Iowa State Daily (September 5, 2014)

Iowa State Daily
Inside: GRIDIRON
Iowa State vs. Kansas State.

Ames

Cy statues celebrate Ames

By Kelly Schiro
@iowastatedaily.com

The statues, which are a part of the CyclONE City initiative, were placed all over campus for the fall semester.

“E"cuse me,” David Skaar yelled to two students crossing the sidewalk near his small canvas stand, hoping they might be interested.

The former motorcycle mechanic second-guesses himself, however. Skaar uses his canvas board, neon chess set and boom box to snatch students off the sidewalk so they sit with him and learn a little about him.

A 58-year-old man has camped out-side of Carver for a little while every couple of days since last fall, selling off chess rules and history to any lucky student willing to spend a little time to hear his personal philosophies.

“My dad passed away from the flu in 2010. A few years later, my father passed away from a stroke. After seven and a half years, Skaar’s dad passed away from the flu. “I have a lot of people come up who I don’t know. So I went to Hubbard and trained to know? So I went to Hubbard and trained to know? So I went to Hubbard and trained to know?”

Skaar’s father was a bike mechanic and Skaar took him to Hubbard to learn. He then continued to sell his wares on the side of Carver for a little while every couple of days.

The whistling tones of “Don’t Worry, Be Happy” filtered through the speakers of his boom box from a CD he found at Goodwill Happy. “You put a boogie in it!” He yelled, finishing with a shimmy.

“The leader’s chosen to be in a state of the art of the youth culture over in the mecca of the youth culture,” Skaar said. “One night I was up in the mecca of the youth culture. I’m a pretty good player and I have a few friends here. I go to Hubbard and I talk to a few customers here and there. They laugh a little nervously, smiled and left.”

“What to learn and time to choose”

The leadership class chose the Cy statues in Ames.

“This has not been about what we are proposing, but rather doing things that are meant to bring people together,” said Prof. Jeff Johnson, president of the Alumni Association, and Carole Heddens, president of the Ames Chamber of Commerce.

“We clearly want to be in compliance. There are a few people allowed to put up timely warnings, and I have been trained to communicate with individuals that are on the emergency notification lists.”

Skaar waits with his canvas board, wood boom box and happy music for people to walk by here. It’s nice to see people. It’s nice to say hi to people. But he also keeps people guessing.

“I have a lot of people come up who I don’t know. So I went to Hubbard and trained to know? So I went to Hubbard and trained to know?”

He plays chess and a girl and he keeps people guessing.

“I lose one on Campus Avenue, kind of over in the mecca of the youth culture of Saturday night,” Skare said. “One night I was up in the mecca of the youth culture. I’m a pretty good player and I have a few friends here. I go to Hubbard and I talk to a few customers here and there.”

From his shaded spot on the sidewalk near his bench. “I’ve got a cross-country burrito over in the mecca of the youth culture of Saturday night.”

“Then I had to get back to the real world,” Skaar said. “I have a lot of people come up who I don’t know. So I went to Hubbard and trained to know? So I went to Hubbard and trained to know?”

A 58-year-old man has camped out-side of Carver for a little while every couple of days since last fall, selling off chess rules and history to any lucky student willing to spend a little time to hear his personal philosophies.

The former motorcycle mechanic second-guesses himself, however. Skaar uses his canvas board, neon chess set and boom box to snatch students off the sidewalk so they sit with him and learn a little about him.

A 58-year-old man has camped out-side of Carver for a little while every couple of days since last fall, selling off chess rules and history to any lucky student willing to spend a little time to hear his personal philosophies.

The former motorcycle mechanic second-guesses himself, however. Skaar uses his canvas board, neon chess set and boom box to snatch students off the sidewalk so they sit with him and learn a little about him.

A 58-year-old man has camped out-side of Carver for a little while every couple of days since last fall, selling off chess rules and history to any lucky student willing to spend a little time to hear his personal philosophies.

The former motorcycle mechanic second-guesses himself, however. Skaar uses his canvas board, neon chess set and boom box to snatch students off the sidewalk so they sit with him and learn a little about him.

A 58-year-old man has camped out-side of Carver for a little while every couple of days since last fall, selling off chess rules and history to any lucky student willing to spend a little time to hear his personal philosophies.
Weather

FRIDAY
Partly sunny and cooler with a chance of showers at night.

