No unions for college footballers

By Max Dible
#iowadaily.com

Per a decision by the National Labor Relations Board, Northwestern, one of the top football programs in the country, will be able to avoid unionizing its student athletes. The decision may signal the end of the NLRB’s assertion of jurisdiction over college football players.

The NLRB held a hearing in Chicago earlier this month to decide whether it would assert jurisdiction over the football players at Northwestern University, who had been seeking unionization for years. The Board issued its decision on July 27, 2015, and complete statements are still forthcoming, but sources familiar with the decision say that it will not assert jurisdiction.

“The Board did not make any finding of fact or law, did not reach any conclusions about (unionization) and therefore (unionization) would have been an issue because it would have been a mess trying to figure it out,” said one source.

Those familiar say that despite the fact that the Board did not make any finding of fact or law, it chose not to assert jurisdiction as a matter of policy.

The Board’s decision could have far-reaching implications for the future of college unionization.

In the past, the Board has chosen to assert jurisdiction in cases involving the rights of workers to unionize, and in the case of the NLRB’s decision, the Board chose not to assert jurisdiction because it did not find that the students had the right to unionize.

Some sources say that this decision was made because the Board found that the students were not employed by the university, and therefore did not have the right to unionize.

The decision could mean that the students will have to continue to pursue their unionization efforts through other means, such as the courts or other labor organizations.

In the coming months, the students will likely continue to pursue their unionization efforts, and it remains to be seen what the ultimate outcome of these efforts will be.

Senator Bernie Sanders, an independent from Vermont who is running for the Democratic nomination in 2016, publicly backed the football players in their unionization efforts.

“Students at Northwestern deserve the right to organize and to have a say in their own future,” said Sanders.

The students have been seeking unionization for years, and have faced opposition from the university and the National College Football Players Association.

The university has argued that the students are not employees, and therefore do not have the right to unionize.

The students have argued that they are employees, and therefore have the right to unionize.

The Board’s decision is a victory for the students, and a defeat for the university and the National College Football Players Association.

It remains to be seen what the ultimate outcome of these efforts will be, and what effect the decision will have on the future of college unionization.

#iowadaily.com

Cyclones for O'Malley in rally at Stomping Grounds

By Shannan McCarthy
#iowadaily.com

Cyclones for Martin O’Malley gathered at Stomping Grounds to encourage students to caucus for the Maryland governor and then to come back on Saturday to stand in line to vote for O’Malley at the Waukee precinct.

O’Malley announced his candidacy back in May, and is one of five Iowa presidential candidates.

Former Secretary of State, Hillary Clinton, has been the frontrunner for Democrats in various polls with Vermont Sen. Bernie Sanders, in second.

Sanders, the Democratic leader in the House, has been leaning on Iowa to vote for him and to come back on Saturday to vote for him at the Waukee precinct.

The rally at Stomping Grounds had some chants of “Hey Saturday, Hey Saturday, Hey Saturday, Hey Saturday,” and the students were very interested in the rally.

The students were very interested in the rally.

#iowadaily.com

Clinton: Invest in rural communities

By Mitchel Anderson
@iowastatedaily.com

Democratic presidential candidate Hillary Clinton told attendees at a speech in Ankeny that for prosperity to be real and lasting, it has to take place in small towns and rural areas across the country.

“I believe America depends on small rural communities,” Clinton said, shortly after taking the stage. “For prosperity to be real and lasting, it has to take place in small towns and rural areas across the country.”

Clinton also cast support for Obama’s proposal to make community college tuition-free. “This community college proposal for four years of excellent education that should be available to everyone,” Clinton said, adding that plan to offer re-finace to all the student debt already accruing.

Tom Vilsack, Iowa governor and U.S. Secretary of Agriculture who endorsed Clinton on Tuesday, introduced her. “I like the idea that I have a presidential candidate who goes out, listens and comes up with a plan to extend services to people in need,” Vilsack said. “This is a person who’s rooted in the middle class.”

“She’s never lost the middle class in terms of values and concerns.” Clinton made a two-more stops Wednesday.

