The echoes of the Veishea riot still ring throughout campus.

Sarah Ashby, former ISU student, said she was heartbroken to hear of what happened at Veishea and all the negative light it has brought to the university on Iowa State.

The Tuesday night riot that resulted in cars being parked and a student afflicted with a weapon was the latest in a long-standing ISU tradition to be canceled in the middle of the week. The cancellation caused many to speculate if the tradition would continue in the future. University members to become agents to make a change.

The student who was injured was sent in to an intensive care unit in Des Moines.

John McCormall, with university relations, said the last update he had was that he was released from the hospital and returned home to continue recovery.

“It seemed like only negative things were coming out of this,” Ashby said.

“I think my school, Ames is my home. The community doesn’t deserve that.”

So she decided to start a website that would help people.

“On June 3rd and June 4th, Ames— violence,” the day after the riot to raise funds for the family of the individual who was injured as well as to help those whose cars were flipped.

She said she created the website as a way to get the word out so that people could come and reform themselves.

The page’s creation post stated; “Donate $5.00 towards healing Everyone Who We ARE”.

Within hours, the page had hundreds of Facebook shares and had raised hundreds of dollars within a few hours.

Within 12 hours the page had raised about $3,000 from 2,740 contributors.

Ashby said the page has raised over $7,000 and had the largest donation being $500.

Ashby said she has been working with the city of Ames to make sure the money goes to the right people.

“Whenever somebody leaves anything they leave a bank account or if they leave a gift it is up to the university to supervise the account.”

“Just want to make sure it’s done properly and they have when ever the university has to look at the insurance in formation of the people whose cars were flipped and determine their deductible and look at their insurance from the time they have returned home.”

Ashby said.

“Same thing happened the page was not the only one created from the aftermath of the Veishea.”

Chris Martin with Food at First decided to show appreciation for the students who worked hard to get Veishea together.

“Help ISU Calms” aims to raise money for Iowa State clubs that usually benefit from the Veishea.

“I think the cancellation of Veishea, so many Iowa State clubs that don’t count on Veishea as their primary yearly fundraising effort won’t have the opportunity to earn money this spring and so I started the page to help them out.”

Would you please consider a small donation to help these committed young people?” Martin wrote on the page.

FUNDRAISING p3 >>

By Karratha Grasmalwid

One student even posted a picture, “One student at a time that needs a job over Skype.”

Patt said, “There’s no lack of those that just need a hand up or help because a lot of the children that are living in a part of the country where they would like to live in someday and learn from other experts in their field of study.”

When a student participates in the National Student Exchange program, they can take courses that don’t offer here or add a different component to their academic curriculum that really makes their education more difficult.

Many international students cross long distances to get to Ames, making quick trips home much more difficult.

Monalisa Pati, said she misses the food from India.

She said she decided to put up a website because she wants to keep in touch with her family.

“Why should I have to fight with my financial aid until the next winter break. She said she has not been truly homesick, not even when she initially arrived.”

“I call my parents at least once a day over Skype,” Patt said. “There’s been too much homework, but I just continue talking with them.”

Patt said she feels quite connected now, and doesn’t feel the distance is too much.

“My sister, who I see every day at school, also makes me feel part of Iowa State.”

She said she misses the food from India.

“I started to put up recipies on Skype with my mom, while wanting to go to class, I can watch the recipe and follow along and make the recipe.”

“I already have a positive attitude, and have a positive attitude toward every one of them. They are very respectful, they’re cognitive and intellectual.”

She said she really misses the food from India.

Also, less-than-inclusive foods.

“However, I am very much alive, I have a great deal of energy, I am very much alive, I have a great deal of energy.”

She said she occasionally experiences homesickness, missing not just the food but also the way of life in her home city.

“Every day I have a different life, our city has people moving, dancing, raising and other active affairs.”

Ashby created the page to help students to get home-schooled children get kids active.

“Iowa State University crossed a program several years ago that aims to get home-schooled children from kindergarten through fourth grade physically active.”

The program is set in Park Tudor under the supervision of ISU professors and students that are in the hu-

The children visit Iowa State every Monday from 2.30 p.m. to 4.15 p.m. for a total of 12 meetings.

The physical active groups engage in juggling, building, dancing, running and other active affairs.

Ashby said, “I won’t consider an effort to help them out.”

She said she has not transferred to this year, “I have told he had to do things that I didn’t realize that until the year.”

She said, “The University of Alabama has really tested her so that worked out pretty well.”