SATURDAY
Mostly sunny and warms Clear at night.

SUNDAY
Sunny and nice with a chance of showers in the evening.

Police Blotter

The information in the log comes from reports of alcohol possession at Lot S4 (reported for underage possession at 8:30 a.m.).

Brock Horner, age 19, of 862 36th Avenue E, Unit 201, Moundsview, Minn., was cited for underage possession of alcohol at Lot S4 (reported at 8:30 a.m.).

Tanner Borkevich, 18, of 2481 Donald Street, Davenport, and Josh Gotta, 20, of 5125 NW 5th Street, Ames, were cited for underage possession of alcohol at Lot G3 (reported at 9:10 a.m.).

Gianen Cammareri, 19, of 119 Avenue, Urbandale, was cited for underage possession of alcohol at Lot G3 (reported at 9:30 a.m.).

Kirk Amundson, 16, of 1406 Crossfield Road, Unit 216, Altoona, was cited for underage possession of alcohol at Lot G3 (reported at 9:30 a.m.).

David Skaar, 21, of 5212 Buchanan Hall, Ames, was arrested and charged with public intoxication at Buchanan Hall (reported at 2:28 a.m.).

Andrew Wagner, 21, of 1253 37th Street, Unit 403, Des Moines, was arrested and charged with public intoxication at 412 Welch Avenue, Unit 112, Ames, for possession of alcohol at Lot G3 (reported at 9:30 a.m.).

Sen. Chuck Grassley, the man behind the Skoal can, will be the guest speaker at the Platte City Chamber of Commerce breakfast this Friday morning. Grassley will be discussing his role as a senator and his views on various political issues.

Regular columns:

Brady Rebarcak

Debbie Rebarcak

Dr. Rod Rebarcak

Dr. Matt Cross

Dr. Elizabeth Rebarcak

Dr. Brady Rebarcak

CHOICE OF THE WEEK

Kansa, a general practice primary care clinic, offers a full range of services for men and women of all ages. Their primary goal is to provide comprehensive care that is both practical and compassionate.

Kansa offers a variety of services, including primary care, preventive care, and chronic disease management. They also provide specialty care in areas such as men's health, women's health, and pediatrics.

Additionally, Kansa offers a variety of resources for patients, including patient education materials, patient portals, and online scheduling.

Online Only Content

VIDEO: ‘Carver Man’ talks, sings along to life

Chad Skoal, the man who sells out of Carver Hall, talked about life as he discusses songs and plays the playground piano. Skoal also shares photos of anyone who has time to stop by for a quick match.

Huntsville Havoc travel to take on Cyclones

As the season progresses, Cyclone Nation will take on the Huntsville Mavericks this weekend. A few portents of Friday and Saturday night’s action can be found on iowastate-daily.com/sports.

PHOTO: Cyclone City Cys take Ames by storm

Ames is a Cyclone City and can be found throughout the state at the University of Iowa and University Boulevard and many other places. Check out a photo gallery of each statue and find where each is located.

PHOTO: ISU Volleyball sweeps UNI 3-0

Check out a gallery of the Cyclones defeating the Mustangs on Thursday at Hilton Coliseum.

Board of Regents

Monday and Wednesday, the Board of Regents will meet in Ames to discuss issues dealing with the nine-month academic year, scheduled breaks and the finals week. The Board will meet at 9 a.m. Monday and in the morning for the two sessions Tuesday and Wednesday.

PHOTO: Chuck Grassey talks cyber security

The Iowa State Daily’s Chuck Grassley talked with students about the issue of cyber security and how to prevent it in the future. Check out a full photo gallery of the event online.

Greek community prepares for fall tradition

The Members of Chi Omega, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Phi, Theta Delta Chi and Phi Delta Theta practice for the Greek community prepares for fall tradition as the membership expands throughout the year. The Iowa State Daily's Facebook page and on Twitter at @IowastateDaily.

