Celebrate Summer

Fishing for a good time
Bucket List

By Joy Wessels

While most students pack up their stuff and head back to their hometowns for the summer, some stay to enjoy summer school or work around Ames. Whatever their reasons for staying in Ames, students should take a break from these activities to explore the city and what it has to offer during the summer months.

Ames has many restaurants unique to the area that students should take the time to try, especially when they’ve been successful in trying different kinds of food around Ames. There’s always room to sit down and enjoy the flavors when the weather isn’t great. Ledges State Park, located just 15 miles west of Ames, offers 13 miles of hiking trails, boating and fishing on the Des Moines River and various ice cream vendors. Ledges is a place for all to enjoy. As one veteran of spending time outdoors, whether you’re new to camping or a backpacker, there is sure to be something for you.

Hickory Park

If you’ve never been to Iowa and had gelato, Capanna’s might be the perfect place to try it. Gelato is less dense than ice cream, which gives it an authentic Italian taste, located across from Hy-Vee on west Lincoln Way. Capanna’s gelato is created daily, and ranges in flavors from tagarot to blood orange. You’re given the chance to sample as many as you like before choosing one flavor to enjoy with your meal.

If you’re home in the northeast you’re in luck. Tropical Sno has a wide variety of flavors at a cheap price. The park offers grills, picnic tables and shelters for the times when the weather isn’t great. Fulfill your wish to fish

Options abound in and around Ames

By Ben Theobald
btheobald@iowastate.edu

It’s June, which means it’s time to get the fishing rod out and head to the nearest fishing location.

In the Ames area, there are a number of fishing spots.

“The main fishing spot would be Ada Hayden,” said Brett Flooden, sales associate at Jax Outdoor Gear. “Others spots would include Lake LaVenture and Skunk River. Ada Hayden has a 130-acre lake and is located at 5055 Grand Ave.

According to the city of Ames website, people cannot fish from the bridge, change the line or clean fish on the site.

There are also a few areas just outside of Ames where fishers can go. “Just north of Ames in Peterson [Park], Flooden said. “Another spot is McFarland [Park], which is just a little east outside of Ames.”

Peterson Pit is about four miles northeast of Ames, and is about 11 acres. McFarland Park is also northeast of Ames. You need a fishing license to fish in both Peterson Pit and McFarland Park.

Ada Hayden and Skunk River are both listed as being under Ames jurisdiction by the Iowa Department of Natural Resources.

“You have to have a fishing license and abide by the rules,” said Kevin Shawgo, superintendent at Ames Parks & Recreation. “In order to have a fishing license, you must be 16 years or older. Both hunting and fishing go into the fish and wildlife trust fund. "That money can only be used to improve hunting and fishing," said Kevin Baskins, head of communications at Iowa Department of Natural Resources. "It stocks program for fishing. It improves fishing access and covers some of the law enforcement for fishing." Fishing license can be purchased at the courthouse, at Wal-Mart locations, in hardware stores, and online at the Iowa DNR website.

The Iowa DNR website also has the latest information on regulations for hunting and fishing in Iowa.

Tropical tastes to beat heat

When the weather outside is unbearably hot, there’s nothing better than cooling off with a refreshing drink. Here’s a list of five cheap and easy-to-make drink recipes:

Hula Coola

This recipe is from the Disney Family Fun website. Don’t let the name fool you, this drink is not just for kids. This drink has an Vaugh flavor on any other drink on this list. Also, unlike the other drinks, the Blue Lagoon contains milk and yogurt. The addition of dairy makes this concoction perfect as a simple drink, even for light breakfast.

Blue Lagoon

No food-related list is complete without a recipe from Foodnetwork.com. Of all the summer drinks on the site’s list of 50, Honeydew Ice is my favorite. It has a very clean, crisp taste to it. This is a great drink to have whether you’re sipping in the shade or sunning in the sun.

Honeydew Ice

This recipe is from the Disney Family Fun website. Don’t let the name fool you, this drink is not just for kids. This drink has an Vaugh flavor on any other drink on this list. Also, unlike the other drinks, the Blue Lagoon contains milk and yogurt. The addition of dairy makes this concoction perfect as a simple drink, even for light breakfast.

Tangy Citrus Lemonade Refresher

This fitnessmagazine.com drink is low on calories but high on flavor. Lemonade is a traditional summer drink. Tangy Citrus Lemonade reinvents the summertime favorite by adding lemons, honey and raspberries. With only 100 calories, this drink will allow you to indulge while still maintaining your swimsuit-worthy physique.