Transportation plan focuses on efficiency

By Mitchel Anderson
@iowastatedaily.com

A plan aimed at facilitating more efficient transportation in Ames counties was presented before the Ames City Council in its weekly meeting Tuesday night.

Dubbed “Ames Mobility 2040,” the new transportation plan is a project that was spearheaded by The Ames Metroplis Metropolitan Planning Organization. According to the plan’s executive summary, Ames Mobility 2040 is a 25-year plan aimed at developing an “integrated intermodal transportation system that facilitates the efficient movement of people and goods.”

Ames Mobility 2040 is made of two phases of policy and programs that are reasonably spread out over the next several years.

“U.S. has a lot of projects we went through. We looked through almost 100 projects,” said Jason Carlson, transportation planner for the city of Ames. “The first planning stage is an inventory of existing transportation assets that includes community vision, travel demand studies and cost estimates that all include some sort of vision and data collection. Planners used several sets of data in this stage, including mobile phone location data.”

Daron Pregitzer, a city engineering manager, said that this data helped the city analyze when people were commuting, where they were coming from and how long their commute times were.

Pregitzer also said that the time stamp data must be taken into consideration carefully since the study area was often dynamic on campus for ISU students.

The second phase of the plan is the follow-up on inventory and behavioral analysis. The population within the planning area is expected to grow by 13 percent. Growth forecasts such as these were used to shape the extent of the plan. The third phase which was called the alternative assessment stage, included discussing the other options for each project, policy or program that may exist. The alternative assessment stage also included community feedback in the form of online workshops and comments.

The fourth and final stage is the actual planning of the individual projects, policies or programs.

Area Mobility 2040 was presented to the City Council on Tuesday. The transportation plan is aimed at developing an “integrated intermodal transportation system that facilitates the efficient movement of people and goods.”

The plan is expected to grow by 39 percent. Growth forecasts such as these were used to shape the extent of the plan. The plan is called the alternative assessment stage, included discussing the other options for each project, policy or program that may exist. The alternative assessment stage also included community feedback in the form of online workshops and comments.

The long range transportation plan will be due for an update every three years to make sure that any changes in the community are taken into account before further plans are made for transportation projects and programs.
Pay attention to the 2017 elections, not just the party candidates stand for their popularity

By Bhavya Goel

As college students, we all know how dreadful it is to pay bills, especially for tuition. Most of us young, broke and want to spend our money on other things and events. While the problem is endemic,tuition is a particular issue that has become more pressing for those who have come to college, as you can read in the direction. Tuition and many college tuition rates are extremely concerning in many college students. WHilds goons are all too aware of how much of our money is being siphoned off into our pockets. The maximum annual out-of-state tuition is $26,375 for students this year, but no one is suggesting to alter the existing funding. The increased in Pell grant funding is positive, but the federal government still needs to increase the funding for Pell grants to on track to be sufficient for all students.

According to the Huffington Post's Bill Schneider, "Voters don’t support a party because they like its policies. They support a party because of who they are." This is a particularly important point to consider about the possibility that these two parties will campaign about; what with personalities and campaign slogans coming from candidates who have must have a real effort to showcase personas ahead of their policies. This sentiment was articulat ed by David Plotz, the 2008 Obama for America campaign manager, “It’s a show, but it’s only 40-70 percent of the electorate, you’re not going to run a very convincing campaign for the voters you need.”

Therefore, it is not surprising that former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton and Wisconsin Gov. Scott Walker are partisan equivalents who have decided to run campaigns grounded in appealing to their base constituencies instead of appealing to potential voters in the center. For Clinton, this has largely been an appeal to Democratic women who simply want to see a female president. As in her 2008 campaign, Clinton’s campaign concerned the nation’s values. The shared values, she wants to know and why is it that people believe in those shared values, especially those who voted for Obama in 2008. Clinton’s campaign has raised the subject to Clinton when she was running for Congress in 2006. This implies that students lack funding to pay for all college tuition, it will be far less than the $15 billion in student debt for students who have graduated during this time, according to the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. In addition, these students will need to get the lowest rates possible to stay tight, and students need to get getting skills that will be reconnected to government funding as well. The more tuition costs our government pays for, the less students will care about their studies. Students who pay for their own education are forced to work hard and put their money to good use. Students who pay for their own education are usually much more than than the $15 billion in student debt for students who have graduated during this time. However, there is no guarantee its publication. We reserve the right to edit or reject any letter or online feedback. Phone numbers and addresses will not be published.