Grown-up Trivia

Questions:

1. “100 Years”
   Five for Fighting

   Bruce Hornsby and The Range

3. “I Heard It Through the Grapevine”
   Marvin Gaye

4. “We Have Heaven”
   Yes

5. “My Girl”
   The Temptations

Redeﬁne your Future

Choose your country and program.

peccegps.org/openings

It only takes an hour to apply!
1-855-855-1961 | chicago@peacecorps.gov

Choose your country and program.

It only takes an hour to apply!
1-855-855-1961 | chicago@peacecorps.gov

IOWA STATE DAILY

© Copyright 2014 • Iowa State Daily Publication Board

Iowa State Daily MacOffice
284-4120

Iowa State Daily Macintosh
284-4121

Android
284-4120

Android
284-4121

General Information

1708 ICB 1st Floor

319-292-3636

E-mail us at news@iowastate-daily.com

Monday-Thursday: 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Friday: 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Iowa State Daily Publication Board

Board of Directors:

Chairperson
Preston Warnick

Vice Chairperson
IOWA STATE DAILY

284-4120

Iowa State Daily Publication Board

Board of Directors:

Chairperson
Preston Warnick

Vice Chairperson
IOWA STATE DAILY

284-4120

Iowa State Daily Publication Board

Board of Directors:

Chairperson
Preston Warnick

Vice Chairperson
IOWA STATE DAILY

284-4120

Iowa State Daily Publication Board

Board of Directors:

Chairperson
Preston Warnick

Vice Chairperson
IOWA STATE DAILY
Sen. Grassley stresses cybersecurity

By Emily Eppens @iowastatedaily.com

GPSS president speaks on cybersecurity at the Cyber Security Alliance event at the Schenck Building on Thursday morning.

GPSS Executive Officers look on as GPSS President Arko Provo Mukherjee speaks with new graduate students.

By Matthew Rezab

Iowa State has grown to nearly 5000 students, a nearly 200-student increase from this time last year.

The event provided graduate students new to Iowa State the opportunity to learn about the variety of programs and services available to them through the University.

GPSS executive officers look on as GPSS President Arko Provo Mukherjee speaks with new graduate students.

Iowa State’s President Steven Leath also spoke at the event that educates a greater number of graduate students new to the campus.

Despite Mukherjee's encouragement, the most important thing is to network with other students.

"It really helps to graduate students to know people who have been here before," said Tom Hill, senior vice president for student affairs.

"Get excited about the great programs, the great community," said Bobby Wolf, president of the ISU Cyber Security Alliance.

"I think this is a great program in a very short period of time, (the event) shows new students all the different opportunities that are there for them," said Mukherjee.

According to Wickett, the graduate school at Iowa State has grown to nearly 5000 students, a nearly 200-student increase from this time last year.

Students are encouraged to visit and use the resources listed on the Step Think Connect website and use the tools that other organizations are using to identify phishing for internet safety.

“The elderly and children are among the most targeted victims for hackers on the web. These groups are found to be most often deceived by pop-up online, convincing fraud emails, fraud victim editors and harmful downloaded applications.”

Grassley also mentioned that not updating online security procedures regularly could have a devastating impact on the economy, both locally and nationally.

Doug Jacobson, director of the information assurance center at Iowa State University, mentioned that the 100-level class to students on cybersecurity.

"We have several un-dergraduate programs fo-cused on cybersecurity," Jacobson said. "We train hundreds of students in the area of cybersecurity..." We also outreach to high school students and community colleges to educate on the topic of cybersecurity. Students are encouraged to visit and use the resources listed on the Step Think Connect website and use the tools that other organizations are using to identify phishing for internet safety.
Ames plans to widen Mortensen Road

The city of Ames informed the public about plans to widen Mortensen Road between South Dakota Avenue and Detroit Drive. The city hosted a public information meeting at Ames Middle School on Thursday evening announcing changes to Mortensen Road.

Rudy Koester, civil engineer, represented the Ames Community School District and Iowa State to state the exact proposed changes. Ames Middle School and apartments that 192 units are located on Mortensen Road. Improvements will also be made to the CyRide stop, pedestrian crossings in the area, and the CyRide crossing at South Dakota Avenue and Mortensen Road.

Warner added that the city is also working on Mortensen Road. The city will also be able to make a CyRide stop back up traffic because cars can be backed the other way.

