Fall Foresters' Day

by Kris Holt

IN October, when the mornings are brisk and hardwood forests begin to mellow, the Forestry club celebrates its reunion with the Fall Foresters' Day. The event marks the renewal of our heritage: The old methods of logging and forestry.

We held Fall Foresters' Day at Holst Tract State Forest. This year, the event was scheduled on a Sunday due to midterms, Conclave, the SAF convention and a home football game.

About thirty people competed in a day of tree-felling, buck sawing, speed chopping, log tossing . . . and others. A cross-country run was added to the list of competitions.