Apricot-Raspberry Refresher

Drinking an Apricot-Raspberry Refresher makes you feel like you’re sitting on a porch of a house somewhere in the countryside. This recipe from goodhousekeeping.com is a little more expensive to make than the others on the list. If you’re willing to splurge a bit to make this drink, you will realize that it is worth the extra cash.

Summer movies intrigue, entertain

Those wonderful summer months of sun and relaxation are the season when many blockbuster films appear. Here are my top five picks for films to watch this summer for the purpose of entertainment.

“Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows Part II”

There is no reason anyone in this country, or in other countries, should hold this. In the celebration of one of the most eagerly anticipated and influential movie franchises to hit the big screen, this momentous finale is going to be action-packed. It’ll also be overwhelmingly, while worth the time, considering the amount of time most people have spent reading the books and watching the previous seven installments.

To try to titillate the taste to watch the entire series again, so as to have the entire Potter drama fresh in your mind when you step out to see them tonight. Oh, and try not to let the experience of a real audience by attending any of the midnight premieres, as those will be packed to the bones with devoted and enthusiastic fans.

“X-Men: First Class”

In the need to have seen the others X-Men movies, but you might as well watch them anyway, just to you can see how much better “First Class” is in the reality with the number of movies

Film to ignore “Dark World” there may be even better, but it’s safe, maybe you should go see “Green Lantern” and “Olympus America: The First Avenger.”

Honorabe Mention

“Transformers: Dark Side of the Moon”

It will probably be black as the previous movie it makes, but it will still look and sound awesome. Also implying future movies are not outside of summer films viewing.

I hesitated to put this on the list. I even considered it would make for a better homage to Stephen King, doing it to the point structures to “S” and “The Shining” of the Third Kind.”

Of course. I am a kid. This movie is meant for everyone in the very final Harry Potter movie, and is a fine example of quality filmmaking despite its flaws. When I point them out, I’m really just nit-picking.

Yellow Brick Road

You gotta pick a little horror with your summer fun at some point. This is my pick to make you wonder about what is lurking around the bend. Oh, yes, it is not really this kind of horror. It is more like psychological thriller horror, but it has that rare “Blair Witch Project” that without that movie’s ringing in your ears, and everything you read, you will find your feet turning to stone.

Cowboys & Aliens”

Yeah, yeah, Dinosaur, this movie looks like it’s going to be super photography and devoted for the minute of bad. Oh, but here’s my part.

I believe this movie is going to be so ridiculous it will be a fun movie. Just think about it, there are some great fighting aliens. Hulking and incredibly good at being dicky at just the right time. When “Inception” was so great, people thought it contained terrible in a really bad movie to watch and remember.

The ideal soundtrack for the summer

By Katherine Klugpois

“Rolling in the Deep” by Adele

With two previous “summer songs” under her belt, Katy Perry has proven that she knows how to tap into the summer for all about producing catchy, light-hearted songs. Unlike Adele and Lady Gaga, Perry’s hit songs from when singing is not only a career path but to reassure girls and women that they can take and dance to “ETT,” however, is a little different than “I Kissed a Girl” and “California Gurls.” To begin, the tempo is slower than the previous Perry songs to also add a deeper on “ETT” compared to her other songs. Furthermore, there is achlain but also in the background during the chorus. All of these aspects could mean that “ETT” will perform worse than Perry’s other singles. Or they could mean that the single will be her highest hit.

“The Lazy Song” by Bruno Mars

For many people, the summer is a time to relax and have a lazy, carefree existence. Bruno Mars’ “The Lazy Song” is perfect for those people. The song is great to listen to while relaxing on the beach. Mars’ smooth voice is capable of making you forget all of your worries.

“The Edge of Glory” by Lady Gaga

Lady Gaga, one of the most innovative creations, declared her album “Born This Way” a commercial cake. Lady Gaga has a voice that is both unique and beautiful. Beginning with “Just Dance” and “Poker Face,” Lady Gaga continues to revolutionize the music world with uniquely styled songs. Although some of her songs are quite experimental, they are not only acceptable but also successful. The lyrics to her new song, “The Edge of Glory,” is a definite change from Gaga’s past singles. American singer and songwriter Lady Gaga, thanks to her new song, “The Edge of Glory,” will still have a hit single that is much more upbeat than Gaga’s other singles from her current album "Born This Way." “The Edge of Glory" still has a powerful message, but the message is more positive, and is wrapped around the fast beat. This way means that the song will perform better than “Born This Way,” or “Exarchia.”
