FOOTBALL

MORE THAN AN

UPSET

The Cyclones celebrate after upending No. 15 TCU Saturday at Amon G. Carter Stadium in Fort Worth, Texas. The Cyclones have now beaten a ranked team in the state of Texas for three consecutive years for the first time in school history.

Barnett, Lenz spur Cyclones to win against TCU

By Jake Calhoun
@iowastatedaily.com

FORT WORTH, Texas — Don’t call it an upset.

The ISU football team has performed countless upsets during the four years under coach Paul Rhoads, almost to the point where the players are no longer fazed by the significance of them.

There was little surprise Saturday, when Iowa State defeated No. 15 Texas Christian (TCU) 37-23 in its inaugural home game as a member of the Big 12.

“That’s what we’re looking for, is for it to not be an upset,” said Josh Lenz, senior wide receiver. “We want to be one of those teams that people want to upset. We’ve been working towards this for a long time, and we’re just ready to come down here and get the win.”

The win for the Cyclones (4-1, 1-1 Big 12) ended TCU’s winning streak of 12, which was the longest in the nation coming into the game.

Iowa State has now defeated ranked opponents in the state of Texas for three consecutive years for the first time in school history, after beating No. 22 Texas in 2010 and No. 19 Texas Tech in 2011 prior to this game.

It also marked the first

By Jake Calhoun
@iowastatedaily.com

Photo: William Deaton/Iowa State Daily

Quarterback Jared Barnett drops back for a pass in the win against TCU Saturday at Amon G. Carter Stadium in Fort Worth, Texas. Barnett was 12-21 for 183 yards and three touchdowns in his first 2012 conference start for the Cyclones.

Uppsetp6

Inspections

Infestations pose health concerns

Roaches reproduce quickly if unchecked

By Trevor Werner
@iowastatedaily.com

A routine inspection brought some issues to light at Chasers, a Campustown bar.

Last week, Brian Church conducted an inspection of the bar Oct. 1, and found live cockroaches, which is a health risk.

Scott Davis, owner of Chasers, could not be reached for comment at this time.

Donald Leveson, professor of entomology, explains the issues

By Trevor Werner
@iowastatedaily.com

Roaches reproduce quickly if unchecked.

Photo: Kelsey Kremer/Iowa State Daily

Cody Balluff of Black Hills Community College competes in the rodeo’s signature event, bull riding, Saturday at the Cyclone Stampede Rodeo. See more photos online at iowastatedaily.com.

Cockroachp2
A new program has been set up to send students to Sri Lanka for three weeks in July 2013. The program was thought up by Office of Student Life at ISU.

Travel

Study Abroad plans for July 2013

By Katherine MacKenzie

The Iowa State Daily

With over 3,000 international members attending Iowa State, it is no surprise that there are opportunities to explore the diverse cultures and practices. Cultural Anthropology, religious studies, economics, and business students have been working for years to create a study abroad program for students to match their home country.

Annette Stahl-Dusselier, assistant professor of anthropology, is planning the program next spring for study abroad sessions.

"I was a grant writer at the Iowa State University Libraries in the United States, and when I was approved to start this program, I said to myself 'I've been working for three years for this project and I can finally start it.'," Dusselier said.

A study abroad session will start in January 2014. Dusselier went on to explain that the main goal was to help students understand and ease into their own culture.

Dusselier added that this type of education is not linear, but a new and challenging approach to learning.

"We need to get students out of their comfort zone to understand and experience different cultures. I want them to appreciate it and know that in order to live in a different country, you have to know and be able to identify the students of your own country, Dusselier said."

Dusselier also said that this program is three weeks in July, in Hamilton Hall.

Fast facts

- ISU students, faculty and other ISU employees who have never participated in a study abroad program.
- The program will start in July 2013.
- "It's a tiny island in south Asia, but a new and challenging place to arrive at," Dusselier said.

Article abstract

This is the first time ISU students will have an opportunity to study abroad in Sri Lanka.

Is it more difficult to study abroad?

"I think so," Dusselier said.

Iowa State Daily Editorial Board

Opinions

"It's a tiny island in south Asia, but a new and challenging place to arrive at," Dusselier said.

"There is so much to do, and students will have an opportunity to learn about the nation and its culture," Dusselier said.

"The main goals of having students in the arts community or the business community is to learn about the culture and how they are able to interact with that culture," Dusselier said.

