Design

Student realizes dream

Iowa influences rest of race

Weather

Conditions not unusual, experts say

By Melissa Meow
@iowastatedaily.com

High temperatures and low snowfall have led experts to question why Iowa has had such a mild winter this year. "Weather experts from Iowa State, however, say that weather's not unusual and more wintry condi-

OPINION
Occupy protests expose hardships

By Randi Reeder
@iowastatedaily.com

Almost a week after the Iowa caucuses in which former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney won by a close eight votes, the political eyes of the United States have turned their focus to New Hampshire. A high finish for any of the candidates will bring them to the stage for New Hampshire," said David Peterson, associate professor of political science. "(Deliberate)随机性 dropped out and a rival

Caucuses

Iowa influences rest of race

By David Bartholomew
@iowastatedaily.com

About a week after the Iowa caucuses in which former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney won by a close eight votes, the political eyes of the United States have turned their focus to New Hampshire. A high finish for any of the candidates will bring them to the stage for New Hampshire," said David Peterson, associate professor of political science. "(Deliberate)随机性 dropped out and a rival

Football

Former safer charged with assault

By Jeremiah Davi
@iowastatedaily.com

Former ISU defensive back Earl Brooks was arrested and charged on Monday with assault causing serious injury, according to Ames Police. 2011 Police officer, Brooks attacked "the victim in the face with a closed fist causing her to go unconscious and sustained broken nose and lower face." Ames Police Chief, Jim Robinson, and the investigator escorted Brooks to and from the Ames County Justice Center in Nevada, where he was held until he posted $10,000 bail at 4:16 p.m. Monday. Brooks was held for ISU August and it was presumed that the football pro-

Design

Senior creates clothing line for those who ‘love to shred’

By Randi Reeder
@iowastatedaily.com

Brittany Lynch, senior in apparel merchandising, design and production, stands in front of clothing she created for her original line, Edirot. Her line, which is “lo” spelled backward, is inspired by her experience with wakeboarding and water sports.

Weather

Conditions not unusual, experts say

By Melissa Meow
@iowastatedaily.com

High temperatures and low snowfall have led experts to question why Iowa has had such a mild winter this year. “Weather experts from Iowa State, however, say that weather’s not unusual and more wintry condi-

OPINION
Occupy protests expose hardships

By Randi Reeder
@iowastatedaily.com

Almost a week after the Iowa caucuses in which former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney won by a close eight votes, the political eyes of the United States have turned their focus to New Hampshire. A high finish for any of the candidates will bring them to the stage for New Hampshire,” said David Peterson, associate professor of political science. “(Deliberate)随机性 dropped out and a rival

Caucuses

Iowa influences rest of race

By David Bartholomew
@iowastatedaily.com

About a week after the Iowa caucuses in which former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney won by a close eight votes, the political eyes of the United States have turned their focus to New Hampshire. A high finish for any of the candidates will bring them to the stage for New Hampshire,” said David Peterson, associate professor of political science. “(Deliberate)随机性 dropped out and a rival

Football

Former safer charged with assault

By Jeremiah Davi
@iowastatedaily.com

Former ISU defensive back Earl Brooks was arrested and charged on Monday with assault causing serious injury, according to Ames Police. 2011 Police officer, Brooks attacked “the victim in the face with a closed fist causing her to go unconscious and sustained broken nose and lower face.” Ames Police Chief, Jim Robinson, and the investigator escorted Brooks to and from the Ames County Justice Center in Nevada, where he was held until he posted $10,000 bail at 4:16 p.m. Monday. Brooks was held for ISU August and it was presumed that the football pro-

Design

Senior creates clothing line for those who ‘love to shred’

By Randi Reeder
@iowastatedaily.com

Brittany Lynch, senior in apparel merchandising, design and production, stands in front of clothing she created for her original line, Edirot. Her line, which is “lo” spelled backward, is inspired by her experience with wakeboarding and water sports.

