GAME BANQUET

Buffalo and foresters mixed it up at the annual Game Banquet, February 7, 1957. Foresters and their guests were treated to an exceptionally fine roast buffalo dinner with all the trimmings.

Guest speaker, Earl G. Maxwell, retired extension forester from Nebraska, presented the interesting after-dinner entertainment. His presentation entitled "Through the Seasons" consisted of colorful slides portraying nature at its best in the state of Nebraska. In conjunction Mr. Maxwell recited selected poems by James Whitcomb Riley.

Master of ceremonies, Robert Stewart, announced the new Forestry Club officers and introduced all guests of honor.

Robert Elliott, general chairman, and his committee members, Robert Stewart, Dave Anderson, and Bud Binger, planned and produced a good banquet upholding the annual tradition.