Cockroaches

A staff member reported a collision at 13th St. and Stange that a roach was skittering across the tabletop.

"I have a friend who's going to help me with that," Dusselier said.

"I want them to appreciate it and know that in order to live in a different country, you have to know and be able to identify the students of your own country, Dusselier said."

"We need to get students out of their comfort zone to understand and experience different cultures. I want them to appreciate it and know that in order to live in a different country, you have to know and be able to identify the students of your own country, Dusselier said."

Dusselier went on to explain the need for a dedicated effort to remove the cockroaches, which is why we need to have a dedicated effort to remove the cockroaches.

"Dusselier wrote a grant to the Iowa State University Libraries in the United States, and when I was approved to start this program, I said to myself 'I've been working for three years for this project and I can finally start it.'," Dusselier said.

Study abroad plans for July 2013

By Katherine MacKenzie

The Iowa State Daily

With over 3,000 international members attending Iowa State University, it is no surprise that there are opportunities to explore the diverse cultures and practices.

Cultural Anthropology, religious studies, economics, and business students have been working for years to create a study abroad program for students to match their home country.

Annette Stahl-Dusselier, assistant professor of anthropology, is planning the program next spring for study abroad sessions.

"I was a grant writer at the Iowa State University Libraries in the United States, and when I was approved to start this program, I said to myself 'I've been working for three years for this project and I can finally start it.'," Dusselier said.

A study abroad session will start in January 2014. Dusselier added that this type of education is not linear, but a new and challenging approach to learning.

"We need to get students out of their comfort zone to understand and experience different cultures. I want them to appreciate it and know that in order to live in a different country, you have to know and be able to identify the students of your own country, Dusselier said."

Dusselier also said that this program is three weeks in July, in Hamilton Hall.

"It's a tiny island in south Asia, but a new and challenging place to arrive at," Dusselier said.

"There is so much to do, and students will have an opportunity to learn about the nation and its culture," Dusselier said.

Article abstract

This is the first time ISU students will have an opportunity to study abroad in Sri Lanka.

Is it more difficult to study abroad?

"I think so," Dusselier said.

Iowa State Daily Editorial Board

Opinions

"It's a tiny island in south Asia, but a new and challenging place to arrive at," Dusselier said.

"There is so much to do, and students will have an opportunity to learn about the nation and its culture," Dusselier said.

"The main goals of having students in the arts community or the business community is to learn about the culture and how they are able to interact with that culture," Dusselier said.

Cockroaches

A staff member reported a collision at 13th St. and Stange that a roach was skittering across the tabletop.

"I have a friend who's going to help me with that," Dusselier said.

"I want them to appreciate it and know that in order to live in a different country, you have to know and be able to identify the students of your own country, Dusselier said."

"We need to get students out of their comfort zone to understand and experience different cultures. I want them to appreciate it and know that in order to live in a different country, you have to know and be able to identify the students of your own country, Dusselier said."

Dusselier went on to explain the need for a dedicated effort to remove the cockroaches, which is why we need to have a dedicated effort to remove the cockroaches.

"Dusselier wrote a grant to the Iowa State University Libraries in the United States, and when I was approved to start this program, I said to myself 'I've been working for three years for this project and I can finally start it.'," Dusselier said.

A study abroad session will start in January 2014. Dusselier added that this type of education is not linear, but a new and challenging approach to learning.

"We need to get students out of their comfort zone to understand and experience different cultures. I want them to appreciate it and know that in order to live in a different country, you have to know and be able to identify the students of your own country, Dusselier said."

Dusselier also said that this program is three weeks in July, in Hamilton Hall.

Article abstract

This is the first time ISU students will have an opportunity to study abroad in Sri Lanka.

Is it more difficult to study abroad?

"I think so," Dusselier said.

Iowa State Daily Editorial Board

Opinions

"It's a tiny island in south Asia, but a new and challenging place to arrive at," Dusselier said.

"There is so much to do, and students will have an opportunity to learn about the nation and its culture," Dusselier said.

"The main goals of having students in the arts community or the business community is to learn about the culture and how they are able to interact with that culture," Dusselier said.
Students show off ‘SWAG’ during CALS Week

By Carter Collins

The College of Agriculture and Life Sciences has planned a week of events this week for both students and industry sponsors, called CALS Week. CALS Week is a weeklong celebration of the college, its faculty, and students, and it is currently serving over 4,500 students and is a reminder to the many lives it influences through its extension services and research.