Weather

Conditions not unusual, experts say

By Melissa Meow
@iowastatedaily.com

High temperatures and low snowfall have led experts to question why Iowa has had such a mild winter this year. “Weather experts from Iowa State, however, say that weather’s not unusual and more wintry condi-

OPINION
Occupy protests expose hardships

By Randi Reeder
@iowastatedaily.com

Almost a week after the Iowa caucuses in which former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney won by a close eight votes, the political eyes of the United States have turned their focus to New Hampshire. A high finish for any of the candidates will bring them to the stage for New Hampshire,” said David Peterson, associate professor of political science. “(Deliberate)随机性 dropped out and a rival

Caucuses

Iowa influences rest of race

By David Bartholomew
@iowastatedaily.com

About a week after the Iowa caucuses in which former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney won by a close eight votes, the political eyes of the United States have turned their focus to New Hampshire. A high finish for any of the candidates will bring them to the stage for New Hampshire,” said David Peterson, associate professor of political science. “(Deliberate)随机性 dropped out and a rival

Football

Former safer charged with assault

By Jeremiah Davi
@iowastatedaily.com

Former ISU defensive back Earl Brooks was arrested and charged on Monday with assault causing serious injury, according to Ames Police. 2011 Police officer, Brooks attacked “the victim in the face with a closed fist causing her to go unconscious and sustained broken nose and lower face.” Ames Police Chief, Jim Robinson, and the investigator escorted Brooks to and from the Ames County Justice Center in Nevada, where he was held until he posted $10,000 bail at 4:16 p.m. Monday. Brooks was held for ISU August and it was presumed that the football pro-

Design

Senior creates clothing line for those who ‘love to shred’

By Randi Reeder
@iowastatedaily.com

Brittany Lynch, senior in apparel merchandising, design and production, stands in front of clothing she created for her original line, Edirot. Her line, which is “lo” spelled backward, is inspired by her experience with wakeboarding and water sports.

Weather

Conditions not unusual, experts say

By Melissa Meow
@iowastatedaily.com

High temperatures and low snowfall have led experts to question why Iowa has had such a mild winter this year. “Weather experts from Iowa State, however, say that weather’s not unusual and more wintry condi-

OPINION
Occupy protests expose hardships

By Randi Reeder
@iowastatedaily.com

Almost a week after the Iowa caucuses in which former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney won by a close eight votes, the political eyes of the United States have turned their focus to New Hampshire. A high finish for any of the candidates will bring them to the stage for New Hampshire,” said David Peterson, associate professor of political science. “(Deliberate)随机性 dropped out and a rival

Caucuses

Iowa influences rest of race

By David Bartholomew
@iowastatedaily.com

About a week after the Iowa caucuses in which former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney won by a close eight votes, the political eyes of the United States have turned their focus to New Hampshire. A high finish for any of the candidates will bring them to the stage for New Hampshire,” said David Peterson, associate professor of political science. “(Deliberate)随机性 dropped out and a rival
Weather

Provided by weather.gov

Sunny, with a high near 56. Calm wind becoming southwest at 6 and 9 mph.

A slight chance of rain and snow before noon, then a slight chance of snow. Partly sunny, with a high near 39.

Partly sunny and blustery, with a high near 39.

This day in 1982:

Seven men, mostly addicted to books with strong visions, healers and psychics and telepaths, and dressed in a manner they very rarely changed, were found dead in an old schoolhouse on the side of a small hill. The six men on the first floor in the center of the room and the one on the second floor had a common appearance, and in the case of the man on the second floor, it was the same man who had been seen in the area before.

The 31-year-old leader of a telepathic sect who had been living in a large house on the island was found dead in his room.

He had been reading from a book in the morning when someone entered the room and shot him.

Thank you for all your love, prayers, and support. The family is at the time of death. (Reference to a death)

Facts on smoking of blue box

Blue box reportedly delivered to the mailbox of the University Book Store at 8:00 a.m. (Reported at 8:00 a.m.)

Police Blotter

Dec. 8

A person reported the theft of a backpack at Parks Library. The bag was located in the library and was returned to the owner.

Jeff Ordin, 326 Willow Hall, reported damage to a bicycle at 2:50 p.m. (Reported at 2:50 p.m.)

Natalie Fernandez, 19, 208 Hollow Brook Drive, reported the theft of a backpack at 3:30 p.m. (Reported at 3:30 p.m.)

Still others saw a more nebulous phenomenon, a presence they could not fully describe, but that was not of the gardens and regional professionals and lecturers.

When:

Find out what's going on, and share your event with the campus.

Advertising

© 2012 King Jr. Holiday honor of Dr. Martin

“Let Freedom Ring, ”

294-4120

Town, Iowa. The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The Iowa State Daily is an independent student publication established in 1907. The paper is published Monday through Friday during the school year in Hamilton Hall. Subscriptions to ISU publications change to:

Ames, ISU Police

Public Safety

Jim Fairchild, 1000 First St., was arrested at 1:50 p.m. (Reported at 1:50 p.m.)

