Accomplishments.Celebrations.Graduation

Thursday, April 28, 2011
By Laura Bucklin
lbucklin@iolastatedaily.com

The程序 hidden under a graduate’s robe are endless.
That thin, black polyestner can be the perfect excuse to help any final graduation prank go unnoticed.

Choosing what to wear under a graduate’s robe is something students spend a lot of time contemplating. Photo: Julie Vujnovich/Iowa State Daily

Graduation attire may hide surprise, prank

Gowns

By Ben Rooney

NEW YORK – The dollar continued weak against its major trading partners Wednesday after the Federal Reserve issued an unsurprising policy document. Federal Reserve Chairman Ben Bernanke also offered hints about potential future policy moves.

Fed's statements and the market are being. However, as expected, the banker ruled out holding interest rates at historic lows past the second quarter of 2009. While it acknowledged that inflation has picked up recently, Fed officials expect prices to remain tame over the long term and that the recover must be watched.

A strong economy is going to be good for the dollar, Bernanke said at the front of a session of the New York-based Federal Reserve Bank.

The policies are expected to remain in place until the US economy begins to recover.

Money

Dollar index continues to decline

The dollar index, which gauges the currency against a basket of six major trading partners, slid 0.5 percent to 73.52.

The index is down about 7 percent since the beginning of the year so far this year and is at its lowest levels since July 2008.

The dollar has hit a record high against the Japanese yen, rising 0.7 percent versus the British pound, after the U.K. government lowered its economic growth expectations.

But, the dollar contin-ed to fall against the Japanese yen, sliding 0.3 percent. The dollar also fell against the euro.

Therefore, it's important to

Planning to toss your cap at graduation? Find out more about the Liberal Arts and Sciences graduation ceremony at www.las.iastate.edu/students/graduation

Registration and instructions online now!
Choose the graduation ceremony right for you

By Danielle Gibbons

danielle.gibbons@iowastatedaily.com

Directly remote, seniors debate whether they are going to walk or not. It's a tough decision to make because there are so many different elements that go into walking at a graduation ceremony.

There are expenses involved. Some things that are included are buying the cap, gown, and tassel. These can all be bought at the ISU bookstore. An ISU total to purchase all of the items.

Another thing to think about is family and friends. If their family and friends want to come, then they need to pick the right day.

Also, many students go to multiple graduation ceremonies. For example, a student graduating in the all-ISU ceremony their college ceremony or both of them.

The all-ISU ceremony that involves all of the graduating students. An ISU total to purchase all of the items.

A student is forced to go to the ISU commencement ceremony. They have the option of going to their own college ceremony. College ceremonies are usually shorter and more personal than the ISU commencement ceremony.

If a student is interested in going to their own college ceremony, they have the option of going to their own college ceremony. College ceremonies are usually shorter and more personal than the ISU commencement ceremony.

A student is forced to walk in a graduation ceremony. There are many students each semester that choose not to walk at all. But, after all that hard work, wouldn’t you want to walk?

A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer.

Clothes

Wardrobes offer additional chance to impress employers

By Lindsay Schwark

lindsay.schwark@iowastatedaily.com

“Clothes speak louder than words. I always tell people you really only get one chance to impress someone,” said Dave Neustrue, manager of Moorman Clothiers. And if it turns out, the saying holds true.

“Clothes speak louder than words. I always tell people you really only get one chance to impress someone,” said Dave Neustrue, manager of Moorman Clothiers. And if it turns out, the saying holds true.

Clothes are your first impression to impress employers. You've got the power suit down, so don't ruin your image with minimal accessories such as cuff links and belts help pull together a professional look. These pieces should coordinate with the rest of the suit and shoes. You've got the power suit down, so don't ruin your image with minimal accessories such as cuff links and belts help pull together a professional look. These pieces should coordinate with the rest of the suit and shoes.

Though warmer months are fast approaching, “summer clothes” such as cotton or linen quickly lose their pressed professional look. Moorman Clothiers’ suits are made from pure wool, which retains its pressed professional look year-round and will keep you cool when summer temperatures soar.

When you're looking to purchase a suit, you need to decide what type of work environment you’re heading to. For example, an interview for a job at a law firm would require a more formal look than an interview for a job at a creative advertising agency.

Moorman Clothiers’ suits are made from pure wool, which retains its pressed professional look year-round and will keep you cool when summer temperatures soar.

For women, this means a jacket and slacks or skirt suit, and we also enjoy watching their little ones cross the stage. If you are still unsure about interview and work-attire standards, it is a good idea to contact the interviewer or human resources department to ask about company expectations.

The bottom line for men is to stick to dark-colored suits. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer.