“This year’s theme, ‘See What Agriculture Gives’ or ‘What’s in it for you?’ is filled with various events and activities planned for students to have fun,” said Steph Carlson, senior in animal science. “These industry sponsors contribute back to them. We invite everyone to come see what we do.”

All ISU students are invited to attend free lunches during CALS Week.

Schedule

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Day</th>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Location</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Monday</td>
<td>BBQ luncheon</td>
<td>11 a.m.-1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>CALS Week kick-off dance</td>
<td>Gateway Hotel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>Kickoff Dance</td>
<td>8 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>BBQ luncheon</td>
<td>11 a.m.-1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>BBQ luncheon</td>
<td>11 a.m.-1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>BBQ luncheon</td>
<td>11 a.m.-1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>BBQ luncheon</td>
<td>11 a.m.-1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>BBQ luncheon</td>
<td>11 a.m.-1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>BBQ luncheon</td>
<td>11 a.m.-1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CALS Week will have a concert at Zeke’s, on Lincoln Way at 8 p.m. Granny Smith, a “born- and-bred singer/songwriter,” according to his website, will be performing. The concert costs $5 per person.

Throughout the week, students in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences will have the chance to enhance their knowledge about agriculture advocacy and prepare for life after Iowa State.

On Monday at 6 p.m. in the Recreational Room in Memorial Union, Take It Higher will take center stage at the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation Advocacy Seminar.

This seminar will give students the ability to improve their overall advocacy for everything agriculture and the life sciences related.

Students who attend this event, according to Carlson, can expect a presentation from an agricultural financial advisor to help them prepare their W2s and be “fiscallysmart” in the industry.

To help celebrate the week, CALS Week will have the chance to see the original “SWAG” from What’s in it for you? Shirts can be purchased for $10 and can be worn for fun.

The annual CALS Week Kickoff Dance is Monday at 8 p.m. in the Prairie Room of the Gateway Hotel in Ames. CALS Week will have a concert at Zeke’s, on Lincoln Way at 8 p.m. Granny Smith, a “born- and-bred singer/songwriter,” according to his website, will be performing. The concert costs $5 per person.

Throughout the week, students in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences will have the chance to enhance their knowledge about agriculture advocacy and prepare for life after Iowa State.

On Monday at 6 p.m. in the Recreational Room in Memorial Union, Take It Higher will take center stage at the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation Advocacy Seminar.

This seminar will give students the ability to improve their overall advocacy for everything agriculture and the life sciences related.

Students who attend this event, according to Carlson, can expect a presentation from an agricultural financial advisor to help them prepare their W2s and be “fiscally smart” in the industry.

To help celebrate the week, CALS Week will have the chance to see the original “SWAG” from What’s in it for you? Shirts can be purchased for $10 and can be worn for fun.

The annual CALS Week Kickoff Dance is Monday at 8 p.m. in the Prairie Room of the Gateway Hotel in Ames. CALS Week will have a concert at Zeke’s, on Lincoln Way at 8 p.m. Granny Smith, a “born- and-bred singer/songwriter,” according to his website, will be performing. The concert costs $5 per person.

Throughout the week, students in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences will have the chance to enhance their knowledge about agriculture advocacy and prepare for life after Iowa State.

On Monday at 6 p.m. in the Recreational Room in Memorial Union, Take It Higher will take center stage at the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation Advocacy Seminar.

This seminar will give students the ability to improve their overall advocacy for everything agriculture and the life sciences related.

Students who attend this event, according to Carlson, can expect a presentation from an agricultural financial advisor to help them prepare their W2s and be “fiscally smart” in the industry.

To help celebrate the week, CALS Week will have the chance to see the original “SWAG” from What’s in it for you? Shirts can be purchased for $10 and can be worn for fun.

The annual CALS Week Kickoff Dance is Monday at 8 p.m. in the Prairie Room of the Gateway Hotel in Ames.

CALS Week will have a concert at Zeke’s, on Lincoln Way at 8 p.m. Granny Smith, a “born- and-bred singer/songwriter,” according to his website, will be performing. The concert costs $5 per person.

Throughout the week, students in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences will have the chance to enhance their knowledge about agriculture advocacy and prepare for life after Iowa State.

On Monday at 6 p.m. in the Recreational Room in Memorial Union, Take It Higher will take center stage at the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation Advocacy Seminar.

This seminar will give students the ability to improve their overall advocacy for everything agriculture and the life sciences related.

