1948 Honors Day Program

THE twenty-third annual Honors Day Program, held in State Gymnasium last May 20, found the foresters conspicuous by their number. Nineteen foresters were honored for their scholarship achievements.

The department was well represented by high scholarship students in the Division of Agriculture. In the Class of 1948, Karl Loerch, Joe Patton, and Paul Hoffman were recognized. Edwin Zaidlicz and Thad Harrington were recognized in the Class of 1949. Charles Coyle was recognized from the Class of 1950. From the Class of 1951, Paul Needham, William Claycomb, Donald Blumenthal, and Lester Fleming were honored.

Eight foresters were initiates into Alpha Zeta, agricultural honor society. Juniors from the upper one-fifth and seniors from the upper one-fourth of their respective classes in the Division of Agriculture may be elected to the society on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and character. Those initiates were: Robert Church, Francis Colbert, Richard Grist, "Bud" Paulsen, Eugene Reynolds, Howard Schmidt, Ross Teuber, and John Worster.

Six of our foresters were initiates into Gamma Sigma Delta. Seniors in the upper one-fourth of the class and graduate students who have shown research ability in agriculture and related departments may be elected to this society. Those initiates were: Francis Colbert, Paul Hoffman, Joe Patton, "Bud" Paulsen, Ross Teuber, and Ronald White.

These men have upheld every tradition of foresters. They have shown us the way, and it is up to us to follow in bringing credit to our department and profession.
