

December 2013

Confessions

Ethos Magazine

Follow this and additional works at: <http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/ethos>

 Part of the Higher Education Commons, Journalism Studies Commons, and the Social Psychology and Interaction Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Ethos Magazine (2013) "Confessions," Ethos: Vol. 2014 , Article 3.
Available at: <http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/ethos/vol2014/iss2/3>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Publications at Iowa State University Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ethos by an authorized editor of Iowa State University Digital Repository. For more information, please contact digirep@iastate.edu.

CONFESSIONS

We asked readers to reveal their relationship mishaps and best kept secrets.

THE EX FILES

Relationships are best built on a foundation of trust. But what happens when someone slips up? Check out some of our readers' dirtiest secrets.

"Each time we broke up I hacked onto his Facebook and read his messages with other girls. I did it once when we were dating and I found out he was talking to girls in Australia and Germany."

Whitney, junior

"He didn't know I bought a dress for his sister's wedding when we had been dating for one month. His sister's wedding was nine months away."

Ashley, junior

"When he branded my name on his chest, he didn't know that I was not impressed."

Laura, freshman

"I Facebook stalked a girl while I was dating my ex."

Tony, junior

"I double dipped the chip on countless occasions, as well as hated her religion with her thinking I was Catholic the whole time."

Nate, junior

"I dated this guy who always had bad breath. I would hold my breath any time we kissed."

Michelle, senior

"I had a high school boyfriend when I came to college freshman year. He got really into a scene he probably shouldn't have, you know, with minor drug abuse and drinking and some infractions with the law. I was heavily against it. I told him that he should not be doing this at all, but at the same time I was also partying. So I was being totally hypocritical, but at the same time I wasn't getting arrested. If he would have found out he would have been quite angry."

Sarah, sophomore

"During a movie night my roommate left without telling her friends or fiancé. It turns out she went to visit a special guy friend and hooked up with him while someone was sleeping in the same room. The engagement ended, but this mishap remains a secret."

Anna, junior

ONE & DONE

First dates can be intimidating, but after reading these horror stories you'll be begging your date for round two.

"After briefly meeting, I agreed to go on a date with a guy. He was obsessed with plants. We went to dinner at a restaurant that grew its own spices and herbs, so it had a greenhouse connected to the building. He asked the waitress if he could go into the greenhouse, and after being told no he was upset and talked about how he was so disappointed all throughout dinner. Then, as if it could not have gotten worse, a bee landed on him and he killed it and almost cried because he felt bad. Let's just say, I said no when he asked to go on a second date."

-Natalie, junior

"After finally agreeing to go to a movie, this guy took me to 'Paranormal Activity.' I hate scary movies, so I kept covering my eyes. Then he leaned over to me and said, 'Don't cover your eyes! I paid for you to see this!'"

-Rachel, sophomore