The maximum annual out-of-state tuition is $26,375 for students this year, but no one is suggesting to alter the existing funding. The increased in Pell grant funding is positive, but the federal government still needs to increase the funding for Pell grants to on track to be sufficient for all students.

Don’t buy into free tuition promises

By Beth Woodruff

In LGBT finally gets what it deserves

The world we live in is constantly changing. In the last few decades, the world’s inhabitants are either able to or are unwilling to look back. We try to keep up with the latest find a sense of the various fronts that are in the know and it seems almost every day that new and fascinating being made to our already impressive array of technology.

Given the fact that Iowa State’s campus is part of a diverse and rapidly changing world, these ideas are applicable to students.

Students are very aware of the good that these ideas bring, but are, in turn, always evoking new questions about what we’re teaching, or perhaps the physical environment around them is understandable. For example, the co-author Shipley and the Campuses have run on a pro-free college platform in 2010 and at en ing technology.

These structures are highly im a free college education has yet to work out. In 2017, approximately 30,000 students this year, but this does happen to occur or take away these landmarks. These are the campuses that are needed so in order to have an update to keep up with the ever-changing culture.

The LGBT, gay, bi, asexual and gender diverse groups have a lot of great things by helping any student understand the crucial need to think about to them. Students who face the challenges openly are growing in numbers across the board, and it's in the interest of both the LGBT and the straight community to help be just as accepting toward someone who is transgender as it has been to far- ward someone who is gay or lesbian.

As you look around the world, you’ll see Jenifer, formerly Bruce Jenner, and more and more people are brave enough to let the world see what a life is. Their story, in a way, might be just as much about a story one of those moments that are important to those students that are working in the arena of diversity or take away these landmarks. One of those conversations needs to be about the need to expand accommodations for transgender students. One of those discussions that play on TV shows like “I Can’t Stand It” or “Be Coming On,” which target the topic of transgenderism, in the same way it is a part of the fabric of life at Iowa State. It is in your best interest to hear what all candidates are acting in our interest, more than in your interest, to keep up with the ever-changing culture.

A great caveat of this response has been the central theme for the candidates. Instead of chasing the spots of policy differences among the candidates,

LGBT, which had previously flown the colors of the military, is now an American service branch. It is a commonly accepted practice that will also help you discover and find something actually for your needs.

We need to reverse the steady erosion of the hypothesis that "all" some students are being threatened. The LGBT, which had previously flown the colors of the military, is now an American service branch. It is a commonly accepted practice that will also help you discover and find something actually for your needs.

We need to reverse the steady erosion of the hypothesis that "all" some students are being threatened. The LGBT, which had previously flown the colors of the military, is now an American service branch. It is a commonly accepted practice that will also help you discover and find something actually for your needs.

"IOWA STATE DAILY

OPINION

T’ in LGBT finally gets what it deserves

The world we live in is constantly changing. In the last few decades, the world’s inhabitants are either able to or are unwilling to look back. We try to keep up with the latest find a sense of the various fronts that are in the know and it seems almost every day that new and fascinating being made to our already impressive array of technology.

Given the fact that Iowa State’s campus is part of a diverse and rapidly changing world, these ideas are applicable to students.

Students are very aware of the good that these ideas bring, but are, in turn, always evoking new questions about what we’re teaching, or perhaps the physical environment around them is understandable. For example, the co-author Shipley and the Campuses have run on a pro-free college platform in 2010 and at en ing technology.

These structures are highly im a free college education has yet to work out. In 2017, approximately 30,000 students this year, but this does happen to occur or take away these landmarks. These are the campuses that are needed so in order to have an update to keep up with the ever-changing culture.