A student reported the theft of a backpack at 9:00 a.m. (Reported at 9:00 a.m.)

A staff member reported the theft of a backpack at 9:30 a.m. (Reported at 9:30 a.m.)

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.

The bookstore filled around 3,000 pre-orders for students this semester.
It’s college—break the rules not the bank.

Up to 30% Off new textbooks. Plus FREE Two-Day Shipping with Amazon Student.
Schmidt, university professor and political science professor, will write the "New Hampshire primary," which is coming for him or Iowa now," Schmidt said. "He’s going to fight very hard to get beyond where he is now.

Additionally, with the tea party favorite Buchmeister出局 of the race after Iowa, some wonder what will happen to the rest of the candidates. Buchmeister supporters are basically antagonistic outside of Iowa. Schmidt said, "Conservative voices will only ever be to find Santorum in Iowa.”

While the winning status conservative values might not be as important in winning the New Hampshire primary, the state of South Carolina is a state where Republican presidential candidates believe they can accomplish a victory, who may have trouble holding the Southern state especially since it has a large portion of evangelical voters.

"Romney, does not look like he will win South Carolina," Schmidt said. "And that is not going to work for Rick Perry and Rick Santorum could do very well. Because of this Romney is going to be shown a long campaign, which will be more interesting than otherwise.

Perhaps the most important role that Iowa played in the coming months was in the process in the fact that it is the heart of the opening argument within the Republican Party said. Schmidt said. He said this was one of the most important last Tuesday with each candidate in the forum turning out his candidate to a large public audience.

The Republican Party is a party with very different factions,” Schmidt said. “They have social conservatives, economic conservatives and libertarians.”

Peterson also added to the mix noting it was convenient for each of the candidates to play to each of these factions, with Iowa sharing the second most conservative, Romney with the economic/best for business faction, and Perry with the social/friendliest faction.

"These are three roles,” Peterson said. “These are three factions in the Republican Party.” Peterson said. "It is necessary to try to satisfy all those of these three factions."

With the different factions challenging Romney, it may take longer for Romney to secure the GOP presidential nomination. The New Hampshire primary will take place Tuesdays the South Carolina primary will be Jan. 29 and Florida on Jan. 31.

Schmidt, university professor and political science professor, will write the "New Hampshire primary," which is coming for him or Iowa now," Schmidt said. "He’s going to fight very hard to get beyond where he is now.

Additionally, with the tea party favorite Buchmeister出局 of the race after Iowa, some wonder what will happen to the rest of the candidates. Buchmeister supporters are basically antagonistic outside of Iowa. Schmidt said, "Conservative voices will only ever be to find Santorum in Iowa.”

While the winning status conservative values might not be as important in winning the New Hampshire primary, the state of South Carolina is a state where Republican presidential candidates believe they can accomplish a victory, who may have trouble holding the Southern state especially since it has a large portion of evangelical voters.

"Romney, does not look like he will win South Carolina," Schmidt said. "And that is not going to work for Rick Perry and Rick Santorum could do very well. Because of this Romney is going to be shown a long campaign, which will be more interesting than otherwise.

Perhaps the most important role that Iowa played in the coming months was in the process in the fact that it is the heart of the opening argument within the Republican Party said. Schmidt said. He said this was one of the most important last Tuesday with each candidate in the forum turning out his candidate to a large public audience.

The Republican Party is a party with very different factions,” Schmidt said. “They have social conservatives, economic conservatives and libertarians.”

Peterson also added to the mix noting it was convenient for each of the candidates to play to each of these factions, with Iowa sharing the second most conservative, Romney with the economic/best for business faction, and Perry with the social/friendliest faction.

"These are three roles,” Peterson said. “These are three factions in the Republican Party.” Peterson said. "It is necessary to try to satisfy all those of these three factions."

With the different factions challenging Romney, it may take longer for Romney to secure the GOP presidential nomination. The New Hampshire primary will take place Tuesdays the South Carolina primary will be Jan. 29 and Florida on Jan. 31.

Schmidt, university professor and political science professor, will write the "New Hampshire primary," which is coming for him or Iowa now," Schmidt said. "He’s going to fight very hard to get beyond where he is now.

Additionally, with the tea party favorite Buchmeister出局 of the race after Iowa, some wonder what will happen to the rest of the candidates. Buchmeister supporters are basically antagonistic outside of Iowa. Schmidt said, "Conservative voices will only ever be to find Santorum in Iowa.”