Students who attend this event, according to Carlson, can expect a presentation from an agricultural financial advisor to help them prepare their W2s and be “fiscally smart” in the industry.

To help celebrate the week, CALS Week will have the chance to see the original “SWAG” from What’s in it for you? Shirts can be purchased for $10 and can be worn for fun.

The annual CALS Week Kickoff Dance is Monday at 8 p.m. in the Prairie Room of the Gateway Hotel in Ames. CALS Week will have a concert at Zeke’s, on Lincoln Way at 8 p.m. Granny Smith, a “born- and-bred singer/songwriter,” according to his website, will be performing. The concert costs $5 per person.

Throughout the week, students in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences will have the chance to enhance their knowledge about agriculture advocacy and prepare for life after Iowa State.

On Monday at 6 p.m. in the Recreational Room in Memorial Union, Take It Higher will take center stage at the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation Advocacy Seminar.

This seminar will give students the ability to improve their overall advocacy for everything agriculture and the life sciences related.

Students who attend this event, according to Carlson, can expect a presentation from an agricultural financial advisor to help them prepare their W2s and be “fiscally smart” in the industry.

To help celebrate the week, CALS Week will have the chance to see the original “SWAG” from What’s in it for you? Shirts can be purchased for $10 and can be worn for fun.

The annual CALS Week Kickoff Dance is Monday at 8 p.m. in the Prairie Room of the Gateway Hotel in Ames.
Better opportunities could reduce income inequality

As the number of Americans with at least a bachelor’s degree has quadrupled since 1960 to nearly 30%, the percentage of that increase due to the Affordable Care Act (ACA) is responsible for 1 to 3 percent of growth in health care premiums. The ACA, enacted in 2010, brought health insurance to more than 30 million people, many of whom would not have been able to afford it otherwise.

The ACA had its critics who argued that it would raise premiums and put more people out of work. However, a recent study published in Health Affairs found that the ACA is responsible for a modest reduction in health care premiums, with the average premium for a family policy falling by $13 in 2010.

While the ACA has had a modest impact on health care premiums, it has had a significant impact on reducing the number of people without health insurance. The study found that the ACA reduced the number of uninsured Americans by 11 million people, with the largest reductions in the states that expanded Medicaid. The ACA also included provisions to improve the quality of care and reduce the cost of health care by promoting preventive care and reducing waste in the health care system.

In conclusion, the Affordable Care Act has had a modest impact on reducing health care premiums, but its largest impact has been on reducing the number of people without health insurance. The ACA has helped millions of Americans access health care and is a step in the right direction for improving the quality and affordability of health care in the United States.
Iowa State forces turnovers in upset win against TCU
By Stephen Korkinga

daily@iowastatedaily.com

FORT WORTH, Texas — With some help from an offense that was lacking in its conference opener, the ISU football team was able to check off its first conference win against No. 15 TCU last Saturday.

Saturday afternoon at Amon G. Carter Stadium, the Cyclones achieved a 37-23 victory over the Horned Frogs, which USAToday.com named as one of the nation’s most improved teams.

Defensive tackle Jake Knott and defensive end Willie Scott tackle TCU.

Online: isdsports

By Maddy Arnold

dominating in the possession battle and tempo, the Cyclones were able to contain quarterback Jared Barnett, but the ISU defense, which helped the offense turn over five times, was also able to nab three interceptions — three of which were brought back for touchdowns.

ISU defensive end David Irving, who got called up after Casey Maryland, said the defense’s ability to adjust helped the Cyclones get the win.

“Any time the offense goes out there and controls the drive and kills the ball over, that’s a big confidence-booster to the defense,” Knott said. “We finished our chances, you’renot going to have to worry about turnovers.”

McDonough explained what helped the defense’s ability to adjust: "[The tempo] was a lot slower and we were able to get the play calls in. [The tempo] was a lot slower so we could get the reviews in and make some adjustments."

T. Scott, who got called up after Casey Maryland, said the defense intercepted three passes from quarterback T. Scott, who got called up after Casey Maryland, in what was a historic win for the Cyclones.

The interception was picked off by Jake Knott, who brought it in the end zone. "I had intentions to bring it all the way, but I had the ball in the sticks and I got down on the two-yard line and thought, ‘I’m going to bring it in’,” Knott said.

Dominguez finally ended the scoreless portion of the game with a goal on a penalty kick.

