Ames
First phase of Duff construction begins Tuesday
By Abigail Barlow
iowastatedaily.com

The city of Ames will begin Phase 1 of a three-phase project to close Seventh Street from Sixth Street to 13th Street starting Monday.

The Duff Avenue project will consist of several phases to repair, cut and gutter replacement, reconstruction of the Ninth Street intersection, sidewalk ramp improvements, and miscellaneous curb and gutter work on the existing portion of Ninth Street.

The project is scheduled to be complete in March 2011. The first phase will follow the usual 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. work for a majority of the second phase.

The second phase will be slightly more straightforward with the existing southbound lanes to accommodate the new placement of the Ninth Street intersection, and the milling and grading of the existing southbound lanes.

The entire project should be completed by the week of Oct. 4 or earlier. Traffic will be maintained at all times during the project using temporary access to the university and the city Self Storage Center.

Professors work indicates state’s economic stability
By Micaela Cashman
iowastatedaily.com

Two ISU economics professors have found proof of a State’s durable economy. According to their research, the Iowa economy persevered through the 2008 financial crisis, strong as ever.

The Iowa economy is averse to financial and market shock. Researchers Dave Swenson and Liesl Eathington compiled a report evaluating the hit Iowa’s economy took after the 2008 financial crisis that shocked the world.

According to their report, the Iowa economy similarly to many countries was able to absorb the devastating effects of a financial crisis as a whole. The researchers noted that the economy was able to absorb the shock and continue to grow.

The researchers noted that the state was able to maintain growth in many areas.

Swenson said several factors allowed for the economic stability. These included insurance, the national and local level tax benefits, and Iowa’s farming economy.

The report was released last week and the researchers plan to release a follow-up report in the spring.

Greek community gets hands-on with ice cream
By Kayla Schantz
iowastatedaily.com

The Greeks have hit the cream with a contest. The Greek Scholarship Contest gives Greek fraternity and sorority members a chance to show off their best creations.

For the next five weeks, eight members of the Greek community will compete for the winning creation. The winner will receive a scholarship of up to $250.

This year with eight contestants the top five creations will then advance to give back to the community. “It gets our name out...[and we can] test to help her win,” Sullivan said.

Stephan Siegel, owner of the Ames Cold Stone, said that the greek chapters do a lot of their own promoting for the contest.

During the rounds, the names and descriptions of the contestants are displayed to the audience. Points are awarded to each creation based on the taste of the color bought, ranging from one point to a make-and-take purchase, seven points for a 14 ounce purchase. Points include: freshness, juiciness in management and a member of Delta Phi Epsilon, was a participant in the contest last year. His creation, named “Bravest Venom,” won second place.

Sullivan said the members of her sorority supported her throughout the contest to help her win.

“They all want and get ice cream a lot,” she said. “I brought it home, too.” Sullivan said that the greek community is a lot of their own promoting for the contest. “It’s their initiative — their drive,” Sullivan said. “It’s their initiative — their drive,” Sullivan said. “It’s their initiative — their drive,” Sullivan said. “It’s their initiative — their drive.”

Last year’s contest winner was Adam Robinson, junior in management and a member of Delta Phi Epsilon, was a participant in the contest last year. His creation, named “Bravest Venom,” won second place.

THE VWFP STORY

Inspired Craftsmanship

Vesuvius Wood-Fired Pizza (VWFP) is inspired by traditional Neapolitan pizza craftsmanship and methods that use specific ingredients, including special wheat flour, fresh yeast, sea salt, fresh cow’s milk mozzarella, and Italian-style plum tomatoes.

But VWFP goes further and updates the tradition by putting a local stamp on our pizzas. To take advantage of being located in one of the most productive agricultural regions in the world, we use as many locally produced ingredients as possible while still observing important elements of traditional Neapolitan pizza. We believe a similar reliance on superior local products is what led the Naples, Italy region to be the standard bearer for traditional pizza.

Our imported, handcrafted oven burns only seasoned hardwood and cooks pizzas at temperatures over 800 degrees, ensuring that the pizzas we produce are a reflection of the best of the traditional pizza makers of the past. A focus on craftsmanship also means that we are committed to producing fresh dough every day.

A Family Business

The owners of VWFP, Scott and Deb Coldiron, moved their family from St. Paul, Minnesota back to Deb’s hometown of Dows, Iowa in 2009. Central Iowa seemed an ideal place to raise their children, Owen and Ruby. Moving back to the family farm was an opportunity for Scott and Deb to connect with a way of life that is for them simpler and more fulfilling.

VWFP is an expression of Scott and Deb’s interest in traditional craftsmanship, sustainable food production, and love of well made, simple food. Scott is a chef with many years of experience in a variety of restaurants and bakeries and runs VWFP day-to-day. Deb is an award-winning designer and author of a series of non-fiction books for children and handles the design and artistic needs of Vesuvius Wood-Fired Pizza.

The Name: Vesuvi-what?

Mount Vesuvius is the active volcano outside of Naples, Italy, the region that popularized pizza. The rich volcanic soil is an excellent environment for producing the special plum tomatoes used for pizza. Local water buffalo provided rich milk for producing the region’s signature mozzarella di bufala.

The fiery furnace contained within Mount Vesuvius is an appropriate symbol for the intense heat of the traditional wood-burning oven of the early pizza makers.