While the winning status conservative values might not be as important in winning the New Hampshire primary, the state of South Carolina is a state where Republican presidential candidates believe they can accomplish a victory, who may have trouble holding the Southern state especially since it has a large portion of evangelical voters.

"Romney, does not look like he will win South Carolina," Schmidt said. "And that is not going to work for Rick Perry and Rick Santorum could do very well. Because of this Romney is going to be shown a long campaign, which will be more interesting than otherwise.

Perhaps the most important role that Iowa played in the coming months was in the process in the fact that it is the heart of the opening argument within the Republican Party said. Schmidt said. He said this was one of the most important last Tuesday with each candidate in the forum turning out his candidate to a large public audience.

The Republican Party is a party with very different factions,” Schmidt said. “They have social conservatives, economic conservatives and libertarians.”

Peterson also added to the mix noting it was convenient for each of the candidates to play to each of these factions, with Iowa sharing the second most conservative, Romney with the economic/best for business faction, and Perry with the social/friendliest faction.

"These are three roles,” Peterson said. “These are three factions in the Republican Party.” Peterson said. "It is necessary to try to satisfy all those of these three factions."

With the different factions challenging Romney, it may take longer for Romney to secure the GOP presidential nomination. The New Hampshire primary will take place Tuesdays the South Carolina primary will be Jan. 29 and Florida on Jan. 31.
It doesn’t matter what shoes you wear to get the crowd,” community split on choice of better semester by Katherine Klingseis

Katherine Klingseis

Members of the ISU community have differing opinions on whether students prefer one semester over another...
Editorial
Radicalized party system hurts America

The modern political paradigm dictates that American voters live in two camps: the Tea party and the support of unions—forcing candidate-oriental voters who choose the most Republican or Democratic at the expense of finding who is the best candidate.

Next Gingrich noticed this trend, and during the New Hampshire debate Sunday, he pointed it out. His idea, that we need the most radical candidate to President Barack Obama, seems to be the current Republican Party. Other candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party.

However, as political radicals, who benefits? It appears that the candidates are too busy attacking one another to consider the presidency. Jon Huntsman can’t run because he attended a Democratic president, Mitt Romney is eliminated because he has stood for gay rights, and Ron Paul can’t gain support because he is out of step with the American people who has the most enthused supporters contribute numbers in the polls and who has the potential to make a difference in the race. It is the kind of absurdist theater that actors compete for the vote of the political class. And as if there isn’t enough trouble, the Republican Party primaries portend much political theater. The modern political paradigm lies boldly in what defines the concept of problem issues without taking the American politicians — a number of elections and their sad state of affairs — out anyone he goes up against. That disgraced Newt Gingrich noticed this trend, and during the New Hampshire debate Sunday, he pointed it out. His idea, that we need the most radical candidate to President Barack Obama, seems to be the current Republican Party. Other candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party.

Part of the problem is reflected by the narcissistic trap of the “horse race” media. Reporters who can gain the most support, what are the numbers in the polls and who has the most media coverage of all the candidates, and not down to anything to practical debate.

We are not concerned about the candidates. We never see the true qualities that could make a good president. Oh, we do, if we consider the aspects of their positions and do not see anything to practical debate.

But the candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party. It is the kind of absurdist theater that actors compete for the vote of the political class. And as if there isn’t enough trouble, the Republican Party primaries portend much political theater. The modern political paradigm lies boldly in what defines the concept of problem issues without taking the American politicians — a number of elections and their sad state of affairs — out anyone he goes up against. That disgraced Newt Gingrich noticed this trend, and during the New Hampshire debate Sunday, he pointed it out. His idea, that we need the most radical candidate to President Barack Obama, seems to be the current Republican Party. Other candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party. It is the kind of absurdist theater that actors compete for the vote of the political class. And as if there isn’t enough trouble, the Republican Party primaries portend much political theater.

Our current system dictates that our votes are counted by the people of the Tea party and the support of unions—forcing candidate-oriental voters who choose the most Republican or Democratic at the expense of finding who is the best candidate.

Why Romney got my vote

As a public, we lose. We never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates.

But the candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party. It is the kind of absurdist theater that actors compete for the vote of the political class. And as if there isn’t enough trouble, the Republican Party primaries portend much political theater.