No matter how relaxed the working environment of the employer always require business professional attire, at least for official interviews. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer.

“A job interview is the last chance to impress employers. A job interview is the last chance to impress employers. Therefore, it is important that you present yourself in a professional manner. A job interview is the last chance to impress employers. A job interview is the last chance to impress employers. Therefore, it is important that you present yourself in a professional manner.

If you are still unsure about interview and work-attire standards, it is a good idea to contact the interviewer or human resources department to ask about company expectations.

The bottom line for men is to stick to dark-colored suits. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer.

Students may think about perfecting their resumes and cover letters, however wardrobe is often overlooked. Perfect resume and cover letter will not make up for a poorly dressed candidate.

Students may think about perfecting their resumes and cover letters, however wardrobe is often overlooked. Perfect resume and cover letter will not make up for a poorly dressed candidate.

Other tips to impress

• Minor details such as cuff links and belts help pull together a professional look. These pieces should coordinate with the rest of the suit and shoes.

• A suit of color or pattern may also work as a tie. This is when you want to be sure to impress your career.

• You’ve got the power suit down, so don't ruin your image with minimal accessories such as cuff links and belts help pull together a professional look. These pieces should coordinate with the rest of the suit and shoes.

• Think twice before choosing what to wear — especially for interviews. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer.

• The bottom line for men is to stick to dark-colored suits. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer.

• Students may think about perfecting their resumes and cover letters, however wardrobe is often overlooked. Perfect resume and cover letter will not make up for a poorly dressed candidate. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer. A general rule is that it is better to be overly preened for interviews and meetings with a potential employer.
Jammed technology job fair turns away recruiters

By Laura Segall career@iastate.edu

NEW YORK — What to go where the jobs are? Check out New York tech industry events that have a packed-to-capacity crowd of job seekers and recruiters.

The market in New York is very, very sound.

SecondMohawk business analyst and adjunct professor Ariella Weiss started the show last year to help fill the void that left after the dot-com mania, with startups eyeing the job market, entrepreneurship.

“They weren’t really so opportunity for students looking for internships. People are starting to find that value,” Weiss said.

As venture capitalists pour your money into startups and venture-backed firm, the digital is how employees you offered that

Restaurant

Dining.

subject: 278

$19.95; Kids 6-10: $10; Kids 5 and under: Free; Senior Citizens: $17.95

Tax, title, license & ALL fees

$2,819

FRA 4B

catered meals.

www.SCIONOFAMES.COM

MOTHER’S DAY BRUNCH MEMORIAL UNION • SUNDAY, MAY 8 • 10:30 a.m. & 12:30 p.m.

buffet menu:

Eggs Benedict Station, Pancake Station, Shrimp, Carved Sirloin Roast, Dessert Station, Cash Bar & More!

$17.95

www.SCIONOFAMES.COM • 800.232.4081

FAIR.98

New York City Council Speaker Christine Quinn said the start-up boom is a sign of a new opportunity.

These start-ups are evidently the kind of high-tech parks and well and in our city, and that has so much creativity and economic activity happening right now. She said.

While there’s talk of a re- consideration economy, the startup scene shows that you haven’t lost your job, your unemployed employee they could fall. The middle-class family and middle- class’ prospects started.

Speaking of real rock stars, here’s a quote about how the hirers must read your CV.

“Media rock star,” well, then you would be wrong.

So, yeah, unless you’re tooting your own horn.

“Don’t be a cliche delusions of grandeur.”

This week, the band Yeasayer sent out $100 cash and an interview to the first person who emailed the band with water), and handed out tickets on the company — a “resume” on the company — a “resume” on the company — a “resume” on the company.

“We’re scheduled to double in size.”

“Our market in New York is very, very sound.”

“New York City Council Speaker Christine Quinn said the start-up boom is a sign of a new opportunity.”

“She said.

“As venture capitalists pour your money into startups and venture-backed firm, the digital is how employees you offered that

It’s easier to find.

We are merely one of huddled mass of gray-haired recruiters suffering from Karaoke-induced delirium of generation.

If you do in fact, feel impacted to flush out your title with something descriptive, at least make it over a moment and come up with something original like “Martini Whisperer, which for those reasons is one of LinkedIn’s popular titles.

In which case, carry on.

“Does your title — “Executive of Cross-Functional Engineer” — or whatever — seem a little self-aggrandizing. Frankly, we just picture some verse shifter,” it pretty much signals.

So when setting out to “find your-

“Don’t be a cliche delusions of grandeur.”

This week, the band Yeasayer sent out $100 cash and an interview to the first person who emailed the band with water), and handed out tickets on the company — a “resume” on the company — a “resume” on the company — a “resume” on the company.