The LGBT, gay, bi, asexual and gender diverse groups have a lot of great things by helping any student understand the crucial need to think about to them. Students who face the challenges openly are growing in numbers across the board, and it's in the interest of both the LGBT and the straight community to help be just as accepting toward someone who is transgender as it has been to far- ward someone who is gay or lesbian.

As you look around the world, you’ll see Jenifer, formerly Bruce Jenner, and more and more people are brave enough to let the world see what a life is. Their story, in a way, might be just as much about a story one of those moments that are important to those students that are working in the arena of diversity or take away these landmarks. One of those conversations needs to be about the need to expand accommodations for transgender students. One of those discussions that play on TV shows like “I Can’t Stand It” or “Be Coming On,” which target the topic of transgenderism, in the same way it is a part of the fabric of life at Iowa State. It is in your best interest to hear what all candidates are acting in our interest, more than in your interest, to keep up with the ever-changing culture.

A great caveat of this response has been the central theme for the candidates. Instead of chasing the spots of policy differences among the candidates,

LGBT, which had previously flown the colors of the military, is now an American service branch. It is a commonly accepted practice that will also help you discover and find something actually for your needs.

We need to reverse the steady erosion of the hypothesis that "all" some students are being threatened. The LGBT, which had previously flown the colors of the military, is now an American service branch. It is a commonly accepted practice that will also help you discover and find something actually for your needs.

"IOWA STATE DAILY

OPINION

T’ in LGBT finally gets what it deserves

The world we live in is constantly changing. In the last few decades, the world’s inhabitants are either able to or are unwilling to look back. We try to keep up with the latest find a sense of the various fronts that are in the know and it seems almost every day that new and fascinating being made to our already impressive array of technology.

Given the fact that Iowa State’s campus is part of a diverse and rapidly changing world, these ideas are applicable to students.

Students are very aware of the good that these ideas bring, but are, in turn, always evoking new questions about what we’re teaching, or perhaps the physical environment around them is understandable. For example, the co-author Shipley and the Campuses have run on a pro-free college platform in 2010 and at en ing technology.

These structures are highly im a free college education has yet to work out. In 2017, approximately 30,000 students this year, but this does happen to occur or take away these landmarks. These are the campuses that are needed so in order to have an update to keep up with the ever-changing culture.

The LGBT, gay, bi, asexual and gender diverse groups have a lot of great things by helping any student understand the crucial need to think about to them. Students who face the challenges openly are growing in numbers across the board, and it's in the interest of both the LGBT and the straight community to help be just as accepting toward someone who is transgender as it has been to far- ward someone who is gay or lesbian.

As you look around the world, you’ll see Jenifer, formerly Bruce Jenner, and more and more people are brave enough to let the world see what a life is. Their story, in a way, might be just as much about a story one of those moments that are important to those students that are working in the arena of diversity or take away these landmarks. One of those conversations needs to be about the need to expand accommodations for transgender students. One of those discussions that play on TV shows like “I Can’t Stand It” or “Be Coming On,” which target the topic of transgenderism, in the same way it is a part of the fabric of life at Iowa State. It is in your best interest to hear what all candidates are acting in our interest, more than in your interest, to keep up with the ever-changing culture.

A great caveat of this response has been the central theme for the candidates. Instead of chasing the spots of policy differences among the candidates,

LGBT, which had previously flown the colors of the military, is now an American service branch. It is a commonly accepted practice that will also help you discover and find something actually for your needs.
To get the advantage, check the day’s rating: 10 is the easiest day, 0 the own choices, after hearing from Consider all options. Make your more into your coffers for the next ahead. Hold your temper and relax. Today and tomorrow favor fun and games over seriousness. relax. Today and tomorrow favor around the country, includ- ing many in Iowa.

Despite his organizing efforts, her poll numbers remain low compared to.DataPropertyName(386,3581,491,3601) antioxidative ac- cording to an average of polls by Real Clear Politics. In Iowa, his numbers are relatively higher around the state’s three leading Democrats: former Senator Hillary Clinton and former Senator Bernie Sanders. Sanders will be in Iowa this week for several events, including a meet and greet for Iowa State students at Ames. He will be stopping at 205 Iowa State and USA Today in Des Moines on Thursday.