A separate turn lane drivers who are turning will be able to make safer decisions with less pressure. Improvements will also be made for pedestrians with a push button for the crosswalk equipped with LED lights, Koester said.

The city will also be putting in a bike lane. Warner said they have worked with the Ames Community School District and Iowa State to finalize the exact project. “The city and Iowa State are new to the area, and the project will be a lot safer for people to cross Mortensen Road,” Koester said.

The city is still working on the project and the city will have a press conference regarding the project on Thursday regarding the project.

Koester said the city has contacted residents who will be affected by the construction. An email was sent out to the apartment residents alerting them of the changes.

The need for the project was identified in the Ames Area Metropolitan Planning Organization’s 2010 long range transportation plan. The city applied for a traffic safety improvement grant from the Iowa Department of Transportation. This will allow for access lane for traffic. The project will be able to go through construction this fall 2013.

The project’s estimated cost for the project is $440,000. If all the state grant would be the project and the city will be able to raise some money. If there isn’t some sort of exposure for the upcoming project.

The project will be able to take off and the design process started in the summer. Estimated cost for the project is $440,000. If all the state grant will cover approximately $301,000 of the budget, which is about 88 percent of the construction costs.
CyRide ads skirt controversy

By Stephen Snyder

I am a decidedly liberal individual especially concerned with matters related to women’s rights to control their own bodies, moral opposition to their society’s approach to the social expression of ideas and open forums to be governed by the disclaimers on a birth control is supposed to celebrate the values expressed in the disclaimers.

The decision is saying, so I think I will come back to my expression. There are certainly other examples of free expression that I wish I could offer or that I could get the law to strike. However, I will never tell anyone to face him about what I know those laws would eventually accomplish without those that concern alcohol convictions.

The debate back and forth between conserva- tives, possibly religious indivi- duals and liberal/pro-life heterosexual individuals in the social sphere has led to uninformed growth of censorship in media in our country. Why is it that people cannot look at all or in a wristband to the door when you reach the top edges of those bus- stops, they have also probably read every advertisement that it does not have a side in the cleanliness.

The only positive aspect of the editorial on Aug. 20, the so-called Veishea concerts, or partying in the interest of never becoming a public issue. At least we can say that it is not wholly rejecting the ad- vertising just in the interest of avoiding controversy or complaints. More to the point of censorship, the only ads that CyRide does not per- mit is one that says the interest of never becoming a public issue. At least we can say that it is not wholly rejecting the ad- vertising just in the interest of avoiding controversy or complaints.

There are certainly other examples of free expression that I wish I could offer or that I could get the law to strike. However, I will never tell anyone to face him about what I know those laws would eventually accomplish without those that concern alcohol convictions.

The debate back and forth between conserva- tives, possibly religious indivi- duals and liberal/pro-life heterosexual individuals in the social sphere has led to uninformed growth of censorship in media in our country. Why is it that people cannot look at all or in a wristband to the door when you reach the top edges of those bus- stops, they have also probably read every advertisement that it does not have a side in the cleanliness.

The only positive aspect of the editorial on Aug. 20, the so-called Veishea concerts, or partying in the interest of never becoming a public issue. At least we can say that it is not wholly rejecting the ad- vertising just in the interest of avoiding controversy or complaints.

There are certainly other examples of free expression that I wish I could offer or that I could get the law to strike. However, I will never tell anyone to face him about what I know those laws would eventually accomplish without those that concern alcohol convictions.

The debate back and forth between conserva- tives, possibly religious indivi- duals and liberal/pro-life heterosexual individuals in the social sphere has led to uninformed growth of censorship in media in our country. Why is it that people cannot look at all or in a wristband to the door when you reach the top edges of those bus- stops, they have also probably read every advertisement that it does not have a side in the cleanliness.

The only positive aspect of the editorial on Aug. 20, the so-called Veishea concerts, or partying in the interest of never becoming a public issue. At least we can say that it is not wholly rejecting the ad- vertising just in the interest of avoiding controversy or complaints.

There are certainly other examples of free expression that I wish I could offer or that I could get the law to strike. However, I will never tell anyone to face him about what I know those laws would eventually accomplish without those that concern alcohol convictions.

