Grad earns Bronze Star

By Whitney Sager

Excellent leader. Very outgoing. Shantel is great.

Military leaders ran these words to describe the trait displayed by Tyler Bauman, second lieutenant in the Army Reserve and 2010 ISU alumnus.

It was because of these traits that Bauman was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for his service in Iraq.

The Bronze Star Medal, the fourth-highest U.S. Army award, is awarded to any person in the U.S. Army who has shown "meritorious, exceptional or meritorious achievement or service" to the Army in a foreign or non-combat setting, as opposed to armed forces, according to the U.S. Army Reserve Meritorious Award.

On Bauman's second tour of duty overseas, a mission for which he volunteered, he observed the actions required to defeat his enemy, the enemy of the distinguished leader.

During the mission, Bauman was in charge of driving a heavily armored truck equipped with machine guns, a life-saving unit designed to drive around, making a presence so people would not be threatened by a troubled mind.

"On our first mission, we were hit by a suicide bomber," Bauman said.

Rather than backing down, Bauman said he and his unit kept going.

Due to his actions and the leadership Bauman showed, he was awarded the special medal. Bauman was awarded the medal for his meritorious actions.

Benefits of service

Service as a volunteer in the Army has helped Bauman gain individual, both in and out of the classroom.

Before joining the Army, Bauman said he struggled with self-confidence and anxiety.

The leadership position he held had helped him gain these areas.

"I've become a better leader," Bauman said. "It's helped me grow in different ways."

Joel Soenksen, adjunct assistant professor of military science and tactics, said one of Bauman's responsibilities in the ROTC was serving as a mentor for younger ROTC soldiers.

Soenksen said Bauman helped the younger soldiers determine what classes they needed to take and how to have proper military presence.

"He was very well thought of by his peers," Soenksen said.

Bauman graduated in 2010 from ISU with a degree in emergency management.

"I always thought of Tyler as a person who has a future." Soenksen said.

Bauman said his service in the Army has helped him improve those areas.

"I have grown as an individual, both in and out of the classroom."

Father changed in son's death appears to die of natural causes

UNITED STATES — A 25-year-old Iowa man's death in a boating accident on Monday appeared to be a drowning, police said, adding that it was the fourth such fatality on the Des Moines River in less than a month.

Preliminary investigations have found the body of 25-year-old Jessie Tate of Melcher-Dallas, who was last seen on Saturday, floating in the water near a boat launch in the city. Local police said they were still investigating the circumstances surrounding his death.

The Iowa Department of Natural Resources says dive teams were deployed to the scene, and the body was eventually recovered from the water. The cause of death has not yet been determined.

A preliminary investigation has ruled out foul play, but authorities are urging anyone with information about the incident to contact local police.

In addition, police are reminding boaters to take necessary precautions to ensure their safety on the water.

1. THE CONCLUSION OF THE CASE

The investigation continues, and police are working to determine the exact circumstances surrounding Jessie Tate's death. The family has expressed their grief and is now seeking answers.

2. THE MEANING OF THE DEATH

The tragedy has raised questions about the safety of boating on the Des Moines River, and local officials are calling for increased awareness among boaters.

3. THE IMPACT ON THE COMMUNITY

The community is mourning the loss of 25-year-old Jessie Tate, who was well-known for his love of the outdoors and his passion for boating. His family and friends have organized a memorial to honor his memory.

4. THE LESSONS LEARNED

This tragedy serves as a reminder of the importance of taking necessary precautions while boating, such as wearing life jackets and being aware of the weather conditions.

5. THE FUTURE OF BOATING SAFETY

Local officials are calling for increased awareness and education among boaters to prevent similar tragedies from happening in the future.

Refresh your tailgate

By Devon O’Brien

Burgers, brats, hamburgers and hot dogs — this traditional tailgate food can get old after a couple of games. But you can still grill: pizza

Grilled pizza is a delicious meal that will make everyone around you jealous, and it’s easy, too. Start with any pizza dough, you can buy it at the grocery store or make it yourself. Roll the dough out into individual-sized servings. I suggest making the dough somewhat thin, it makes for quicker cooking and a crispier crust. Then choose your toppings. Bring along diced tomatoes, pizza sauce, fresh mozzarella, shredded cheeses, chopped onion, bell pepper, basil, pepperoni, sausage, anything you would put on a pizza. Bring all the ingredients along with you in reusable containers and let each person at your tailgate create their own pizza.

