Snapshot of an Old Man IV

Craig Rohrssen

Abstract

his house and he have aged together with a crackling of paint and a crinkle of skin he drives a nail and folds his hands to keep his world from shaking... along the floor. "Get away. Get away," he sobbed.
She heard him screaming after her as she ran from the church and even later when they took him away in an ambulance. She sensed somehow that she was the cause of his pain, but she did not understand why.