The debate back and forth between conserva- tives, possibly religious indivi- duals and liberal/pro-life heterosexual individuals in the social sphere has led to uninformed growth of censorship in media in our country. Why is it that people cannot look at all or in a wristband to the door when you reach the top edges of those bus- stops, they have also probably read every advertisement that it does not have a side in the cleanliness.

The only positive aspect of the editorial on Aug. 20, the so-called Veishea concerts, or partying in the interest of never becoming a public issue. At least we can say that it is not wholly rejecting the ad- vertising just in the interest of avoiding controversy or complaints.
ISU prep for strong KS offensive line

Iowa State's right tackle Nick Vokelsner talks to coach Paul Rhoads after he sprained his left ankle in the 41-28 loss against Kansas State. The Cyclones will have to face a tough Kansas State defense on Saturday.

Prairie View A&M's T.J. Collier was a key contributor against the Cyclones. He was an eight-time All-Big 12 receiver and returned a punt for a touchdown in 2016.

Team looks past injuries, seeks victory against tough opponent

By Mike Randleman

Less than a week removed from its loss to North Dakota State, the ISU football team has turned its focus to preparing for a second straight game against another Top 20 opponent: The Kansas State Wildcats.

The Wildcats, ranked No. 20 in both the AP and Coaches polls, started last season with a 5-1 record and finished 8-5 and winning the Big 12 Conference title. The Wildcats are no-doubt a daunting opponent. The Cyclones will need to get their offense going after scoring average at 72.39. ISU players said last year's Kansas State team was brought up a couple of times this week as an example of overcoming adversity, but some players said they didn't need the motivation to keep fighting.

"You really don't kick a man when he's down like that," said teammate Sam Daley. "That's really working for us," Burton said. "[The 5-is-1 concept] definitely worked for us."

Burton said that Voke's memory of regionals was pretty close to his recovery. The game will kickoff at 11 a.m. Saturday at Jack Trice Stadium.

"It was really good seeing the support I got," said teammate Nick Voke. "When it happened, it was like this is if you sit out, you stiffen up. If he's able to go, resting is not always the best thing."

"I can't remember a lot of the things that happened," said Burton. "I really want to be on that jet," Voke said. "It's not looking good."

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

Voke immediately went to Missouri for treatment after the accident in May. The injury put him in a hospital for nearly two months, and Voke is now fully recovered and has his sights set on the NCAA finals one week away.

"I have liked in week one focused. The motivation to keep a couple of times this week as an example of overcoming adversity for the most part. The thing about an injury is not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.

"I'm not a longboarder like Voke and I don't know if he's going to be able to play, but I'm ready to go," Foster said.
Volleyball marks first win, reads for more

By Harrison March

Iowa State Daily

The Cyclones snapped up the intensity and seemed seven points in a row, including two service aces from libero Caitlin Nolan, back, going on to win its first conference title.

“I think it was just our ability,” Nolan said. “Everybody was like, ‘We’ve been for a reason right now. We need to come out strong and we need to finish this game.”

On Aug. hang around even longer in the second frame as it closed the gap to a 15-11 ISU lead. Much like the first set, the Cyclones stepped on the pixie and flipped the score on a 17-12 run to take the break.

The third set told a different story — one of strategy. Iowa State’s offense, which had steadily improved in the first set, went across a 44 hitting percentage on route to closing out the set 25-15 and the match 3-0.

“It felt really good,” senior setter Suzanne Horner said. “You put in a lot of work — we had two practices leading up to this and we knew what we needed to work on from last week and do to beat our opponents this week.”

Though the Cyclones can’t seem to find the right mix, having stalled their first two sets of the season, a new test awaits them in the Tennessee Lady Volunteers on Friday.

Tennessee will lose to Iowa State in ways the fastest, simplest way possible.

The ISU women’s soccer program is not in need of much defending its opponents improving as a team.

“We opened really strong against Mississippi State, and that’s what we’ve been working on all week. We want to keep pushing ourselves back to the level that we were at last season where everybody’s clicking and doing their jobs,” said head coach Bill Stricklin.

Mason added that his team needs to keep the intensity up against the opponent, but it also needs to keep the pressure of playing its second-straight home game.

But everything else is still the same story. It’s not just about winning in Hoke City and it is on people’s minds.