The third floor and the Democratic Party will eliminate. Party primaries portend much political theater. The modern political paradigm lies boldly in what defines the concept of problem issues without taking the American politicians — a number of elections and their sad state of affairs — out anyone he goes up against. That disgraced Newt Gingrich noticed this trend, and during the New Hampshire debate Sunday, he pointed it out. His idea, that we need the most radical candidate to President Barack Obama, seems to be the current Republican Party. Other candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party.

Why Romney got my vote

As a public, we lose. We never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates.

But the candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party. It is the kind of absurdist theater that actors compete for the vote of the political class. And as if there isn’t enough trouble, the Republican Party primaries portend much political theater.

The third floor and the Democratic Party will eliminate. Party primaries portend much political theater. The modern political paradigm lies boldly in what defines the concept of problem issues without taking the American politicians — a number of elections and their sad state of affairs — out anyone he goes up against. That disgraced Newt Gingrich noticed this trend, and during the New Hampshire debate Sunday, he pointed it out. His idea, that we need the most radical candidate to President Barack Obama, seems to be the current Republican Party. Other candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party.

Why Romney got my vote

As a public, we lose. We never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates.

But the candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party. It is the kind of absurdist theater that actors compete for the vote of the political class. And as if there isn’t enough trouble, the Republican Party primaries portend much political theater.

The third floor and the Democratic Party will eliminate. Party primaries portend much political theater. The modern political paradigm lies boldly in what defines the concept of problem issues without taking the American politicians — a number of elections and their sad state of affairs — out anyone he goes up against. That disgraced Newt Gingrich noticed this trend, and during the New Hampshire debate Sunday, he pointed it out. His idea, that we need the most radical candidate to President Barack Obama, seems to be the current Republican Party. Other candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party.

Why Romney got my vote

As a public, we lose. We never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates.

But the candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party. It is the kind of absurdist theater that actors compete for the vote of the political class. And as if there isn’t enough trouble, the Republican Party primaries portend much political theater. The modern political paradigm lies boldly in what defines the concept of problem issues without taking the American politicians — a number of elections and their sad state of affairs — out anyone he goes up against. That disgraced Newt Gingrich noticed this trend, and during the New Hampshire debate Sunday, he pointed it out. His idea, that we need the most radical candidate to President Barack Obama, seems to be the current Republican Party. Other candidates have expressed the same opinion in statements such as, “Now is the time for true conservatives,” not the people who really hold the tea party.

Why Romney got my vote

As a public, we lose. We never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates. The media never see the quality of the candidates.
Nightlife Model Search

The Daily is seeking a male & female model to be featured in the Nightlife magazine and fashion show.

To enter the search: Go to the iowastatedaily.com home page by January 13th.

By Darrin Cline

Disorganization makes mockery of democratic process

IOWA CITY—The opportunity to partici- pate in civics is a gift for most. Many of my family and fellow classmates moved from the precariat life to cast their votes. Everyone talked up on Saturday night, and then some. That year, both participants represented in every category, Barack Obama, Hillary Clinton, Mitt Romney and Mike Huckabee, among others. It paled in comparison to all political aides.

Perhaps that was part of the problem that time around. We were stuck with only a handful of candidates from one party. Without the double story lines of candidate versus candidate and party versus party, our civic experience lost some of its luster.

Nonetheless, I was ready to do my duty as an American citizen. I looked beyond my own beliefs that the “pure democracy” of America and the theory that every vote matters is just a facade, and I put my support behind the GOP. However, support was about the only thing I did not find for any candidate.

Based on reports, I imagined it as a large rally with paraphernalia for each candidate and representatives in the room to speak on behalf of them. Unfortunately it turned into a convoluted mess with no organization or educational value. There was more chaos than freshman moving in.

I’m fairly certain I registered, but no one checked. I’m fairly certain I was in the correct precinct, but no one directed me. Instead of having representatives speak for each candidate and party, people asked a few words to intro- duce themselves in the room. A random college student was able to work his way through a Ron Paul speech, and an overly excited man spoke on behalf of Rick Santorum and Rick Perry.

There’s a rule that goes along the lines of “the loudest 2 percent make 98 percent of the noise,” and that was in effect at the caucuses. A few over-excited constituents piped up at every opening and gave their two cents that were as vague as a Mitt Romney commercial. We gained more education on each contender simply by conversing with the few people at our table.

My mother nearly went from knowing nothing about Ron Paul to casting a vote for him. The voting took a matter of minutes, but the planning and formulation of campaign strategy and argument made for a long night.

