Snow-filled Super Bowl weekend

By Danielle Ferguson @ISUMantraDaily

Super Bowl weekend brought just as many snowball fights and snowmen as it did Domino commercials.

Ames and Central Iowa is expected to see about 10 inches of snow over the weekend, with gusts reaching up to 45 miles per hour. At noon Sunday, Ames had received about 15 inches of snow, according to Iowa Environmental Mesonet.

Some locations in Iowa were expected to receive up to 15 inches of snow. Wind chills dropped to 15 to 10 below zero.

The city was hit with a winter storm that dumped about 10 inches of snow over the weekend. So how did ISU and Ames manage to handle the entire day? Check out this photo gallery to see how the weather on the multimedia section of the Daily’s site.

Just what could it be?

By Matthew Zurah @ISUMantraDaily

This year’s Super Bowl is likely to attract more Super Bowl ads and the most revenue in NFL history. NBC sold out all of its Super Bowl ad spots, at a whopping $4.5 million for 30-second spots. Venus Williams estimates 113 million people will view the Super Bowl.

About six hours worth of Snapchat ads

A day after Snapchat announced an ad network, NBCUniversal said it will be selling six hours worth of Snapchat ads.

A year’s worth of sponsored content on DailyMail.com

For $4.5 million, the DailyMail would create custom content for a brand on a near-daily basis for a year.

3.5 billion display ads

Display ads are selling for $1.28 per thousand impressions — CPM — in the U.S. This means $4.5 million would fetch 3.5 billion display ads.

Ambulance assistance arrives with hefty price

By Eric Wirth
@iowastatedaily.com

In the heat of the moment, stress and flashing lights are a noticeable aspect of the scene of a medical emergency. The bill that follows, however, can cause a breathtaking emergency.

Elizabeth Frandsen, the director of mobile intensive care services at Mary Greeley Medical Center, said that there are many factors affecting ambulance transportation prices.

“Reimbursement rates are only 40 percent,” Frandsen said in reference to reimbursable rates covering out-of-pocket expenditures.

The hospital sets the prices on reimbursement rates at Mary Greeley, Frandsen said, whereas the base rates at Mary Greeley, Frandsen said, are a standard minimum rate for ambulance transportation while a patient is inambul duced. “If you pay loaded miles,” Frandsen said, “the patient is in ambul care service.”

The further price of ambulance transport de grows on the type of med
cial services provided dur ing the trip. Frandsen said, adding that services can range from first aid to intensive care. Frandsen also noted that ambulance services can extend for an hour or more, which also plays into the cost of ambulance serv ces.

Traci McBe, public relations manager for Wellmark Blue Cross and Blue Shield, said that on the first mile of the trip, the cost of transport is not charged, but the per mile charge will increase or decrease, as well as whether or not the ride is necessary.

“In order to avoid ambu care to a covered service under most health plans, it must be considered an emergency,” McBe said.

“Typically, patients do not do as many computations as they believe if they’re not covered,” McBe said in reference to paying outpatient expenses.

The mobile intensive care unit will come to assess a patient to see if they need emergency trans coration services, which is the only path forward to avoid paying more or having anything worth paying.

SPORTS

Iowa State has done it before.

The 2012-13 season was a special one. The 16-14 record, including a 3-12 Big 12 mark, was nothing to write home about, but as the Cyclones made the NCAA Tournament, they showed that the 2012-13 season was more than a fluke.

This year, the Cyclones are in the same boat. Going into this year’s season, everyone expected the team to struggle. The team was picked to finish last in the Big 12, but the Cyclones are 14-15 and 11-11 in Big 12 play. The Cyclones have some talented players, but they have struggled to find consistency throughout the season.

The Cyclones have not had a winning record since 1997, but this season, they have shown that they are capable of winning. The Cyclones have won four of their last five games, and they are playing some of their best basketball of the season.

The Cyclones have improved defensive to a degree that is rare for a Big 12 team. The team is allowing only 65.7 points per game, which is the 10th-best mark in the country. The Cyclones are also shooting 41.8 percent from the field, which is the 12th-best mark in the country.

The Cyclones are also playing some of the best basketball on the road. They are 2-4 away from home this season, but they have won three of their last four games away from home.

The Cyclones are also playing some of the best basketball in the Big 12. The team is 5-6 in Big 12 play, but they are 3-3 in the last three games.

The Cyclones are also playing some of the best basketball in conference play. The team is 2-2 in conference play, but they are 1-1 in the last two games.

The Cyclones are also playing some of the best basketball in the nation. The team is 2-2 in non-conference play, but they are 1-1 in the last two games.

Cyclones lose second straight at Hilton

A back-and-forth game turned into heartbreak for the Cyclones when Oklahoma State's Brittney Martin scored an inbound pass, calmly faked her way around and dribbled a jumper to put the Cowboys up by one right before the single remaining.

After Mooky Moody blocked a fast break layup from4 and another shot was no good, but tipped out of bounds by the Cyclones, Oklahoma State's third and final shot at taking the lead was the charm.

An inbound pass was thrown from the baseline, this time faked, and decided the game in favor of the Cyclones.

"I just think it was a miscommunication," said Beavers' Johnson of the deciding play. "We were supposed to switch and there was kind of a delay." Iowa State had one last-second chance, but Nicole "Kidd" Blaskowsky's shot, like all others, found the net and away and the Cyclones sealed a 62-60 win.

The Cyclones celebrated while the Cyclones slammed down in disappointment after losing back-to-back home games against Kansas and Oklahoma State, teams that were previously both at the top of the Big 12.

ISU coach Bill Fenstrom described his team's performance following the game.

"I think we played really well. We were good at the free throw line," Fenstrom said. "Unfortunately, that's one of the most important factors where we were a little lucky." Is was fading away more than we knew what to do, you know what I mean."

Fenstrom's strong play was somewhat overshadowed by the Cyclones' lack of offensive rebounding.

"The game was a struggle for us," Fenstrom said. "We dominated play for the majority of the second half and then dominated play for the rest of the game." Fenstrom said that was the only player to play his full time in the game.

Fenstrom scored 10 points in the first half and four in the second, just two of the offensive players who scored the Cyclones line. The game was at seven o'clock or what, but Bry was the only player to play his full game.