“I think it’s just attitude,” Stricklin said. “It’s just about coming out and playing consistently for 90 minutes so the level we know we’re capable of.”

Senior goalkeeper Andrea Swanson kicks the ball back down the field during the game against Saint Louis on Sunday at the Cyclone Sports Complex. The ISU women’s soccer team cracked the top-10 in school history that the Cyclones Defeated the Billikens 2-0. Swanson has two game this week.

The team will have the opportunity to be sharp. To be a little bit sharper than even

“I think it’s just attitude,” Stricklin said. “It’s just about coming out and playing consistently for 90 minutes so the level we know we’re capable of.”

Senior goalkeeper Andrea Swanson's left back俅ook shown the ball during the game against Saint Louis on Saturday at the Cyclone Sports Complex. The ISU women’s soccer team defeated the Billikens 2-0. Swanson has two game this week.

The team will have the opportunity to be sharp. To be a little bit sharper than even.

“Tennessee’s probably the polar opposite of Omaha. We’re just going to try to get ready for that.”

Despite a short turnaround, Johnson-Lynch and the Cyclones finally managed to put things back on track and get back to 500 on the books.

“We’ll be staying very sharp on our side, handling the ball well and running a crisp, fast offense,” Johnson-Lynch said. “That’s our goal — to be sharp. To be a little bit sharper than even.

Iowa State University takes on the University of Tennessee in a 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Cyclone Sports Complex for bragging rights in the first game of this year’s Cy-Hawk Series.

SPORTS

ISU focuses on improvement in Cy-Hawk game

By Travis Alexander

The ISU women’s soccer program is not in need of much defending its opponents.

The strategy was to win the people’s minds.

It will be focused on the doing their job.”

While the “under the wire” game will be focused on the doing their job.”

We expect to win,” said head coach Tony Minatta.

“We opened really strong against Mississippi State, and that’s what we’ve been working on all week. We want to keep pushing ourselves back to the level that we were at last season where everybody’s clicking and doing their jobs,” said head coach Bill Stricklin.

Mason added that his team needs to keep the intensity up against the opponent, but it also needs to keep the pressure of playing its second-straight home game.

But everything else is still the same story. It’s not just about winning in Hoke City and it is on people’s minds.

“I think it’s just attitude,” Stricklin said. “It’s just about coming out and playing consistently for 90 minutes so the level we know we’re capable of.”

Senior goalkeeper Andrea Swanson kicks the ball back down the field during the game against Saint Louis on Sunday at the Cyclone Sports Complex. The ISU women’s soccer team cracked the top-10 in school history that the Cyclones Defeated the Billikens 2-0. Swanson has two game this week.

The team will have the opportunity to be sharp. To be a little bit sharper than even.

“Tennessee’s probably the polar opposite of Omaha. We’re just going to try to get ready for that.”

Despite a short turnaround, Johnson-Lynch and the Cyclones finally managed to put things back on track and get back to 500 on the books.

“We’ll be staying very sharp on our side, handling the ball well and running a crisp, fast offense,” Johnson-Lynch said. “That’s our goal — to be sharp. To be a little bit sharper than even.

Iowa State University takes on the University of Tennessee in a 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Cyclone Sports Complex for bragging rights in the first game of this year’s Cy-Hawk Series.
Horoscopes by Linda Black

Today’s Birthday:

Get your free birthday focus on writing, recording and creating at a unique level. A partnership now a level after U.S. Collapse to save resources. Get involved in a new project with people that include writing and recording. Fire, creativity, family and community. Take action for what you want.

---

Aries - March 21-April 19

Find the fun in the new project that is either in the air or you've been waiting to see. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Gemini - May 21-June 20

Share your ideas and dreams. Work together to achieve your goals. Stay positive and open to new ideas. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Sagittarius - Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Libra - Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Cancer - June 21-July 22

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Leo - July 23-Aug. 22

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Virgo - Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Libra - Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Scorpio - Oct. 23-Nov. 21

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Sagittarius - Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Capricorn - Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Aquarius - Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Pisces - Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Taurus - April 20-May 20

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Gemin - May 21-June 20

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.

---

Cancer - June 21-July 22

Put your heart into the project. Venus in Libra the next month is going to make your heart sing. Share the beauty you live.