in Forestry from 1961-1965. John was inducted into the Army in September of 1968, after he received his Masters of Forestry Degree that Christmas from Berkeley. Unfortunately, John lost his life on November 17, 1969 near Tay Ninh, Viet Nam while serving his country as squad leader of the First Air Cavalry. This award is presented on behalf of John Milton Cone representing his fine qualities. This year's recipients were Eric Main and Linda Haefner Haugen.

The evening continued with the recognition of the four organizations in forestry. Those recognized were the Forestry Club, Forest Products Research Society, Society of American Foresters, and Xi Sigma Pi.

The banquet presentation was next on the agenda and this year it was given by Miriam Dunlap, Public Relations Director at Living History Farms in Des Moines. Her presentation topic was a wild animal safari which she partook of in Africa. All those present enjoyed the slide presentation which was given. It was very interesting and gave everyone a view of some real "wild game."

The evening concluded with the presentation of the Most Beloved Teacher Award which was presented to Reinee Hildebrandt for her many humorous undertakings throughout the year. After this presentation, Gregg Engelken, 1984 Game Banquet Chairman, extended many thanks to those who helped make the evening a success. Finally, Scott Webb, Master of Ceremonies for the evening, closed and bid all a fine farewell.

Another Game Banquet has passed but memories of what went on will never die. One can only look forward with anticipation of the 1985 Game Banquet.

VEISHEA

This year's Forestry Veishea Display is being supervised by W. Math Heinzl. The theme of this open house display is "Forestry: Growing in Excellence." The various subjects of the display are tied together using a tree theme: roots (history), stem (basics), and branches (areas of specialization and alternatives).

Veishea is also the time in which Smokey and Woodsy Owl make their traditional stop to the Forestry Department and greet the people on campus, inviting them to see the Forestry Displays.

The traditional tree seedling sale will take on a different look this year as the seedlings will be GIVEN away instead of sold. This was changed so that more people will be introduced to the Forestry Department.

People of all ages enjoyed the VEISHEA Display