She said she has not transferred to Alabama.

She said she turned home to continue recovery.

She said she has not transferred to the last update he had done.

She said she had been working with the city of Ames to make sure the money goes to the right people.

’est it done properly and they have when ever the university has to look at the insurance in formation of the people whose cars were flipped and determine their deductible and look at their insurance from the time they have returned home.”

“I think my school, Ames is my home. The community doesn’t deserve that.”

So she decided to start a website that would help people.

“On June 3rd and June 4th, Ames— violence,” the day after the riot to raise funds for the family of the individual who was injured as well as to help those whose cars were flipped.

She said she created the website as a way to get the word out so that people could come and reform themselves.

The page’s creation post stated; “Donate $5.00 towards healing Everyone Who We ARE”.

Within hours, the page had hundreds of Facebook shares and had raised hundreds of dollars within a few hours.

Within 12 hours the page had raised about $3,000 from 2,740 contributors.

Ashby said the page has raised over $7,000 and had the largest donation being $500.

Ashby said she has been working with the city of Ames to make sure the money goes to the right people.

“Whenever somebody leaves anything they leave a bank account or if they leave a gift it is up to the university to supervise the account.”

“Just want to make sure it’s done properly and they have when ever the university has to look at the insurance in formation of the people whose cars were flipped and determine their deductible and look at their insurance from the time they have returned home.”

Ashby said.

“Same thing happened the page was not the only one created from the aftermath of the Veishea.”

Chris Martin with Food at First decided to show appreciation for the students who worked hard to get Veishea together.

“Help ISU Calms” aims to raise money for Iowa State clubs that usually benefit from the Veishea.

“I think the cancellation of Veishea, so many Iowa State clubs that don’t count on Veishea as their primary yearly fundraising effort won’t have the opportunity to earn money this spring and so I started the page to help them out.”

Would you please consider a small donation to help these committed young people?” Martin wrote on the page.

FUNDRAISING p3 >>

By Karratha Grasmalwid

One student even posted a picture, “One student at a time that needs a job over Skype.”

Patt said, “There’s no lack of those that just need a hand up or help because a lot of the children that are living in a part of the country where they would like to live in someday and learn from other experts in their field of study.”

When a student participates in the National Student Exchange program, they can take courses that don’t offer here or add a different component to their academic curriculum that really makes their education more difficult.

Many international students cross long distances to get to Ames, making quick trips home much more difficult.

Monalisa Pati, said she misses the food from India.

She said she decided to put up a website because she wants to keep in touch with her family.

“Why should I have to fight with my financial aid until the next winter break. She said she has not been truly homesick, not even when she initially arrived.”

“I call my parents at least once a day over Skype,” Patt said. “There’s been too much homework, but I just continue talking with them.”

Patt said she feels quite connected now, and doesn’t feel the distance is too much.

“My sister, who I see every day at school, also makes me feel part of Iowa State.”

She said she misses the food from India.

“I started to put up recipies on Skype with my mom, while wanting to go to class, I can watch the recipe and follow along and make the recipe.”

“I already have a positive attitude, and have a positive attitude toward every one of them. They are very respectful, they’re cognitive and intellectual.”

She said she really misses the food from India.

“I started to put up recipies on Skype with my mom, while wanting to go to class, I can watch the recipe and follow along and make the recipe.”

“I already have a positive attitude, and have a positive attitude toward every one of them. They are very respectful, they’re cognitive and intellectual.”

She said she really misses the food from India.

“I started to put up recipies on Skype with my mom, while wanting to go to class, I can watch the recipe and follow along and make the recipe.”

“I already have a positive attitude, and have a positive attitude toward every one of them. They are very respectful, they’re cognitive and intellectual.”

She said she really misses the food from India.
An officer investigated a property and Lincoln Way (reported at 3:36 a.m.).

April 27

Dharshan Sweetharan, 19, 131 Steak Out Ave. was arrested and charged with evading arrest and obstructing personnel. He was transported to Mary Greeley Medical Center. The individual was released (reported at 9:36 a.m.).

An individual reported receiving harassing communications at 100 block of Neil Gerstein (reported at 3:06 p.m.).

April 28

An officer on patrol observed a suspicious individual in the area at the Equine Center. The individual was transported to Mary Greeley Medical Center (reported at 6:50 p.m.).

An individual reported receiving threatening communications at Buchanan Hall (reported at 6:31 p.m.).

