was my favorite moment,” Hillman said. “I was jumping up and down, I was just so excited.

I was thinking about winning and not to get ahead of herself. Our relationship is awesome. She helps me, and I help her.”

Despite having an NCAA qualification, Hillman isn’t 100 percent.

“Knowing that we can do more and contribute more,” Young said. “Please take care of your body, please. When I was freshmen.

We're going to be there to push each other and encourage each other, and that's what matters.”

Hillman owns the fifth best mark this year’s Big 12 Championship.

It's going to be an awesome experience,” Hall said. “It’s going to be an awesome experience. She definitely deserves the title. She was a freshman: “That was the first time I've been on this team that we've gotten a 19,” said sophomore Haylee Young.

“Knowing that we can do it will give us that extra bit of confidence and [really]

She has even spent the entire indoor season dealing with an elbow injury, and her back still isn’t 100 percent.

But she doesn’t waste time pouting herself.

“[If people] think that, everyone has injuries,” Hillman said. “I know I'm not the only one that has had their share of injuries. Some of the female shot putters will tell you the whole shot put story. We put our heart, our soul, in it.

Some of the female shot putters in the country but never fails to recognize the achievements of her opponents and themselves. She is one of the most consistent and best shot putter.
The sound of a golf club hitting a golf ball can erase the stress of the day for some. It can also bring out the competitive side of the game for others. Junior golfer Nick Voke is one of those players who has taken golf seriously and has made it a part of his life.

“I was about 11 when I first started to golf, thanks to one of my mom’s friends,” Voke said.

After that first day on the course, Voke’s mother sent out and bought him his first set of clubs. That is when his love affair with golf started.

Eight years down the road, Voke played at the World Junior Championship, representing his home country of New Zealand. That’s when he finally believed he could get a scholarship through his golf game, so he started making connections with college coaches.

“I did not know that such a thing existed. I didn’t know how to do it,” Voke said. “I used to just think about Iowa State, however, wasn’t on his immediate radar.”

Voke had reached that point during practice where he was back in the game of golf, focused on making solid contact with the ball. He generously donates money on the course.

“I didn’t think of Iowa State, and I didn’t even know about Iowa State back then,” Voke said. “I was not contacted right off the bat. I was not the type of player that he was looking for. The only thing that he said when he first believed he could get a scholarship was that he knew he could get one.”

Voke feels that he has found a new family while learning an impression on Iowa State.

“Voke’s first career cut at Iowa State came during his sophomore year at the VCU Shootout in Virginia. This was only the beginning. My first one was a pretty big milestone for me because it was my first college tournament coming back from injury,” Voke said. Voke broke his collarbone in the summer just before returning to school.

After the tournament, his future was ahead of that pace, posting a 71.5 average so far.

“I didn’t know that such a thing existed. I didn’t know how to do it,” Voke said. “I used to just think about Iowa State. This was only the beginning. My first one was a pretty big milestone for me because it was my first college tournament coming back from injury,” Voke said. Voke broke his collarbone in the summer just before returning to school.

After the tournament, his future was ahead of that pace, posting a 71.5 average so far.

“I didn’t know that such a thing existed. I didn’t know how to do it,” Voke said. “I used to just think about Iowa State. This was only the beginning. My first one was a pretty big milestone for me because it was my first college tournament coming back from injury,” Voke said. Voke broke his collarbone in the summer just before returning to school.

“I didn’t know that such a thing existed. I didn’t know how to do it,” Voke said. “I used to just think about Iowa State. This was only the beginning. My first one was a pretty big milestone for me because it was my first college tournament coming back from injury,” Voke said. Voke broke his collarbone in the summer just before returning to school.

“I didn’t know that such a thing existed. I didn’t know how to do it,” Voke said. “I used to just think about Iowa State. This was only the beginning. My first one was a pretty big milestone for me because it was my first college tournament coming back from injury,” Voke said. Voke broke his collarbone in the summer just before returning to school.

“I didn’t know that such a thing existed. I didn’t know how to do it,” Voke said. “I used to just think about Iowa State. This was only the beginning. My first one was a pretty big milestone for me because it was my first college tournament coming back from injury,” Voke said. Voke broke his collarbone in the summer just before returning to school.

“I didn’t know that such a thing existed. I didn’t know how to do it,” Voke said. “I used to just think about Iowa State. This was only the beginning. My first one was a pretty big milestone for me because it was my first college tournament coming back from injury,” Voke said. Voke broke his collarbone in the summer just before returning to school.

“I didn’t know that such a thing existed. I didn’t know how to do it,” Voke said. “I used to just think about Iowa State. This was only the beginning. My first one was a pretty big milestone for me because it was my first college tournament coming back from injury,” Voke said. Voke broke his collarbone in the summer just before returning to school.
HELP WANTED
Looking for dependable and responsible employees 10-20 hours per week. Perform sweeping, dusting and general housekeeping tasks. Experience helpful but not necessary. Call 231-3649 for immediate interview.

FOR RENT

Classifieds & GET RESULTS! Call us at 231-3649 • Deposit Back!