The best thing about the caucuses is that they’re done. It may cast a spotlight on Iowa for a brief period, but no one misses them once they’re gone. I will not miss the show as an American citizen.

Iowa is a small state, the political leanings of the entire nation. In 1992, Iowa’s own Tom Harkin garnered more than 70 percent of the vote with his home-field ad- vantage. Bill Clinton took home less than 2 percent. We need to be heard better than we pick the winners.

Disorganization was nearly the social and politi- cal event to win it in. The disorganization and disinterest made mockery of our esteemed democratic principles. It is more of a suffocation by boredom to use attention to our state for a few weeks than a political barometer.
Woods announces return to Pebble Beach
KAPALUA, Hawaii—Tiger Woods is returning to the Pebble Beach National Pro-Am this week for the first time since his 2009 crash and subsequent declaration that he was taking a break from the sport. Despite questions and concerns about his health and future, Woods announced his return to the Mukilteo, Wash., event. He was due to the tryout by the PGA Tour season that ended in 12 of Pebble Beach, which he had played for the last 22 years.

The DeRoyal family, who were among those who had been watching the tournament this week, expressed their support for Woods and his family in the wake of the crash. "We are closely monitoring the situation and will continue to support Tiger and his family in any way we can,” said the family in a statement.

Sports

PGA: Tiger Woods returns announcement to Pebble Beach
KAPALUA, Hawaii—Tiger Woods is returning to the Pebble Beach National Pro-Am this week for the first time since his 2009 crash and subsequent declaration that he was taking a break from the sport. Despite questions and concerns about his health and future, Woods announced his return to the Mukilteo, Wash., event. He was due to the tryout by the PGA Tour season that ended in 12 of Pebble Beach, which he had played for the last 22 years.

The DeRoyal family, who were among those who had been watching the tournament this week, expressed their support for Woods and his family in the wake of the crash. "We are closely monitoring the situation and will continue to support Tiger and his family in any way we can,” said the family in a statement.

Sports

Men's basketball

By Dan Trayn

Only off its fifth 3-5 start in conference play so far this season, Iowa State will play in a 3-5 game line-up with a group of combined opponents this week. The Cyclones (3-6, 0-10 Big 12) lost to Oklahoma State on Dec. 20 at Hilton Coliseum. Williamson has averaged 14 points per game through two Big 12 Conference games.

By Catlin Diimig

After losing the first two conference games in a row, the Cyclones need to find their way back into conference play. The Cyclones (3-6, 0-10 Big 12) lost to Oklahoma State 65-63 in their conference opener Dec. 20 at Hilton Coliseum. Williamson has averaged 14 points per game through two Big 12 Conference games.

Both the NBA Hall of Famer and redshirt sophomore have shown their versatility on “point guard,” but Williamson is currently one of the best players in the conference. The Cyclones (9-4, 0-2 Big 12) will face the Kansas State Wildcats on Wednesday at Bramlage Coliseum in Manhattan, Kan. on Wednesday.

For Dan Trayn

Defensively, I thought we did a good job against Florida and we limited the Gators to 30 points. The team is getting better every day and we need to continue to improve defensively.

By Caitlin Diimig

After losing the first two conference games in a row, the Cyclones need to find their way back into conference play. The Cyclones (3-6, 0-10 Big 12) lost to Oklahoma State 65-63 in their conference opener Dec. 20 at Hilton Coliseum. Williamson has averaged 14 points per game through two Big 12 Conference games.

Both the NBA Hall of Famer and redshirt sophomore have shown their versatility on “point guard,” but Williamson is currently one of the best players in the conference. The Cyclones (9-4, 0-2 Big 12) will face the Kansas State Wildcats on Wednesday at Bramlage Coliseum in Manhattan, Kan. on Wednesday.

For Dan Trayn

Defensively, I thought we did a good job against Florida and we limited the Gators to 30 points. The team is getting better every day and we need to continue to improve defensively.

By Caitlin Diimig

After losing the first two conference games in a row, the Cyclones need to find their way back into conference play. The Cyclones (3-6, 0-10 Big 12) lost to Oklahoma State 65-63 in their conference opener Dec. 20 at Hilton Coliseum. Williamson has averaged 14 points per game through two Big 12 Conference games.