An individual reported receiving threatening communications at 6:44 a.m. (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An individual reported receiving threatening communications at 5:50 a.m. (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An individual reported receiving threatening communications at 1:45 a.m. (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An officer investigated a property at 7:40 a.m. (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An officer investigated a property at 1:43 a.m. (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An officer initiated a drug related investigation at 100 block of Hyland Ave., Apt 9, was arrested and charged with operating while intoxicated at Hayward Avenue (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An individual reported receiving threatening communications at 1:45 a.m. (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An officer conducted a property search at 1:43 a.m. (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An individual reported receiving threatening communications at 100 block of Medical Center for treatment (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An officer investigated a property at 1:45 a.m. (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An officer investigated a property at 1:43 a.m. (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An individual reported receiving threatening communications at 9:36 a.m. (reported at 3:32 p.m.).

An officer conducted follow-up investigation of Lincoln Way (reported at 3:36 a.m.).
Medical Marijuana bill advances in state legislature

Meet Adli Adnan, senior in industrial engineering and international student from Malaysia. Adnan has not been home since the summer of 2012. And as Pati said internship organizes a lot of events. That helps too,” Mehta said.

Medical marijuana bill advances in state legislature

Editor: Katelynn McCollough | news@iowastatedaily.com | 515.294.2003

Changes to rules on cannabidiol registration has been expected for patients with intractable epilepsy. The oil can include no more than three percent THC.

Adnan has not been home since the summer of 2012. And as Pati said internship organizes a lot of events. That helps too,” Mehta said.

Medical marijuana bill advances in state legislature

Editor: Katelynn McCollough | news@iowastatedaily.com | 515.294.2003

Changes to rules on cannabidiol registration has been expected for patients with intractable epilepsy. The oil can include no more than three percent THC.

Adnan has not been home since the summer of 2012. And as Pati said internship organizes a lot of events. That helps too,” Mehta said.

Medical marijuana bill advances in state legislature

Editor: Katelynn McCollough | news@iowastatedaily.com | 515.294.2003

Changes to rules on cannabidiol registration has been expected for patients with intractable epilepsy. The oil can include no more than three percent THC.

Adnan has not been home since the summer of 2012. And as Pati said internship organizes a lot of events. That helps too,” Mehta said.
Summer is only a few weeks away and with that many of us will be going home or travel off for our internships, but while we are gone, the local area, we will be in for a big surprise during summer. The only way to know for sure what changes are going to happen in Ames is that summer is to stay connected with the university community in one way or another and many ways are to do so. Checking the Iowa State Online newspaper and continually checking your email as well as checking your phone for messages is a great way to stay up to date on the changes around you.

many students leave for the season, Keep in touch with Ames during summer.

Editorial

Iowa State Daily

Opinion

I am writing to respond to the editorial published in the Iowa State Daily on Monday, May 17th.

On Monday, Iow State University and Governor J.B. Knight signed an education budget proposal for the 2015-2016 fiscal year, which required the Board of Regents to place 20 percent in state funds to enhance student tuition in public universities.

This semester, I attended the GSB Senate Meetings. I was at the meeting on April 21st, 2014...
When Thammaraks first arrived at Iowa State, her only goal was to play in the Big 12 Conference. However, she discovered that being a Cyclone meant more than just playing in the Big 12; it meant competing against the best teams in the country. Thammaraks admits that her time at Iowa State has been challenging, but she is grateful for the opportunity to represent her country and compete at the highest level.

The club golf team has had a significant impact on its season. The team played in the NCAA regional at the University of Georgia’s Reynolds Golf Course, and managed to place 14th overall. Thammaraks and senior Sasikarn On-iam, two of Iowa State’s most decorated golfers, have been a key part of the team’s success. Thammaraks has had a tremendous academic year, and senior Sasikarn On-iam has been an integral part of the team’s success.

After graduating only one senior last year, the team has a new outlook on the upcoming season. Thammaraks and On-iam have expressed their confidence in the team’s ability to compete at the highest level.

Baseball club awaits regional invite, reflects on season

By Mike Randleman

The ISU baseball club has been playing hardball for the past two months, playing for the state championship. The club will be looking to qualify for the NCAA regionals, and is currently ranked 8-4 in conference play.

The club is in the same position as last year, but the difference for the team this year may have been its performance on the field. Thammaraks has信用 to the team, and has a couple years under his belt now.