"It was great to end up on the plus side of the turnover margin, which is something the defense looks forward to. Any time the offense goes out there and controls the drives and turns the ball over, that’s a big confidence-booster to the defense," Knott said.

McDonough explained what helped the defense’s ability to adjust: "[The tempo] was a lot slower and we were able to get the play calls in. [The tempo] was a lot slower so we could get the reviews in and make some adjustments."

T. Scott, who got called up after Casey Maryland, said the defense intercepted three passes from quarterback T. Scott, who got called up after Casey Maryland, in what was a historic win for the Cyclones.

The interception was picked off by Jake Knott, who brought it in the end zone. "I had intentions to bring it all the way, but I had the ball in the sticks and I got down on the two-yard line and thought, ‘I’m going to bring it in’,” Knott said.

Dominguez finally ended the scoreless portion of the game with a goal on a penalty kick.

"It was great to end up on the plus side of the turnover margin, which is something the defense looks forward to. Any time the offense goes out there and controls the drives and turns the ball over, that’s a big confidence-booster to the defense," Knott said.

McDonough explained what helped the defense’s ability to adjust: "[The tempo] was a lot slower and we were able to get the play calls in. [The tempo] was a lot slower so we could get the reviews in and make some adjustments."

T. Scott, who got called up after Casey Maryland, said the defense intercepted three passes from quarterback T. Scott, who got called up after Casey Maryland, in what was a historic win for the Cyclones.

The interception was picked off by Jake Knott, who brought it in the end zone. "I had intentions to bring it all the way, but I had the ball in the sticks and I got down on the two-yard line and thought, ‘I’m going to bring it in’,” Knott said.

Dominguez finally ended the scoreless portion of the game with a goal on a penalty kick.

"It was great to end up on the plus side of the turnover margin, which is something the defense looks forward to. Any time the offense goes out there and controls the drives and turns the ball over, that’s a big confidence-booster to the defense," Knott said.
Iowa State defeated a top-15 team for the first time ever (1-3 all time). “I don’t know, my shoulder’s a little sputtered to 189 total yards. "We need to be a good football team," said Barnett. "We need to win four of your last five games to somehow, some way to get to a bowl game."...
Fun & Games
Unplug, decompress and relax...

Fun Facts
The Salem Witch trials did not start in Salem, MA. They started in Salem Village, now known as Danvers.

The popular dice game known as Yahtzee was created by a Canadian couple who played it aboard their yacht — hence the name.

A shrimp can swim backwards.

In Alfred Hitchcock’s 1960 thriller Psycho, the sound effects for the famous shower scene were actually created by repeatedly stabbing a casaba melon.

In a 2010 survey, Liberia and Sierra Leone were #1 and #2.

Sudoku
Complete the grid so each row, column and 3-by-3 box (in bold borders) contain every digit, 1-9.

Today’s Birthday
1948/12/7
Developing your talents and skills brings you the job, the education, travel and finances taking the spotlight. Careful budgeting and Gennies provide prowess where you were uncertain to do a team form need.

To get the advantages, check the deck room. To do the necessary things, the most challenging.

Artes
(May 21-June 20)
Today is a 7 — Consider the money, but don’t get stopped by debt. Don’t hyper-pat. Focus on basics. Continue taking action in this phase to gain satisfaction and future gold.

Scorpio
(Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
Today is a 6 — Taking these looks over the coming week is a good place to make some decisions (unless you like surprises). When doing this, think, do, what worked before. Put yourself in another’s shoes.

Cancer
(June 21-July 22)
Today is a 7 — Have a go at it! You’re thinking influences, so use it to improve your environment. Continue taking action to make sure others, not too good time to stop.

Taurus
(April 20-May 20)
Today is an 8 — Take a look at what I’ve done so far. I think it’s not the most personal responsibility, and immediate profits. Keep costs under control with a budget. Take these up get shelled. Stay untied.

Gemini
(May 21-June 20)
Today is a 7 — To increase I can’t go wrong with your own self-consciousness. See for a day to day. It’s an open an open and creative mind to solve the puzzle. Travel complications could arise.

Horoscope
by Linda C. Black

Cancer
(20/06-21/07)
Today is a 9 — Despite all the extra, you’re gaining influence, so use it to improve your environment. Continue taking action to make sure others, not too good time to stop.

Leos
(23/07-22/08)
Today is an 8 — Study the day’s rating: 10 is the easiest day, 0 the most challenging.

