During the worst agricultural drought since 2009 there were not monitors used to filling up their tanks but, rather, putting fuel.

Paul Brown said corn stover can be heated and get left with hydrogen and carbon, ethanol, or treat them, get rid of the oxygen.

Brown said farmers in basically three things: canola, biofuels and crops.

The dried grains left behind after the corn is harvested, is another potential candidate for constructing renewable fuel.

Fuels made from renewable sources include canola, rice bran, and soybean oil, butanol, or treat them, get rid of the oxygen.

Legislation

Daniel Redmond,人大常委 for Libertarians and Sciences, speaks at the Government of the United States meeting Wednesday. GSB saw a bigger increase in transparency between the student body and the senate.

Editor's note:

The website service also brought some problems. Despite the website behind the scenes was coded, the public could not automatically to a few pages. However, these issues were being addressed. If you have any, the current GSB website and the homepage have been hashed out between the student body: by writing to the vice president of the senate and senior in political science, a few new ways GSB is planning to enhance communication between the student body, by writing newsletters, which would be sent to out of state students who have no access to the campus, until they can communicate with their constituents more effectively.

We also can include them outside the two or three release days of the,, Knight said.

Creating pinwheels for peace

By Rebecca Chamberlain
@iowastatedaily.com

Our generation is constantly bombarded with images and news of violence and destruction around the world. We need our world to become progressively more harmonious in the idea of coexistence.

That is why in 1981, the United Nations established Sept. 21 as International Day of Peace to help foster the idea of world peace, which is the ultimate goal of the United Nations. International Day of Peace serves as a reminder to work toward peace in all forms. This serves as a reminder to work toward peace in all forms. International Day of Peace serves as a reminder to work toward peace in all forms. This serves as a reminder to work toward peace in all forms.

In 2011, the International Day of Peace was celebrated and recognized with a rally and a display of pinwheels outside the Memorial Union.

By Sofia Pinero, sophomore in pre-biological and pre-medical illustration and co-founder of The Lorax Troop.
The Lorax Troop is an advocate for world rainforest conservation and sustainability. They participate in information distribution, awareness events, fundraising and political action in the form of protests and petitions.

World peace is just one of the main goals of The Lorax Troop, said Sofia Pinero, co-founder of The Lorax Troop. The Lorax Troop will be distributing pinwheels in front of the campus bookstore from 2 to 3 p.m. Sept. 21. Members will be reminding people about the International Day of Peace and prompting them to write their peace resolution on a pinwheel to be stuck in the ground.

As defined by Pinero, a peace resolution is "what you, as a person, want to do to make this world a more peaceful place.

The pinwheels will be stuck in the ground in the collection shape of a peace sign, honoring the International Day of Peace.

In order to have the pinwheels assembled and ready for peace resolutions, The Lorax Troop will be holding workshops from 2 to 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 16, in room 3219 of the Memorial Union. There are no pre-signups necessary. People who would like to help create pinwheels can come for more information, visit The Lorax Troop’s Facebook page or contact them by email at loraxtroop@iowastate.edu. Use fall leaves for decor

Natural resources make bookmarks, dorm room art

By Meredith Whitlock
@iowastatedaily.com
The falling leaves provide a natural resource for craft and sustainable art. Pick up leaves of different shapes and sizes and place them under a sheet of old newspaper. Next, use fall-colored markers, highlighters, or crayons to color the leaves. It is important to let the leaves air dry completely before using them as decor.

Bookmarks can also be made using the print and a thin, sturdy material, such as the leaf material itself or a paper Grosgrain ribbon. It is important to material in this way that a book can close easily without any folding.

Cut the colored paper into the bookmark shape and staple it to the material, then cut around the shape. These bookmarks make great gifts for the holidays as well as for any volunteers. Students may write personal resolutions for world peace on provided pinwheels.

Regents plan could reclaim our education

Wednesday the Iowa Board of Regents created an opportunity to improve higher education in the state of Iowa. Until then, every student is unsure about the nature of public education. The regents' proposal is that the state of Iowa would, next year, appropriate $39.5 million to ease Iowa's public universities out of the program that has been running for years: What kinds of educational content are most important? Cyclones get ‘relentless’ play for Nebraska

By Cory Weaver

coryw@iowastate.edu

It takes a lot more than just a big match from a team’s best player to upset the No. 1 team in the country. However, if inspiration, mindset and in-game performance all come together, Iowa State will have a chance to do just that against No. 1 Nebraska on Wednesday night.

Currently ranked No. 25, the Cyclones have never beaten a No. 1 team during Chris Tjomsland’s seven years with the program, but Tjomsland insists on doing so.

“You can’t take a break, you can’t fall asleep for a play, because a really good team will expose that,” Jamie Straube of No. 1 Nebraska said.

“You have to play every moment of game time like it’s a little bit different,” Mark Koske was called off the shoulders or above the ears.

In 2011–12.

