

2014

Cultivating the agrarian dream: Aspiring agri-entrepreneurs helping one another choose their path

Andy Larson
Iowa State University

Follow this and additional works at: http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/leopold_grantreports

 Part of the Agribusiness Commons, Entrepreneurial and Small Business Operations Commons, and the Human Geography Commons

Recommended Citation

Larson, Andy, "Cultivating the agrarian dream: Aspiring agri-entrepreneurs helping one another choose their path" (2014). Leopold Center Completed Grant Reports. 467.
http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/leopold_grantreports/467

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Leopold Center for Sustainable Agriculture at Iowa State University Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Leopold Center Completed Grant Reports by an authorized administrator of Iowa State University Digital Repository. For more information, please contact digirep@iastate.edu.

Cultivating the agrarian dream: Aspiring agri-entrepreneurs helping one another choose their path

Abstract

This was the original project description: This is an outreach education effort led by ISU Extension's Small Farm Sustainability program. The investigator will develop, offer and evaluate workshops for farmer entrepreneurs, and create a forum for participants to interact with veteran entrepreneurs. The program will allow participants to look at where they currently are and where they'd like to be in relation to their dream farm business. Cultivating the Agrarian Dream will direct the most dedicated participants into more comprehensive training.

Keywords

Human systems demographics and beginning farmer programs

Disciplines

Agribusiness | Entrepreneurial and Small Business Operations | Human Geography

LEOPOLD CENTER
FOR SUSTAINABLE AGRICULTURE

Completed Competitive Grant

Cultivating the agrarian dream: Aspiring agri-entrepreneurs helping one another choose their path

Project ID: M2009-24

Abstract

This was the original project description: This is an outreach education effort led by ISU Extension's Small Farm Sustainability program. The investigator will develop, offer and evaluate workshops for farmer entrepreneurs, and create a forum for participants to interact with veteran entrepreneurs. The program will allow participants to look at where they currently are and where they'd like to be in relation to their dream farm business. Cultivating the Agrarian Dream will direct the most dedicated participants into more comprehensive training.

Lead investigator: Andy Larson, ISU Extension

Year of grant completion: 2014

This competitive grant project was part of the Leopold Center's Marketing Initiative.

Topics: Human systems, demographics and beginning farmer programs

RELATED INFORMATION

This investigator has never turned in a final report on research conducted in 2009 and 2010 with $35,460 of Leopold Center funds. He is no longer working at Iowa State University.

Leopold Center for Sustainable Agriculture | Ames, Iowa 50011 | (515) 294-3711 | leocenter@iastate.edu

College of Agriculture and Life Sciences | Sitemap

The Leopold Center was established by the 1987 Iowa Groundwater Protection Act as a research and education center at Iowa State University to develop sustainable agricultural practices that are both profitable and conserve natural resources. Iowa State does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, age, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, sex, marital status, disability, or status as a U.S. Vietnam Era Veteran. Any persons having inquiries concerning this may contact the Director of Affirmative Action, 3210 Beardshear Hall, (515) 294-7612.

This page was found at <http://www.leopold.iastate.edu/grants/m2009-24> on 02/09/2016