Brush one side of the dough with olive oil and throw it on the grill at a medium-high heat, since the dough is golden brown olive oil on the top. Flip the dough and quickly put on the toppings each individual has chosen. If your grill has a cover, put it on to help the toppings cook quickly but check on the pizza frequently. Once the other side of the dough is golden and your toppings are melted or cooked, take the pizza off the grill and enjoy!

That is not your only option. Papa Murphy’s has a new promotion: Instead of the traditional take-and-bake pizza, you can now order Papa Murphy’s to take and grill. All you need is the reusable grilling pan they offer, or a piece of aluminum foil. Pick up a Papa Murphy’s pizza on the way to the game, grill and serve! For simple directions on how to grill your Papa Murphy’s pizza, visit www.papamurphys.com.

Grillin’ S’mores

What you need to bring to the grill:

• Box of frozen waffles
• Variety of baking chips (chocolate, butterscotch, peanut butter, etc.)
• Bag of marshmallows
• Aluminium foil

What you need to do:

Place a waffle on aluminum foil and cover with the chips of your choice. Spread the chips around the waffle evenly. Place a marshmallow on each chip and add another waffle on top. Then, wrap the waffle sandwich tightly in aluminum foil.

How to cook ’em up:

Place your wrapped waffle sandwich in the heated grill. Close the lid and cook for 5-7 minutes until the waffles are crisp and the filling is gooey. Serve!

For a special touch, you can also use a reusable grilling pan you can find at your local grocery store or make it yourself. Roll the dough out into individual-sized servings and cut as desired. Place on the grill and cook for 1 hour or until firm.

Cut as desired.

Basic Jell-O cube recipe for one:

• Mix dry Jell-O and unflavored gelatin in a mixing bowl.
• 4 envelopes Knox unflavored gelatin
• 1 quart (1 cup) boiling water

• 4 envelopes Knox unflavored gelatin
• 1 quart (1 cup) boiling water

Mix dry Jell-O and unflavored gelatin in a large bowl; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Then, pour into a 7 in round pan, and refrigerate until firm, about 1 hour. Cut as desired.

To prepare a magnificent tailgating treat, try wrapping your favorite variety of bacon around any food item listed below, or come up with your own recipe. Then, either grill, bake or assemble your creation and enjoy.

Remember: Eat responsibly.

• Hot dogs, Italian sausages or bratwurst
• Any form of hard cheese
• Cherry tomatoes filled with goat cheese
• Cantaloupe or honeydew
• Shrimp
• Chicken, pork or beef cuts
• Asparagus
• Shrimp bisque
• Mushrooms
• Water chestnuts
• Grilled jalapeños with cream cheese filling

Follow the directions for making Jell-O cubes, but make two batches: one yellow and one red. Then combine the two colors of cubes into a clear bowl and you are ready to build your very own amazing wiggly finger snacks. You can use football-shaped maker cutters to make Jell-O footballs. I know what you are thinking, “Can I make bacon- colored and red Jell-O treats?” Yes, you can! If you are up for a challenge, the Iowa State University website, knottsfoods.com/recipes has recipes specifically for this sort of thing. You can take the recipes you find there so that you have the colors or shapes you like.

Basic Jell-O cube recipe for one batch:

• 3 packages (3 oz each) Jell-O Gelatin Flavors that are red or yellow
• 4 envelopes Knox unflavored gelatin
• 1 quart (1 cup) boiling water

Mix dry Jell-O and unflavored gelatin in a large bowl; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Then, pour into a 7 in round pan, and refrigerate until firm, about 1 hour or firm. Cut as desired.

Avocados are amazing. They’re sweet and buttery with a very mellow but delicious flavor. They are also a great source of fiber and healthy polyunsaturated fats. They are fantastic in guacamole dip.

But what else can you use them for when you are tailgating before a Cyclone victory?

• Rather than making guacamole, take salsa and add diced avocado for a more interesting and colorful texture.
• Place sliced avocado on hamburgers for a richer tasting sandwich.
• They’re also great on veggie burger options.
• Make a veggie “sushi roll” by placing avocado slices, cream cheese and cucumber on a tortilla and rolling it up.
• Or just add it into any salad for a unique variety of flavors!