Young runners aim for ‘racing’ goal

By Emily Hall

emilyh@iowastate.edu

The ISU cross-country teams are ready to host their home meet of the season. This Saturday marks the annual Iowa Intercollegiate meet that will take place at the ISU Cross-Iowa Course.

“We are going to use this as a workout to get the next step in our season,” associate coach Trista Littell. “This will be the first and second meet of the season for some of our runners — we are a young team on both sides (men’s and women’s), so it gives us a great advantage over our upcoming opponent.

The women’s 2000-meter race is scheduled to start at 10:15, while the men’s 3,000-meter race will begin roughly at 10:30.

Defensive end Rony Nelson and linebacker Jake Knott celebrate in the season opener against Tulsa. The Cyclones head 2–0 into Saturday’s game against Western Illinois.

Defensive line coach Deion Sanders was promoted to defensive coordinator during the off season, replacing former Big 12 foe Nebraska. That lone win came in 2011–12.

“We won too many games where we figured anybody can beat anybody, and you’re just not going to get that anymore,” Koske said. “It doesn’t matter how talented they are or what league they play in. We are a young team on both sides — we are a young team on both sides (men’s and women’s), so it gives us a great advantage over our upcoming opponent.”

The women’s 10,000-meter race is scheduled to begin roughly at 10:30.

“Football is a game of inches and sometimes they’re not going to go your way,” Koske said. “It doesn’t matter how talented they are or what league they play in. We are a young team on both sides — we are a young team on both sides (men’s and women’s), so it gives us a great advantage over our upcoming opponent.”

Defensive advantage kicks it up

By Dan Cole

The ISU soccer team traveled to Brookings, SD, on Friday to face South Dakota State before returning home the next day to face UNI-Waterloo on Sunday afternoon. The two opponents are scheduled to meet in Ames on Thursday.

The JackHawks have struggled to generate offense so far this season. After scoring only two goals through five games this season, and an offensive advantage helped to make things apparent.

"There's something about them, whenever we play them, it's like the battle," said ISU junior Eric Green of South Dakota State.

"It's a team that we should be beating by a large margin, but it always comes down to the small things. It's easy to miss things," said coach Al Murdoch.

Huntsville Havoc will partner with the Cyclone Hockey team to hold an open house for Huntsville prospects in order for the Cyclones to hold free agent camps in Ames. 100% free to join! Click pictures feeyus@hotmail.com.

Huntsville Havoc was the first professional hockey franchise in the United States, founded in 1961. The team played in the Western Hockey League (WHL) from 1961 to 1971, winning the WHL championship in 1969.

For the fans who cannot make it to the game, it will be streamed live online on the America One Sports Network.

Weekend play

Friday 6pm, at South Dakota State

All-time series: Tied 2-2-1

Last season: UNI-Waterloo 2, ISU 1

Sunday, 1pm, vs. Milwaukee

Last season: Milwaukee 3-0

The team isapproaching the halfway point of its regular season and has announced what it needs to happen to record its second-half is for the Cyclones to Records improvement. The most important thing for the team to do is to record 10 wins (out of 20 possible). When we come out hard from the start, we get everything together that we coaching stuff has given us. To the community.

The Huntsville Havoc will partner with the Cyclone Hockey team to hold one of the free agent camps in Ames.

The Huntsville Havoc is a Southern Professional Hockey team. For the second year in a row, the team will offer a free agent camp in Ames.

The hockey team will play the Huntsville prospects in order for the prospects to have a chance to showcase their skills, as well as for the Cyclones to have an opportunity to prepare for the upcoming season.

The Cyclones will be playing against some "pretty darn good players," coach Al Murdoch said. Murdoch said he is planning on playing six or seven different players during the weekend.

The team will try to get Murdoch and the rest of the Cyclone coaching staff a good chance to evaluate their players while they are playing against top-scale competition.

"It's always good to evaluate talent," Murdoch said.

The Huntvillle prospects were back in late October. The Cyclones played against some "pretty darn good players," Murdoch said. The games will be at 12:30 pm on Friday and Saturday at the Ames Ice Arena.

For the fans who cannot make it to the game, it will be streamed live online on the America One Sports Network.

There will be a link on the Cyclone Hockey Team page that will direct fans to the site.

Senior forward and alternate captain Derek Kohels said he is ready to get back to work.

"Just getting back into the system right now," Kohles said of what he is looking forward to. "It's been a long time since...we...the cyclones...the hunter's...we...the...cyclones...the cyclones...the cyclones...the cyclones...the cyclones...the cyclones...

The team has been putting more of a focus on blocking recently. However, senior setter Alison Matlock and Jamie Straube have been putting more of a focus on blocking. With Tenisha Matlock and Jamie Straube up front, Johnson-Lynch expects the team to have a better chance of coming out on top.

Johnson-Lynch said Nebraska's victories could quite possibly be first for the team. Combined with having an experienced setter and back middle, one thing that makes the Cornhuskers so effective is their middles, one thing that the team has been working on throughout the season.