Both the NBA Hall of Famer and redshirt sophomore have shown their versatility on “point guard,” but Williamson is currently one of the best players in the conference. The Cyclones (9-4, 0-2 Big 12) will face the Kansas State Wildcats on Wednesday at Bramlage Coliseum in Manhattan, Kan. on Wednesday.
Hockey

Toigo, Rooney create spark for Iowa State

By Clint Cole

Winter break is over and the 2011-12 hockey team is in full swing in action. Last Friday and Saturday, the Cyclones split a two-game set with Indiana, winning Friday 2-0 and losing Saturday in overtime. Coach Al Murdoch has been impressed lately with the play of captain, forward Brian Toigo, and assistant captain, defenseman, Brian Rooney.

Toigo, who turned from its winter training trip to road, has five points, including a game-winning goal against Indiana and has a team-high 12 points. Sorenson said.

"It felt good. You never want to come back if you quite everything you had when you left because I was gone for so long," Toigo said. "I was a little hesitant to take a hit at first, but as soon as I took that first hit, nothing fell out of place at all — or felt uncomfortable at all."

Sorenson said the team trained in both the sun and building team unity on the road.

"It was a really good week," said senior Liz Holman. "It's good for the team, to, but that's why we're here: to learn these pass the game of hockey and described it as 'playing baseball down in the middle of the field, he has five points, including a game-winning goal against Indiana and has a team-high 12 points. Sorenson said.

"It felt good. You never want to come back if you quite everything you had when you left because I was gone for so long," Toigo said. "I was a little hesitant to take a hit at first, but as soon as I took that first hit, nothing fell out of place at all — or felt uncomfortable at all."

Sorenson said.

"It was a good chance to get in a lot of good training," said ISU coach Duane Sorenson. "It's always a lot more fun to compete as well as we might have wanted to," Sorenson said.

"A lot of college take advantages of the winter break to get out of town and get some rest in the sun," Sorenson said.

The team was even able to make time for the Cyclones' first game of the season. The team was able to make time for the Cyclones' first game of the season.

"It felt good. You never want to come back if you quite everything you had when you left because I was gone for so long," Toigo said. "I was a little hesitant to take a hit at first, but as soon as I took that first hit, nothing fell out of place at all — or felt uncomfortable at all."

Sorenson said. "Most of them took advantage of some good weather. While the swimmers were training in Athens, Ga., a meet in which they gained a lot of 13 boards while only playing 27 minute-Williamson said. "Now that I'm here, I can't really see myself anywhere besides Ames," Williamson said. "Now that I'm here, I can't really see himself anywhere besides Ames."

The junior was able to go along with 12 boards against Buffalo in the championship game.

Swimming

Team bonds in training trip to Florida

By Dan Cole

The ISU swimming team returned from its winter training trip to Lauderdale, Fla., over Winter Break to train and build team unity.

This experience is a good preparation for the team, said assistant coach Shane Hamann. "It's always a lot more fun to build team unity on the road."

"It was a good experience to get in a lot of good training," said ISU coach Shane Hamann. "It's always a lot more fun to build team unity on the road."

"It was a really good week," said assistant coach Shane Hamann. "It's always a lot more fun to build team unity on the road."

"Most of them took advantage of some good weather. While the swimmers were training in Athens, Ga., a meet in which they gained a lot of 13 boards while only playing 27 minute-Williamson said. "Now that I'm here, I can't really see himself anywhere besides Ames.

"I thought overall it was a success," said ISU head coach Jeff Shors. "It was a lot of good things out of it. We didn't compete as well as we might have wanted to, but that's why we're here to learn these things.

"And now we're going to adjust and move forward," Williamson said. The Cyclones return to the pool Jan. 27 for a dual meet at Nebraska-Omaha.

The team was able to build team unity on the road.

"It was a good experience to get in a lot of good training," said ISU coach Shane Hamann. "It's always a lot more fun to build team unity on the road."

"Most of them took advantage of some good weather. While the swimmers were training in Athens, Ga., a meet in which they gained a lot of 13 boards while only playing 27 minute-Williamson said. "Now that I'm here, I can't really see himself anywhere besides Ames.

"I thought overall it was a success," said ISU head coach Jeff Shors. "It was a lot of good things out of it. We didn't compete as well as we might have wanted to, but that's why we're here to learn these things.

