FACULTY

Dr. G. H. Conner of the Department of Surgery was married to Miss Thelma Bruce of St. Joseph, Mo., on Dec. 17, 1943. The couple was married at Ames.

Dr. Loyal C. Payne of the Department of Physiology has announced his engagement to Miss Ann Agor, Diet. '44, of Aberdeen, S. Dak.

Dr. and Mrs. L. E. St. Clair had another addition to the family with the birth of a daughter, Jean Ellen, Dec. 5, 1943. "Doc" is still looking for a "Junior."

Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Raps announced the birth of a daughter, Carolee Jeanne, Feb. 3, 1944.

Dr. L. Meyer Jones, '39, a former instructor in the physiology department, was a recent visitor of the veterinary division. Dr. Jones presented a paper, "The Physiology of Reproduction," at the annual Iowa Veterinary Convention.

Dean H. D. Bergman, Dr. H. L. Foust, Dr. I. A. Merchant, Dr. H. E. Biester, and Dr. R. A. Packer attended three meetings at Chicago, Ill., between Nov. 30 and Dec. 3, 1943. The meetings were those of the United States Livestock Sanitary Association, the Twenty-fourth Annual Conference of Research Workers of Animal Diseases of North America, and the Association of Deans of American Veterinary Colleges.

Dr. H. L. Foust of the Department of Anatomy presented a paper, "The Anatomy of the Bovine Udder," at the symposium of mastitis at the Twenty-fourth Annual Conference of Research Workers of Animal Diseases of North America. Dr. Foust also attended the meeting of the Research Council of the A.V.M.A.

Two faculty members were on the program of the Iowa Veterinary Association Convention held Jan. 25, 26, and 27, 1944. Dr. E. A. Benbrook of the Department of Pathology presented a paper, "Parasites of Sheep," and Dr. R. A. Packer of the Department of Hygiene spoke on "Diagnosis, Prevention, and Control of Mastitis" at the mastitis symposium.

Dr. G. R. Raps is now teaching senior obstetrics laboratory, succeeding Dr. T. S. Leith.

Dr. H. L. Foust, chairman of the Post War Planning Committee of the A.V.M.A., attended a meeting of that committee in Chicago on Dec. 2, 1943.

Mrs. Raymond Trayer, formerly a laboratory technician for the state hospital at Concord, N. H., is now a technician in the Department of Hygiene.

Dr. F. D. Patterson, '23, president of Tuskegee Institute, and Dr. Edward B. Evans, '18, College Veterinarian at Prairie View State Normal and Industrial College at Prairie View, Texas, spent several days on the campus in February. The purpose of the visit was to survey the veterinary, home economics, engineering, and library facilities on the campus with a view to expanding the facilities in these fields at Tuskegee Institute.

JR. A.V.M.A.

Dr. T. S. Leith gave an interesting lecture on the Quarterhorse at the meeting of the chapter held Nov. 17, 1943. The talk was supplemented by lantern slides and explanations by Dr. E. A. Hewitt. Dr. O. W. Park, associate professor of zoology and entomology, showed colored lantern slides of scenes on the campus and from travels to Colorado.

Major Cleo L. Lash of the Veterinary Corps was the speaker of the evening at the Dec. 1 meeting. Major Lash discussed the veterinary service of the army. The new officers elected are John Gooch, '44, president-elect; Jerold Jorgensen, '44, vice-president; Orlo Haight, '45, secretary; Arthur Ruebel, '44, critic; Arthur Magnusson, '45, Cardinal Guild representative; and Robert Hauser, '45, sergeant-at-arms.

War Bond Purchases

The Veterinary Unit of Iowa State College, which is comprised of the regularly enrolled students in veterinary medicine who are in the Army Specialized Training Program, subscribed $3,500 in war bonds and stamps as their part in the Fourth War Loan Drive. The sum contributed was in addition to the amount subscribed by the trainees regularly from each month's pay.

The Iowa State Junior Chapter of the A.V.M.A. has, during the past year, contributed $260 as its effort in war bond purchases.
