Amy Moorman is the new archivist for the Wartburg Archives and Archives of Iowa Broadcasting at Wartburg College in Waverly, Iowa. These two collections document the history of Wartburg College and of television and radio broadcasting in Iowa. As the sole staff member in the archives, Moorman will manage the day-to-day operations of both collections, with a particular focus on digitizing audiovisual formats and increasing online access to the materials. Moorman's last position was as a visual materials archivist for the Missouri State Archives in Jefferson City, Missouri.

Michelle Sweetser returns to her native state of Ohio as the new head librarian and university archivist at the Center for Archival Collections at Bowling Green State University. She previously spent over 12 years in Milwaukee as an archivist at Marquette University after receiving her MSI from the University of Michigan.