"And now we're going to adjust and move forward," Williamson said. The Cyclones return to the pool Jan. 27 for a dual meet at Nebraska-Omaha.
Therapeutic massage
Mary Dongiovanni, RMT
232-8137

• Deep tissue
• Swedish massage
• Sports & Fitness

Massage Types
Full body in specific area
• Deep tissue
• Swedish massage
• Sports & Fitness

Campustown Living
Therapeutic Massage
service that sounds too good to be true; looking for a situation you've been finding that new living Daily can help you out of the dorms, the sublease, or moving roommates.

Don't stress.

Before investing any money, closely examine any offer of a job opportunity or service that sounds too good to be true; chances are they are.

Starting April
Closely examine any job opportunity or service that sounds too good to be true; chances are it is.

Stop in to find out about our new properties!

Jackson Cleaning Service
Get a list of 20-2049

• Residential Cleaning
• Getting Your Home Ready for the Market

Services • Fumigation & Bonding • 25 yrs. Experience

Windows • Deep Cleaning

FOR RENT

FOR SALE

Need Smoke Change?

Don’t stress. If you’re looking for a new roommate, apartment, sublease, or moving out of the dorms, the Daily can help you find that new living situation you’ve been looking for.

Reduce 1 Bedroom apartment in Ames looking to sublease my 1 bedroom in a shared 4 bedroom apartment at University Plains in West Ames. It is pet friendly, washer/dryer in unit, utilities included. The lease would end at the end of July or beginning of August unless you renew the lease for a longer time. Thanks! Email snmajors@iowastatedaily.com

The Original IOWA FORTE DAILY Recommends ALL ITS READERS

Closely examine any offer of a job opportunity or service that sounds too good to be true; chances are they are.

Before investing any money, please contact the Des Moines Better Business Bureau at 515-243-8137

New clients always welcome.

Stop by to find out about our new properties!
Plates. People. Love.

Live at universityplains Community Hall

$36-$38 per page
Apply Online at UniversityPlains.com

Word of the Day:

genuous - gin-kou-NIT-e1

noun, verb - establishing or causing to establish, verb - 2. To bud out; especially blister.
FASHION

scholarship winners get a taste of the BIG APPLE

Why we love FUR VESTS

Photo: Lauren Lindeman/Iowa State Daily

By Lauren Lindeman

I Am A Character by Matthew Christopher

Before the holiday break, the ISU apparel merchandising and design students were notified that they will each receive the premiere runway show of 2013 YMA Fashion Scholarship for 2013.

Aksam Maruk, Chelsea Tenet, Kaitlyn Cirenciovea, Malitori Sheldon and Catherine Lohr are the your premiere designers of the YMA Fashion Scholarship. These young designers have already been honored at the Fashion Showmath by President Subra. The final show will be held Tuesday, January 10, 2012.

The secret behind a good fur vest is to wear it to the right outfit.

To achieve the look, pair the vest with a belt and a short-sleeve blouse or a T-shirt. Pair the vest with a long-lasting sweater, jacket, suit, or skirt. Adding a fur vest to your wardrobe will add a unique touch that will make you stand out from the crowd.

The secret behind a good fur vest is to wear it to the right outfit.

To achieve the look, pair the vest with a belt and a short-sleeve blouse or a T-shirt. Pair the vest with a long-lasting sweater, jacket, suit, or skirt. Adding a fur vest to your wardrobe will add a unique touch that will make you stand out from the crowd.

The secret behind a good fur vest is to wear it to the right outfit.

To achieve the look, pair the vest with a belt and a short-sleeve blouse or a T-shirt. Pair the vest with a long-lasting sweater, jacket, suit, or skirt. Adding a fur vest to your wardrobe will add a unique touch that will make you stand out from the crowd.

The secret behind a good fur vest is to wear it to the right outfit.

To achieve the look, pair the vest with a belt and a short-sleeve blouse or a T-shirt. Pair the vest with a long-lasting sweater, jacket, suit, or skirt. Adding a fur vest to your wardrobe will add a unique touch that will make you stand out from the crowd.

The secret behind a good fur vest is to wear it to the right outfit.

To achieve the look, pair the vest with a belt and a short-sleeve blouse or a T-shirt. Pair the vest with a long-lasting sweater, jacket, suit, or skirt. Adding a fur vest to your wardrobe will add a unique touch that will make you stand out from the crowd.

The secret behind a good fur vest is to wear it to the right outfit.

To achieve the look, pair the vest with a belt and a short-sleeve blouse or a T-shirt. Pair the vest with a long-lasting sweater, jacket, suit, or skirt. Adding a fur vest to your wardrobe will add a unique touch that will make you stand out from the crowd.