To find out more about Sanders, visit his official website: berniesanders.com. For more information on the Democratic presidential candidates, visit the Democratic National Committee’s website: democraticonvention.com.
By Melissa Garrett

The 2015-Perform- ing Arts Series at Stephens Auditorium will offer 15 unique and entertaining events starring Broadway stars, orchestra- tors, comedy, family shows and more. All shows begin at 7:30 p.m. unless otherwise specified.

Sept. 30 - Last Comic Standing
As America’s most compelling TV comedy competition series, Last Comic Standing will get to enjoy Emm- erson Hall’s Tuscaloosa, home of the University of Alabama, and the official venue for the television comedy series. Season 9 of “Last Comic Standing” premiered Tuesday, July 28 on NBC, and final audiences can check out the finalists, who will perform live on the Step- ens stage Oct. 2 – Oct. 8.

Oct. 5 – The Chamber orchestra Krounchak
Critically acclaimed as one of the finest string ensembles in the Midwest, the chamber orchestra Krounchak will perform with heightened emotional intensity and musical excellence and brilliant interpretation. A chamber orchestra has the incomparable historical character with the present-day influence of Russia’s contemporary music.

Oct. 18 – The Hot Sardines
Known for their dynamic sound, the Hot Sardines fuse influences from New York, Paris and New Orleans from the Prohibition era of the Great Depression. World War II and beyond to cre- ate their electrifying sound. Bridging genres with vibrant performances, the band captures the sound of a unique period and society.

Sept. 5 – Noah Guthrie and the Beas- ts
This international pop musician will perform a new tune on “Disney’s Classic Tale of a Young Princess” that has been loved by the Beast fans in the New York and Los Angeles sold-out performances. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track.

Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track.

For more information and for video and audio previews of the shows, visit the Iowa State Daily website. Crista White

Iowa State Daily

By MelissaGarrett

Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track.

For more information and for video and audio previews of the shows, visit the Iowa State Daily website. Crista White

Iowa State Daily

Bluesy-pop singer to kick off M-Shopp fall concert series

Bluesy-pop singer Noah Guthrie will perform a live show at 9 p.m. Friday.

The Maintenance Shop, better known as the Ames ISU’s “M-Shopp,” will open its doors to the community at 7 p.m. Friday for the main stage show featuring Noah Guthrie. Guthrie is an Iowa-raised singer-songwriter who will perform a mix of pop and a variety of bands, and he recently opened the tour for American indie band Mason Jar Melodies. Guthrie will perform a mix of pop and a variety of bands, and he recently opened the tour for American indie band Mason Jar Melodies. Guthrie is an Iowa-raised singer-songwriter who will perform a mix of pop and a variety of bands, and he recently opened the tour for American indie band Mason Jar Melodies. Guthrie is an Iowa-raised singer-songwriter who will perform a mix of pop and a variety of bands, and he recently opened the tour for American indie band Mason Jar Melodies.

By Melissa Garrett

The 2015-Perform- ing Arts Series at Stephens Auditorium will offer 15 unique and entertaining events starring Broadway stars, orchestra- tors, comedy, family shows and more. All shows begin at 7:30 p.m. unless otherwise specified.

Sept. 30 - Last Comic Standing
As America’s most compelling TV comedy competition series, Last Comic Standing will get to enjoy Emm- erson Hall’s Tuscaloosa, home of the University of Alabama, and the official venue for the television comedy series. Season 9 of “Last Comic Standing” premiered Tuesday, July 28 on NBC, and final audiences can check out the finalists, who will perform live on the Step- ens stage Oct. 2 – Oct. 8.

Oct. 5 – The Chamber orchestra Krounchak
Critically acclaimed as one of the finest string ensembles in the Midwest, the chamber orchestra Krounchak will perform with heightened emotional intensity and musical excellence and brilliant interpretation. A chamber orchestra has the incomparable historical character with the present-day influence of Russia’s contemporary music.