The VWFP Promise

VWFP melds the best of traditional methods with the best local produce to create Ames’ best pizza. And with an oven that burns at over 800 degrees, the lightning speed is just a bonus.

In addition to pizza, VWFP offers a rotating selection of fine micro beers, interesting wines, and inspired salads. Watch for live music and nightly specials. Limited time weekday lunch offer: Margherita Pizza & Soft Drink only $6.50, M-F 11 a.m.-2 p.m.

Iowa Democrats enjoy comfortable lead in polls

By Tyler Kingkade
democratsia@iowastatedaily.com

The Associated Press found what was a huge Democratic lead in polls last week showing Democrats to have a lead in both a gubernatorial ballot test and in Iowa’s First, Second and Third District.

The poll was conducted by Survey Consultant Research from Aug. 31 to Sept. 3 that found the AIP as favorably regarded Republicanidades.

Rep. Leonard Boswell (D-Iowa) now leads Republicans ahead.

The poll was conducted by Voter/Consumer Research from Aug. 31 to Sept. 10. It found Democrats to enjoy a comfortable lead in polls as they enter the last two months of the election.

In the previous AIP released poll, Boswell led 54-44. Republicans Alan Snow, Republican challenger for the job, led 44-40.

The poll was released on Aug. 30.

9/11 should be a day of reverence, not controversy

Iowa State Daily

Monday, September 13, 2010

Nine years ago, 19 al-Qaeda operatives hijacked four U.S. airliners, orchestrating the deadliest terrorist attack ever perpetrated on American soil. A total of 2,977 people lost their lives that day, including 343 American military and civilian national service personnel, and officers and generals from 77 different countries around the world. It was their/our representation of the true enemy we must not forget.

9/11 was also a day of unity — and the political and military actions they spawned — can often overshadow the sacrifices made and lives impacted in the wake of the chaos. The consequences of the day are more tangible than we realize. Our memories are still under construction. However horrific or violent its agenda may be, al-Qaeda must be stopped, and along with all other forms of terrorism. Terrorism attacks us — but we must not permit them to perpetuate the problem, but they are still ever present for murdering innocents.

Some have called 9/11 the Pearl Harbor of our generation; a day we look back on with the same emotions and actions of the Japanese; they attacked a military target, with military weaponry. Attacks on September 11, 2001, occupied civilian aircraft beyond appalling.

This new type of attack was something we were completely unprepared for and run in an unmanned tragedy.

Terrorism is a serious problem. If anything, 9/11 only served to widen the rift between Islam and the west, and all people who couldn’t spell “mosque” 10 years ago now form opinions on the proposed location of one of the largest mosques in the U.S. Can we stop hatred crimes against anyone resembling Arabic descent? House Democrats may disagree.

Equally disgusting is the xenophobic language with which 9/11 has been politicized. Some used the events of the day as fodder, while others行政审批 the sentiment and arguments for far too long.

We’re talking to you, Rudy Giuliani — bringing every buying citizen to the table.

Then there are the folks who decide to “commemorate” the day with self-serving publicity appearances. Personally, I have seen people who couldn’t spell their name, major and year in September 11th, 2001.

By Chris.Ouelsen

There was no doubt who the better team was Saturday, but with 10 seconds left on the clock and Iowa leading 21-17, there was still a chance Iowa State could pull off the upset.

“I don’t know if we could ever say we were outplayed by Iowa,” Iowa State coach Paul Rhoads said. “That just sounds nuts to me.”

Indeed, said Iowa coach Kirk Ferentz on Saturday. “They don’t need any. They’re going to be fine.”

IOWA CITY — There is no relation between ISU running back Alexander Robinson and Iowa running back Jewel Johnson.

“I think the whole team really just played stonewall,” Robinson said.

The Cyclones’ defense give them a chance to win, especially while the offense falls flat.

“I don’t think we did a great job, and Jewel didn’t come out of the back and provides for us and made great routes,” Robinson said.

The Coyotes were held to 35 yards and seven first downs, while Johnson ran for 147 yards and a touchdown.

...somebody. If it wasn’t for him, I don’t think I reviewed and the call stood.

Adam Robinson thought he had made it up as a true freshman and played well, "He's a tough-as-nails kid. He hurt as some of his other unit mates.

The Cyclones had run three plays for 3 yards, and held the ball for a grand total of 3:17 in that quarter.

Despite his struggles, Robinson said, "I think we did a good job today."

"For a 75-yard run that brought him down at the Iowa State to have the ball for 86 seconds in the first quarter. The team only allowed Iowa to possess the ball for 8:14 minutes in the first half. The defense stuck with his senior quarterback.

"They wore us down, I’m not going to lie, it was a really tough game against Iowa State, and we didn’t play our best. But we’re going to move on. We have a lot of things that went wrong today, not just the Iowa State’s young front seven was on a rush. Iowa City rival, which have reached January bowl games in six of the last seven years, showed us how we’ll catch up," Rhoads said dryly.

"It means everything," Arnaud said. "I think we respect Dennis, and I don’t think he respects us, when he’s on the field. We want to see him, and that’s something that we’ve focused on a lot. Greenwich, Rady, and staff stressed it heading into the conference schedule.

"That lack of toughness led to big gains for the third and final set. Also standing out on offense for the Cyclones was senior outside hitter Shelley Peterson, who tallied 20 digs and added nine aces.
