Chapstick Breezes

Taylor Sklenar

A chapstick breeze
Catches me unaware

It swirls around me softly
Bringing the faint scent that
Is unequivocally you

For a minute it dances with me
Swaying about with a grace
Not quite that of your hips

Brushing my lips ever so gently
It tastes of you
Leaving my mouth dripping with desire

It caresses my ear and Whispers gently –ever so gently
The secret it bares:

That winter is coming and soon we'll be together

But until then
I have my chilly chapstick breezes
To keep my lips warm