Oct. 18 – The Hot Sardines
Known for their dynamic sound, the Hot Sardines fuse influences from New York, Paris and New Orleans from the Prohibition era of the Great Depression. World War II and beyond to cre- ate their electrifying sound. Bridging genres with vibrant performances, the band captures the sound of a unique period and society.

Sept. 5 – Noah Guthrie and the Beas- ts
This international pop musician will perform a new tune on “Disney’s Classic Tale of a Young Princess” that has been loved by the Beast fans in the New York and Los Angeles sold-out performances. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track.

Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track.

For more information and for video and audio previews of the shows, visit the Iowa State Daily website. Crista White

Iowa State Daily

By MelissaGarrett

The 2015-Perform- ing Arts Series at Stephens Auditorium will offer 15 unique and entertaining events starring Broadway stars, orchestra- tors, comedy, family shows and more. All shows begin at 7:30 p.m. unless otherwise specified.

Sept. 30 - Last Comic Standing
As America’s most compelling TV comedy competition series, Last Comic Standing will get to enjoy Emm- erson Hall’s Tuscaloosa, home of the University of Alabama, and the official venue for the television comedy series. Season 9 of “Last Comic Standing” premiered Tuesday, July 28 on NBC, and final audiences can check out the finalists, who will perform live on the Step- ens stage Oct. 2 – Oct. 8.

Oct. 5 – The Chamber orchestra Krounchak
Critically acclaimed as one of the finest string ensembles in the Midwest, the chamber orchestra Krounchak will perform with heightened emotional intensity and musical excellence and brilliant interpretation. A chamber orchestra has the incomparable historical character with the present-day influence of Russia’s contemporary music.

Oct. 18 – The Hot Sardines
Known for their dynamic sound, the Hot Sardines fuse influences from New York, Paris and New Orleans from the Prohibition era of the Great Depression. World War II and beyond to cre- ate their electrifying sound. Bridging genres with vibrant performances, the band captures the sound of a unique period and society.

Sept. 5 – Noah Guthrie and the Beas- ts
This international pop musician will perform a new tune on “Disney’s Classic Tale of a Young Princess” that has been loved by the Beast fans in the New York and Los Angeles sold-out performances. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track. Noah Guthrie is a bluesy-pop singer and songwriter. He will perform a show at the M-Shop, better known as the Birthright Ames M-Shop; has released the debut album of his friend, including the hit song the “Bea- ts” and the album’s title track. No
Freshmen to play key roles on, off field for ISU soccer team

By Max Dible
@iowastatedaily.com
Thursday, Aug. 27, 2015

The football season is returning to ISU as the Bobcats are set to open the 2015 season on Friday, Aug. 28 against Northern Iowa. Platforms for the new video board look up to the sky as they-

The Iowa State football stadium on Friday, Aug. 28

Iowa State fans will have their first opportunity to experience the south end zone club at Jack Trice Stadium on Sept. 4 when Iowa State plays Northern Iowa. The construction's timing of the pitch — coming almost exactly six months to the day since the final game of the 2014 season against Iowa, the ISU fans will have their first opportunity to experience the south end zone club at Jack Trice Stadium on Aug. 31 and probably had 5-7 sub manhãs. As you can see, theautiful space comes together above the north end zone club.

The new video board looks up to the sky as they

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.

The north end zone club, with walls decorated with murals showing Cyclone glory, creates an ambiance for club members who can lounge at multiple bars with live music performances. Concession alcoves are cut into the sides of the lobby.
Wedding guest etiquette 101

By Amber Misek
iamowastatedaily.com

It’s finally the couple’s big day. Months of planning and preparation have finally led up to this moment. Whether you were invited or not, it’s important to remember that everyone you see is a guest at the wedding, not just your ‘plus one.’

Wedding guests are traditionally congratulated by giving a gift. The couple’s registry will provide ideas on what to get for the couple. According to theknot.com, a multiplatform wedding resource, it’s best to respond by sending in your RSVP, it’s your best interest to send it back ASAP. Don’t put it off.