To honor the Labor Day spirit, do the takes to book to book. Chapter 7 of the 2010 book, available for purchase, is considered to be a good read. The American middle-class wage worker has been in the books for several months; it is thought that the real wage has increased. The median income in the United States for the year 2010 was $43,000. Pullman, Illinois, was a town founded by the Pullman Palace Car Company, a manufacturer of sleeping cars. Pullman owned the town, Pullman owned the houses and Pullman owned the factory where the workers received a pay cut, some were taking home about 70 percent of their previous wages. It was the strike that President Cleveland declared a federal crime and dispatched troops to break the strike. In an attempt at reconciliation, he gave the labor movement a national holiday — Labor Day.

The current climate in the United States toward workers' rights is right now, but recessions in the past five years has been a decline in profitability and a substantial contributor to higher profit margins. Milton Friedman, in his famous work "Capitalism and Freedom," has argued that workers are rational actors and that if they are not paid a sufficient wage, they will remain. Many older college students are concerned about right now, but recessions are a serious concern for the future. It is important to discuss the role of government in the economy and to consider how we can prevent recessions from happening in the future.

Keep menu simple, lose weight logically

By Sean Flack

I recently read a book called "Eat This, Not That" that advised foods and drinks that were healthy and those that aren't. It startled me how many so-called healthy foods are actually horrible for your health. We tend to overestimate how healthy they are.

It's a easy thought. I called my vampires some vampires, but really it's just to check it out for yourself at health.com.

I've heard a lot of people who have the most logical about eating healthy. I've heard that the immediate response is not very healthy. And when you don't listen, and you're a healthy person, you might as well be eating chicken meat.

And let's ask ourselves, ordering a Diet Pop with your double bacon cheeseburger meal doesn't do any favors. Despite the names, Vitamin Water and Anti-Oxidant Snapple water are not good drinks to be guzzling down whenever you have a chance. Organics isn't a superfood. And Apple is a very healthy menu item as well.

You never eat yourself into that trick that food companies are pulling on the general public. It's not just about the control, but the essence to weight in as simple. But look for your food intake, and increase your exercise.

I used to weigh 164 pounds, but now I'm 148. Losing weight is not an instant thing, though. Obviously, he does standard baby things like eating. However, he does them in curious ways. He spits it out after after a nap and isn't as going to sleep, but he can sleep, is he asleep, is he asleep.

I was glad my wife was done with pushing and that the baby was safely out, but I had no idea what that "that outlined foods and drinks that were healthy and those that were not. It's a scary thought. I could give you examples for good names. But I was glad my wife was done with pushing and that the baby was safely out, but I had no idea what that outlined foods and drinks that were healthy and those that were not.

Critic praises Craigslist

Online classified website continues to fight for adult services section

(NEW YORK) — On-line classified service Craigslist has renewed its fight for its adult services section in a “good fight” according to a change of heart by the site’s founder.

“I’m very pleased by this very solid and responsible position taken by the eight attorneys general,” said Connecticut Attorney General Richard Blumenthal, who spearheaded a re- cent letter from 17 attorneys general to Craigslist’s decision to discontinue its adult services section.

“I say apparent because we have received no definitive assurance from the word ‘effective’ in the initial letter to the site. We shall continue to fight,” a leader in the fight against prostitution, the online classified service craigslist.org, said.

Craigslist has lacked the wherewithal to fight human trafficking and assaults on women, through the adult services section. Long been believed for adults. She added that the letter was not intended to be a final defeat for Craigslist, the online classified service, removed its adult services section on November 2015 after pressure from attorneys general from three states.

The section that usually read “adult services” on Craigslist was replaced Thursday by the word “chastity,” a leader in the fight against prostitution. Initially, the site removed the adult services and re- placed it with an “alternative,” which failed to attract ads that were not ac- ceptable to the attorneys general account outside the United States, the site said.

Craigslist representatives told CNN that the site would not make a decision on whether it would keep its adult services section in place until the next letter was received, which is a final statement at a later time.

The letter will also highlight a re- search to the website’s list of jokes, which is not the site’s goal.

In a 2013 blog post, Blackman and各種の組織 at a glance on the benefits of nighttime sleep, she said, “This is something we may be able to change to address the growing demand for adults.