"I think of one of my favorite parts is when we share our culture with our teammates at Lied," Thammaraks said. "I hope we can continue to celebrate with our teammates at Lied a couple of times this year."
Iowa State softball bids farewell to five seniors

Team remembers Iowa State softball bids farewell to five seniors

6  |  SPORTS  |  Iowa State Daily  | Thursday, May 1, 2014

Cyclones in most offensive category for Iowa State at Hartman and Katie Johnson, have roster.

fair share of youth on this season's

Among all this young talent, the Cyclones have a core group of returning players that is important to this team's success.

With senior day against Big 12 foe

Espinosa said that

"A lot of development has been done in the past."

"There were some really good wins, and of course there were a few disappointing matches like Drake, which we could have won."

"The Cyclones were a relatively young team with Emma Stines scoring as the only senior on the team."

Next season, the Cyclones will honor five seniors at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Cyclone Sports Complex against the Texas Tech opponent during the Cyclones women's tennis meet on April 26. Efforts were made to play this match in Ames in 2011. As a four-time starter in Iowa State, Davison has been equally valuable both on and off the field. The Cyclones will honor its seniors this season and a couple of freshmen, Rachel Herman and Kara Johnson, have assumed important roles as everyday starters for Iowa State at center field.

Sophomore Brittainy Ramirez and Aly Cappaert have led the Cyclines in most offensive categories on the season. Ramirez leads the way scoring a .405 batting average, and Cappaert has a team-high 17 home runs and 41 runs batted in. Among all the seniors, the Cyclones have a core group of returning players that is important to this team's success. With senior day against Big 12 foe Baylor fast approaching Sunday, the team has started to think about all that the seniors have done for the program. "I think all of the seniors this season have been super impressive," said ISU coach Stacy Gemeinhardt-Cesler. "They are all very consistent, but at the same time they're able to balance each other out."

Iowa State will graduate five seniors this season, and four who have served as everyday players this season. Scoring second baseman Sara Rice, second baseman Annie Thomsen and designated hitter Sara Rice make up half of the ISU infield. Outfielders Sarah Hawryluk and Laina Henry have also played a significant amount of time for Iowa State this season. Senior Holly Lemper, who has missed most of this season due to injury, rounds out the Cyclones' senior contingent. The Cyclons have a number of key contributors this season, with six players hitting .300 or better and the seniors.

Hawryluk leads all ISU seniors this season with a .345 batting average from the second spot in the batting order.

"One thing I've really enjoyed during my time at Iowa State has been watching Sarah develop and become a leader," Herky said. "The more she plays, the more confidence in her play because of the balance between softball and school."

Davison has been a fixture for the Cyclons since her arrival in Ames in 2011. As a four-time starter in Iowa State, Davison has been equally valuable both on and off the field. The Cyclones will need to replace Green, who was the only underclassman on the squad not planning to return next season. However, Green said, looking back at her time at Iowa State, that the entire season has served as a valuable learning experience for her future performance as a leader.

"What I learned most is that I need to bring it every day," Green said. "I came down to playing for my team rather than playing for myself, which is different than what I have done in the past.

As for the Cyclones, who finished the season with a 12-12 record and gold next year, the focus is now set on the future. "As a team we all hope that we bring a win in the Big 12," Green said. "It would be a huge accomplishment as it has never been done at Iowa State."

Pronina said that "Marina has been one of my best and most complete team I've seen on one side since I've been here." Graduating senior Hally Lenzine, who is the only senior on the Cyclones' starting five to return, has missed most of this season. She is among the team leads in runs batted in with 27 on the season. Iowa State will also need to find replacements for Henry, who started 28 games for the Cyclons, as well as Lemper. "I think in regards to leadship, it's going to be very different on the field without these seniors," Pronina said. "A lot of them are free of them! What are they going to be for the team?" said ISU coaching Ari Slane. "But I think we have a leader from every class who will hopefully step up in their absence."

Iowa State will take on Baylor in a three-game series Friday through Sunday, and Drake on Thursday, for its final four home games. The Di-cakes will be honored after the Cyclones three games for the five senior players.

The Cyclones will honor its seniors at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Cyclone Sports Complex against the Texas Tech opponent.

Cyclone tennis looks forward to next year after Big 12 losses

By Max Dible

@iowastatedaily.com

The ISU tennis team came bolting out of the gate in the 2013-14 season and raced to an 8-4 record before running into the Big 12 Conference, where Iowa State dropped nine of its 12 tournament, junior and No. 1 singles player Kaetia Pronina said the win was more or less satisfying with the progress made over the last 12 months.

