Women in Business

There are numerous support networks for students and their families, the most recent of which is the Black Cultural Center. The Black Cultural Center is a place that allows black students to find their identity, further their education and provide a relation environment.

In April, the Black Cultural Center will host a networking event at the Cultural Center with the help of Adele Lomax, the department head of political science, and black students and their families.

The event will be held on April 13th from 6-8 pm in the Cultural Center. The event is open to all black students and their families.

The event will be sponsored by the Black Student Union and will feature guest speakers and a panel discussion on the importance of education and personal and professional development.

The event will also feature a raffle for a chance to win a $50 gift card to a local business.

In addition, there will be a opportunity for students and their families to network and learn more about the resources available to them.

The event is open to all black students and their families, and will be held on April 13th from 6-8 pm in the Cultural Center. The event is free to attend and open to all.

For more information, please contact the Black Cultural Center at (555) 555-5555 or blackculturalcenter@students.com.

Spring break plans vary among students

By Elizabeth Krugler

While many students are planning for their spring break, some are choosing to stay home and spend time with family.

"I decided to stay at home and work," said the sophomore in psychology, "I was thinking about getting a job and I really needed a break from school."

Cyclones prepare for 10-game stretch

Extended road trip ranges from Kan. to Calif.
By Zach Jurewicz

The Northwest Missouri State University women’s basketball team will begin in Wichita, Kan., then work its way through the States of Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota and California.

The Cyclones will begin their road trip this weekend when they play a double-header Monday against the University of Minnesota-Crookston (Crookston, Minn.). After a short week of practice, the Cyclones will travel to Denver, Colo., for two games against the University of Denver (Denver, Colo.) on Wednesday and Thursday.

The Cyclones will return home to Wichita State, Kan., and play a double-header at 7 p.m. on Saturday, March 12, against Emporia State University (Emporia, Kan.).

The Cyclones will have an opportunity to play better than their 2-7 record this season, according to Coach Jurewicz. "Then, hopefully, we’ll be able to come home and get some practice outside and then head out to California." With this said, the Cyclones will return home to Wichita State, Kan., and play a double-header at 7 p.m. on Saturday, March 12, against Emporia State University (Emporia, Kan.).

To the girl bragging about her boyfriend, HE may be bigger than you, but I guarantee HIS isn't. Just sayin'!

To the guy who was wearing the tight lime green pants, cowboy boots, and pedestal mustache, did you look at yourself in the mirror today or did you dress like that with your outfit?

I hate making decisions, so tell everyone about it!

To the girl who wanted to make the loudest noises when you're in the most quiet places?

To the red head at the party, whatsoever, you were "that girl" and it was not alright. Just sayin'!

he dumped you and he isn't coming back, move on, particularly from me.

Made awesome eye contact with 2 hot blondes on the same bus, I am the master of Cyndie.

"Dear Roommate. The garbage won't fit if you look it out instead of waiting for me to. Just Sayin'"

What does it mean when a girl looked hot at a club but broke even in the library?

Some people wear entirely too much perfume/cologne... I get a headache sitting across from you or you may need guidance.

Is anyone else disheartened at the fact that this town doesn't have a 7-Eleven? I want a slurpee!!

My girlfriend is always in our room, even when you’re not here. Does she know where she lives?

I would like to say thank you to all the cycle bus drivers for being the most polite in the US, you made my day better.

Hmmm looks like someone is always looking hot...

To the guy trying to pick fights outside the bars in Campustown... Your fly was down.

Submit your LMAGO(ing) and just sayin' @iowastatedaily.com/games.
Program fuses cycling

By Franky Nguyen

Emily Kistler, junior in advertising, will spend her summer traveling across the U.S. for a trip that consists of eight stages: eight stages of cycling and ten team and a team of a total of eight riders. Her team is Bike & Build, which is a non-profit organization that partners students to live, work, and build affordable housing. From the time you leave to ride a bike with some training wheels, Kistler has been in love with cycling, as well as volunteering. When she graduated, she knew she wanted some time volunteering and travel-fueled world.

Bike & Build is a national non-profit organization that pairs students with experienced riders and people who have been living and cycling to help build affordable housing. Some of the benefits of the program are that you get to

If riders are not on stage one of the eight stages, then they are in stage one of their eight stages. If riders are not on stage two of the eight stages, then they are in stage two of their eight stages. If riders are not on stage three of the eight stages, then they are in stage three of their eight stages. If riders are not on stage four of the eight stages, then they are in stage four of their eight stages. If riders are not on stage five of the eight stages, then they are in stage five of their eight stages. If riders are not on stage six of the eight stages, then they are in stage six of their eight stages. If riders are not on stage seven of the eight stages, then they are in stage seven of their eight stages. If riders are not on stage eight of the eight stages, then they are in stage eight of their eight stages.

The organization joined in 2017 with two new cycling programs. Every year, on the last stage of the program, the Bike & Build organization as a whole raised more than $50,000 into the organization.

The economics of the West will change of prices at high enough, Brown said. "It can be made sense to pursue options that were previously politically and econ-ically unfeasible."

There are options that may be more

"Increased domestic expulsion and more interest in alternatives sources of energy; more green (clean) fuel."

Brown said. "The pay-off being the gas and potentially the oil if we can find a way to reduce our emissions."

"I generally believe that increased exploration and use of domestic oil is a viable way to reduce our emissions."

A question raised is often to

"Who will be the prices of the high oil prices?"

Some people who have seen prices drop have been called "price shockers," as they have been jumping on the bandwagon of lower prices and raising concerns about higher prices.