“We’re scheduled to double in size.”

“The market in New York is very, very sound.”

“New York City Council Speaker Christine Quinn said the start-up boom is a sign of a new opportunity.”

“She said.

“As venture capitalists pour your money into startups and venture-backed firm, the digital is how employees you offered that

It’s easier to find.

We are merely one of huddled mass of gray-haired recruiters suffering from Karaoke-induced delirium of generation.

If you do in fact, feel impacted to flush out your title with something descriptive, at least make it over a moment and come up with something original like “Martini Whisperer, which for those reasons is one of LinkedIn’s popular titles.

In which case, carry on.

“Does your title — “Executive of Cross-Functional Engineer” — or whatever — seem a little self-aggrandizing. Frankly, we just picture some verse shifter,” it pretty much signals.

So when setting out to “find your-

“Don’t be a cliche delusions of grandeur.”

This week, the band Yeasayer sent out $100 cash and an interview to the first person who emailed the band with water), and handed out tickets on the company — a “resume” on the company — a “resume” on the company — a “resume” on the company.

“We’re scheduled to double in size.”

“The market in New York is very, very sound.”

“New York City Council Speaker Christine Quinn said the start-up boom is a sign of a new opportunity.”

“She said.

“As venture capitalists pour your money into startups and venture-backed firm, the digital is how employees you offered that

It’s easier to find.

We are merely one of huddled mass of gray-haired recruiters suffering from Karaoke-induced delirium of generation.

If you do in fact, feel impacted to flush out your title with something descriptive, at least make it over a moment and come up with something original like “Martini Whisperer, which for those reasons is one of LinkedIn’s popular titles.

In which case, carry on.

“Does your title — “Executive of Cross-Functional Engineer” — or whatever — seem a little self-aggrandizing. Frankly, we just picture some verse shifter,” it pretty much signals.

So when setting out to “find your-

“Don’t be a cliche delusions of grandeur.”

This week, the band Yeasayer sent out $100 cash and an interview to the first person who emailed the band with water), and handed out tickets on the company — a “resume” on the company — a “resume” on the company — a “resume” on the company.

“We’re scheduled to double in size.”

“The market in New York is very, very sound.”

“New York City Council Speaker Christine Quinn said the start-up boom is a sign of a new opportunity.”

“She said.

“As venture capitalists pour your money into startups and venture-backed firm, the digital is how employees you offered that

It’s easier to find.

We are merely one of huddled mass of gray-haired recruiters suffering from Karaoke-induced delirium of generation.

If you do in fact, feel impacted to flush out your title with something descriptive, at least make it over a moment and come up with something original like “Martini Whisperer, which for those reasons is one of LinkedIn’s popular titles.

In which case, carry on.

“Does your title — “Executive of Cross-Functional Engineer” — or whatever — seem a little self-aggrandizing. Frankly, we just picture some verse shifter,” it pretty much signals.

So when setting out to “find your-
Careers

‘McJobs’ fails to fill American unemployment gaps
By Annette Bernhardt
Special to CNN

We are starting to see that the economy is picking up; when McDonald’s threw its doors open to hire 50,000 workers nationwide, millions lining up across the country for a chance to become the American dream — a job.

In a poor economy, a low-wage job is better than no job at all, but in the long run low-wage jobs like McDonald’s will trap workers in a dead-end career.

Sure, McDonald’s points out that doing enough hiring, squeezing what it can out of its stores is for the work, we have that got turned away?

As grateful as McDonald’s new hires surely are for the work they are doing, many are breadwinners, who basically shouldn’t expect much more than fast food or retail to grab and go.

McDonald’s says that got turned away?

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.

That means most employees will be stepping full story to get the chance to become an owner. The reality is that the fast food industry makes up fast-food jobs — food preparation and service occupations — with a median wage of $8.83 an hour. Typically enough, a manager or manager of a franchise.
Hy-Vee has all of your graduation party needs covered!

Call to order today or visit us online at hyvee.com/shop

Bakery
- Decorated Cakes
- Dessert Trays
- Bakery Fresh Buns

Deli
- Meat & Cheese Trays
- Cocktail Sandwiches
- Fiesta Trays

Salad Bar
- Fresh Cut Fruit
- Vegetable Trays
- Fruit Trays

Kitchen
- Appetizers
- Party Platters
- Full Service Catering

Floral
- Balloon Bouquets
- Floral Arrangements
- Center Pieces

Hy-Vee Gas
Everyday Discount!
Save 3¢ per gallon with Hy-Vee store receipt.
Check in store for additional discounts!
Open 5am - 11pm | Pay at the pump available 24 hours

Open 24 hours a day | 7 days a week | two convenient locations