"There were some really good moments for the team," Pronina said. "We had some really good wins, and of course there were a few disappointing matches like Drake, which we could have won."

"The Cyclones were a relatively young team with Emma Stines scoring as the only senior on the team."

Next season, the Cyclones will honor five seniors at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Cyclone Sports Complex against the Texas Tech opponent during the Cyclones women's tennis meet on April 26. Efforts were made to play this match in Ames in 2011. As a four-time starter in Iowa State, Davison has been equally valuable both on and off the field. The Cyclones will need to replace Green, who was the only underclassman on the squad not planning to return next season. However, Green said, looking back at her time at Iowa State, that the entire season has served as a valuable learning experience for her future performance as a leader.

"What I learned most is that I need to bring it every day," Green said. "I came down to playing for my team rather than playing for myself, which is different than what I have done in the past.

As for the Cyclones, who finished the season with a 12-12 record and gold next year, the focus is now set on the future. "As a team we all hope that we bring a win in the Big 12," Green said. "It would be a huge accomplishment as it has never been done at Iowa State."

Pronina said that "Marina has been one of my best and most complete team I've seen on one side since I've been here." Graduating senior Hally Lenzine, who is the only senior on the Cyclones' starting five to return, has missed most of this season. She is among the team leads in runs batted in with 27 on the season. Iowa State will also need to find replacements for Henry, who started 28 games for the Cyclons, as well as Lemper. "I think in regards to leadship, it's going to be very different on the field without these seniors," Pronina said. "A lot of them are free of them! What are they going to be for the team?" said ISU coaching Ari Slane. "But I think we have a leader from every class who will hopefully step up in their absence."

Iowa State will take on Baylor in a three-game series Friday through Sunday, and Drake on Thursday, for its final four home games. The Di-cakes will be honored after the Cyclones three games for the five senior players.

The Cyclones will honor its seniors at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Cyclone Sports Complex against the Texas Tech opponent.

Cyclone tennis looks forward to next year after Big 12 losses

By Max Dible

@iowastatedaily.com

The ISU tennis team came bolting out of the gate in the 2013-14 season and raced to an 8-4 record before running into the Big 12 Conference, where Iowa State dropped nine of its 12 tournament, junior and No. 1 singles player Kaetia Pronina said the win was more or less satisfying with the progress made over the last 12 months.

"There were some really good moments for the team," Pronina said. "We had some really good wins, and of course there were a few disappointing matches like Drake, which we could have won."

"The Cyclones were a relatively young team with Emma Stines scoring as the only senior on the team."

Next season, the Cyclones will honor five seniors at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Cyclone Sports Complex against the Texas Tech opponent during the Cyclones women's tennis meet on April 26. Efforts were made to play this match in Ames in 2011. As a four-time starter in Iowa State, Davison has been equally valuable both on and off the field. The Cyclones will need to replace Green, who was the only underclassman on the squad not planning to return next season. However, Green said, looking back at her time at Iowa State, that the entire season has served as a valuable learning experience for her future performance as a leader.

"What I learned most is that I need to bring it every day," Green said. "I came down to playing for my team rather than playing for myself, which is different than what I have done in the past.

As for the Cyclones, who finished the season with a 12-12 record and gold next year, the focus is now set on the future. "As a team we all hope that we bring a win in the Big 12," Green said. "It would be a huge accomplishment as it has never been done at Iowa State."

Pronina said that "Marina has been one of my best and most complete team I've seen on one side since I've been here." Graduating senior Hally Lenzine, who is the only senior on the Cyclones' starting five to return, has missed most of this season. She is among the team leads in runs batted in with 27 on the season. Iowa State will also need to find replacements for Henry, who started 28 games for the Cyclons, as well as Lemper. "I think in regards to leadship, it's going to be very different on the field without these seniors," Pronina said. "A lot of them are free of them! What are they going to be for the team?" said ISU coating Ari Slane. "But I think we have a leader from every class who will hopefully step up in their absence."

Iowa State will take on Baylor in a three-game series Friday through Sunday, and Drake on Thursday, for its final four home games. The Di-cakes will be honored after the Cyclones three games for the five senior players.

The Cyclones will honor its seniors at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Cyclone Sports Complex against the Texas Tech opponent.
Curtain opens for first original play

By Nicole Presley

Music: Mamma Mia!

Mama Mamma Mia! will make its tour stop in Ames this Thursday, May 1, at Stephens Auditorium with a wide-arrange of action to support the popular roles. Alyson Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.