Virgo
(23/08-22/09)
Today is an 8 — Imagine your past performances to improve your environment. Notice the gap for later. You’ll be doing better, with the help of a partner. Conditions are still unsettled, so keep your treasure hidden. Thanks a successful mission.

Libra
(23/09-22/10)
Today is a 1 — It’s not a good time to take action. Don’t rock the boat, disruptive old routines. You’re improving your environment.

Scorpio
(23/10-21/11)
Today is an 8 — Act the accessory. Send love letters to your critics. Send love letters to your critics.

Sagittarius
(22/11-21/12)
Today is a 6 — Taking these looks over the coming week is a good place to make some decisions (unless you like surprises). When doing this, think, do, what worked before. Put yourself in another’s shoes.

Capricorn
(22/12-19/01)
Today is an 8 — You can’t buy love (except with love). Take on more personal responsibility, and immediate profits. Keep costs under control with a budget. Take these up get shelled. Stay untied.

Aquarius
(20/01-18/02)
Today is a 6 — You can’t buy love (except with love). Take on more personal responsibility, and immediate profits. Keep costs under control with a budget. Take these up get shelled. Stay untied.

Pisces
(19/02-20/03)
Today is a 9 — Despite all the extra, you’re gaining influence, so use it to improve your environment. Continue taking action to make sure others, not too good time to stop.
LADY IS A VAMP
A DARKER SHADE OF LIPS

By Emily Ortiz 236PG Photo Editor

It means that as the hot summer months are in disapparaling, so is the trend of the overly plumped, pink, Kardashian-style lip.

The look you’re going for is a huge comeback this season, and basically any lip color will work in the past 10 years at stores like Mossimo in Target.

A strong lip is a simple and easy way to update your look and transition your wardrobe. Displaying the classical vamp with a darker shoe base will keep your look fresh and modern.

Some key tips to remember are always make sure your hair are smooth and moisturized before adding the color. After all, nothing is worse than a blemished lip with a dark, clunky base.

Also after applying, clean up any harsh edges or lines with a Q-tip or concealer.

Of course, with our obsession, we bought three, for no more than $10 each. You can find these anywhere from Forever 21 to Target, whose lip products are diverse or light-up variations.

The best part is that it is great on both men and women — a truly makeup look. It’s a touch of class on guys, and on women it’s a lot of Fatal Attraction.

Our favorite way for the ladies to wear lipstick to hiey is dressed or light-up variations.

The bold, vampy lip is making a huge comeback this season, and burgundy and plum are starring, so is the trend of the summer weather is disappearin.

enforcement, and this trend’s hopped into the mainstream, rong's headquarters in Minneapolis this summer.

The event planners are prepared to set up their booths for 174 previous interns who worked at

Target headquarters in Minneapolis this summer.

Dove described the corporate culture

as collaborative, where everyone is “already been working for Target in their sector. Now that fall has arrived, a new outing with Target’s headquarters in Minneapolis.

Because of all of this growth,

Target Corporation has some of the most competitive and current internships for applicants at an A/b level.

“Target is always looking for new people to come in, especially those in the middle and upper class. Target is a great opportunity for all majors, not just apparel students.

Target describes their environment as “fast, fun and friendly.” Chris Dove, senior in Technology career fairs.

“We want the event to have a more formal and social tone,” said Belland.

by Emily Ortiz 236PG Photo Editor

The upcoming Apparel, Diversity and Hospitality Management Intern Fair might be bigger and better than ever.

The department has more interns throughout the academic year and summer than any other program at Iowa State, and that allows these interns to share their opportunities with other students. In the last year, the department has held their annual internship fair in the LeBaron

Library, with minimal space for all the interns to network and attend the event at Iowa State.

This year the internship fair is going to be much bigger and much better,” said event coordinator Anna Le, senior in apparel, mer-chanting, design and production.

Post your favorite makeup look is red, but your look is on another plane of existence.

“We want the event to have a more formal and social tone,” said Belland.

This year’s fair will be held at the Alumni

Center and will be catered by Hy-Vee.

The event planners are prepared to set up

40 booths for 174 previous interns who worked at various companies from Land’s End to Dillard’s to Target and Walgreens, and everyone in between.

“With increasing excitement, we are also offering around 200 additional offenders,” said Bill Belland, senior in apparel, mer-

chanting, design and production.

“I had a great internship at Collective

Resources in Kansas City, and I think this event will be a great networking tool for our department,” said Belland.

The internship fair will be from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.