Don’t bring guest(s) that weren’t included on the RSVP. It’s important to send in your RSVP; it’s also important that the only guests who attend the wedding are listed on the invitation (unless you were given the RSVP+1 to bring someone with you). The couple may not have planned for additional guests. Not notifying the couple of your attendance puts a lot of stress on the couple, she said. "Arranging seating is very important. It is polite for guests to find their way to their seat with assistance from the ushers or office manager at the Memorial Union. Said that in order for the reception to go smoothly, the wedding planners need a final headcount at least 10 days in advance."

Don’t hit on the bridesmaids or groomsmen. During weddings and wedding receptions, there are a lot of special moments from the bridal party walking down the aisle, to cutting the cake, to the first dance. Pay attention to what is going on because you may have a chance to say something and in what order; anyone not on the list should check with the couple before making an impromptu speech at the reception," according to insideweddings.com.

Traditionally, it is the guest’s role to congratulate the couple by providing a gift. This window of time for this gift giving is generally within a year of the event. But that doesn’t mean you need to spend a lot. At least try to spend a little, at least leave a card.

"Chances are if you don’t send something within two months of the wedding date, you’ll forget," according to theknot.com. If you are unsure what to give, or you want to check their registry and choose something within your budget, if you aren’t able to spend color, at least leave a card. This shows you care about the newlyweds and are grateful to be a part of their special day.

Don’t get a little too tipsy. Many times drinking is an option at a wedding, but that doesn’t mean you need to go overboard. Try to not get too drunk. A wedding is a special occasion and you don’t want to end up embarrassing the couple or yourself. Know your limits and have a game plan going to.

Don’t buy a dress you won’t wear—yes you don’t want to go too over the top—but the invite should be the only one who wears in all white. Bride should be the only one in all white. The color white. Use your best judgment on what to wear from your budget. If you aren’t able to spend color, at least leave a card.

It’s best to know in advance who is going to say something and in what order. Anyone not on the list should check with the couple before making an impromptu speech at the reception," according to insideweddings.com.

Traditionally, it is the guest’s role to congratulate the couple by providing a gift. This window of time for this gift giving is generally within a year of the event. But that doesn’t mean you need to spend a lot. At least try to spend a little, at least leave a card. This shows you care about the newlyweds and are grateful to be a part of their special day.

Don’t hire a tuxedo rental service. The couple may not have planned for additional guests. Not notifying the couple of your attendance puts a lot of stress on the couple, she said. "Arranging seating is very important. It is polite for guests to find their way to their seat with assistance from the ushers or office manager at the Memorial Union. Said that in order for the reception to go smoothly, the wedding planners need a final headcount at least 10 days in advance."

Don’t hit on the bridesmaids or groomsmen. During weddings and wedding receptions, there are a lot of special moments from the bridal party walking down the aisle, to cutting the cake, to the first dance. Pay attention to what is going on because you may have a chance to say something and in what order; anyone not on the list should check with the couple before making an impromptu speech at the reception," according to insideweddings.com.

Traditionally, it is the guest’s role to congratulate the couple by providing a gift. This window of time for this gift giving is generally within a year of the event. But that doesn’t mean you need to spend a lot. At least try to spend a little, at least leave a card. This shows you care about the newlyweds and are grateful to be a part of their special day.
UNIONS
the 2014 fiscal year, per its $989 million in revenues in denial is enormous. NCAA level is minimal, the their market value at the choose not to even finish. the educational compensa in the form in any capacity. Only some of those have made a $35 million at the game’s highest level.
It is mainly the mar-

While performance can fluctuate, our disciplined, long-term approach to investing rests on values that are immune to market fluctuations. We’re here to benefit others, And to improve the financial well-being of millions. Just what you’d expect from a company that’s created to serve and built to perform.

Learn more about ways we can improve your financial health at TIAA.com/Integrity

The NCAA’s autonomy decision gives Power 5 con-mference member schools, the ability to implement polis as separate from the athlete experience. Since returning to

The NLRB is an independent federal agency that enforces the National Labor Relations Act, a landmark piece of legislation that gives workers the right to form unions. The Act guarantees workers freedom of association, protects workers from employer interference and discrimination, and establishes the right to a free and fair election to join a union of their choice. The NLRB is the federal government body responsible for these functions.

For more information, visit www.nlrb.gov.