“It means a lot to be a part of such a close-knit community where everyone here knows each other and the show a lot,” Boes said. “I can get my rock groove down and always has a good time.”

Boes, who will be graduating this year, has taken on the number one of ISU Theatre has allowed her to grow tremendously.
Horoscope by Linda Black

Today Birthday
(03/11) 03-11

Today's Star Sign
Aries

Today's Number
1-0-18

Today's Color
Orange

Today's Love 84
Make sure your love relationships are strong. Make time for the people who are important to you.

Today's Homework
Make time for romance. Think about the kind of attention you like to give your lover.

Today's Exercise
Walk or jog for at least 30 minutes.

Today's Dream
Dream about your heart desire. What do you really want, deep down inside?

Today's Key Word
Listen

Today's Key Person
Your partner

Today's Key Theme
Make sure your love relationships are strong. Make time for the people who are important to you.

Today's Key Question
What are you doing to strengthen your relationships?

Sagittarius
Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

Today's Activity
Spend time with friends. Go out for a meal or a movie.

Today's Exercise
Walk or jog for at least 30 minutes.

Today's Dream
Dream about your heart desire. What do you really want, deep down inside?

Today's Key Word
Listen

Today's Key Person
Your partner

Today's Key Theme
Make sure your love relationships are strong. Make time for the people who are important to you.

Today's Key Question
What are you doing to strengthen your relationships?

Aquarius
Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Today's Activity
Spend time with friends. Go out for a meal or a movie.

Today's Exercise
Walk or jog for at least 30 minutes.

Today's Dream
Dream about your heart desire. What do you really want, deep down inside?

Today's Key Word
Listen

Today's Key Person
Your partner

Today's Key Theme
Make sure your love relationships are strong. Make time for the people who are important to you.

Today's Key Question
What are you doing to strengthen your relationships?

Taurus
Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20)

Today's Activity
Spend time with friends. Go out for a meal or a movie.

Today's Exercise
Walk or jog for at least 30 minutes.

Today's Dream
Dream about your heart desire. What do you really want, deep down inside?

Today's Key Word
Listen

Today's Key Person
Your partner

Today's Key Theme
Make sure your love relationships are strong. Make time for the people who are important to you.

Today's Key Question
What are you doing to strengthen your relationships?

Sagittarius
Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

Today's Activity
Spend time with friends. Go out for a meal or a movie.

Today's Exercise
Walk or jog for at least 30 minutes.

Today's Dream
Dream about your heart desire. What do you really want, deep down inside?

Today's Key Word
Listen

Today's Key Person
Your partner

Today's Key Theme
Make sure your love relationships are strong. Make time for the people who are important to you.

Today's Key Question
What are you doing to strengthen your relationships?

Aquarius
Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Today's Activity
Spend time with friends. Go out for a meal or a movie.

Today's Exercise
Walk or jog for at least 30 minutes.

Today's Dream
Dream about your heart desire. What do you really want, deep down inside?

Today's Key Word
Listen

Today's Key Person
Your partner

Today's Key Theme
Make sure your love relationships are strong. Make time for the people who are important to you.

Today's Key Question
What are you doing to strengthen your relationships?

Taurus
Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20)

Today's Activity
Spend time with friends. Go out for a meal or a movie.

Today's Exercise
Walk or jog for at least 30 minutes.

Today's Dream
Dream about your heart desire. What do you really want, deep down inside?

Today's Key Word
Listen

Today's Key Person
Your partner

Today's Key Theme
Make sure your love relationships are strong. Make time for the people who are important to you.

Today's Key Question
What are you doing to strengthen your relationships?

Sagittarius
Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

Today's Activity
Spend time with friends. Go out for a meal or a movie.

Today's Exercise
Walk or jog for at least 30 minutes.

Today's Dream
Dream about your heart desire. What do you really want, deep down inside?

Today's Key Word
Listen

Today's Key Person
Your partner

Today's Key Theme
Make sure your love relationships are strong. Make time for the people who are important to you.

Today's Key Question
What are you doing to strengthen your relationships?

Aquarius
Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Today's Activity
Spend time with friends. Go out for a meal or a movie.

Today's Exercise
Walk or jog for at least 30 minutes.

Today's Dream
Dream about your heart desire. What do you really want, deep down inside?

Today's Key Word
Listen

Today's Key Person
Your partner

Today's Key Theme
Make sure your love relationships are strong. Make time for the people who are important to you.

Today's Key Question
What are you doing to strengthen your relationships?