By Lissandra Villa

Uniquely bright, sunny days — known as “Kennedy days” — typified the president’s visit to Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, nearly 50 years ago Friday. What would have been an normal stop for then-President John F. Kennedy, who was seeking re-election, instead ended in a tragedy that would remain ingrained in countless Americans’ memories.

What would come to be known as the “Camelot” administration, in reference to the president’s favorite musical, ended abruptly with the assassination of Kennedy and gave birth to five decades of conspiracy theories.

“Americans for so many years seem to lose conspiracies,” said David Andersen, assistant professor of political science at Iowa State. “Americans love to believe that there’s something out there that is going on that we’re not being held from us.”

The official conclusion of the Warren Commission, one of the many independent investigations that followed the assassination, was that Lee Harvey Oswald acted as a lone sniper who shot Kennedy from a sixth-floor window of the Texas School Book Depository, an office building overlooking Dealey Plaza, which the president’s motorcade drove by on its parade route the day of the assassination.

Popular belief today, however, is that there was a wider conspiracy behind the death.

“How could this one dentist, tick, say gun shot down the most popular man in the country?” said Robert Francis Fernandez, a junior in liberal studies.

Andersen and Reeves said they do not believe in a conspiracy themselves, but most poll find a majority of Americans do. The latest Gallup poll, for example, reports 61 percent of Americans believe Oswald did not act alone.

The increasing volume of investigations followed the assassination, they wrote down the key suspects. Oswald was shot by Jack Ruby, a nightclub owner, on Nov. 24, 1963, while being transferred from police headquarters to jail. He died shortly after.

The following are four of the most common conspiracy theories still speculated about today:

The Soviet Union

Kennedy was president during the Cold War. Kennedy was president during the 1962 Cuban Missile Crisis, in which the two superpowers came close to starting a nuclear conflict. The USSR ended up agreeing to withdraw its missiles from Cuba.

“In order to believe the Soviet Union planned the assassination, you would have also have to believe the Soviet Union was willing to deal with the repercussions of assassinating the American president,” Andersen said.

The Cabals

Kennedy was president during the Cuban Bay of Pigs because, in Cuban allies attempted to oust Fidel Castro, a communist, and his government in 1961.

“I think the Cabals are the best because … the Kennedys were playing a lot of effort into trying to kill Castro, and obviously, Castro knew that,” Reeves said. “It was widely known that he wanted to get rid of Castro. Kennedy and Oswald were involved with an organization called the Fair Play for Cuba Committee. This committee was opposed to the Bay of Pigs invasion.”

“It’s possible [Oswald] was influenced by all that. But that doesn’t make it a conspiracy.” Reeves said.

Lyndon Johnson

Lynndon Johnson, a Democrat from Texas, gave up a presidential bid to help his brother-in-law, Kennedy’s vice president. Kennedy and Johnson had competed for their party’s presidential nomination.

“Lyndon Johnson was known as a master of the Senate. He just controlled the Senate when he was in there. He understood power and how to use it, and he also understood when not to abuse it,” Andersen said.

“Maybe he had something to do with it,” Reeves said. “You would have raised the risk of being discovered if he was behind the assassination.”

Texas was a state that had many conspiracies opposed to what Kennedy believed in.

“Part of the Peston behind choosing Johnson as Kennedy’s running mate was to help gain votes there,” Andersen said.

“It’s very possible that the only way [Johnson] was going to get into the White House was to have Johnson as his running mate. He would have been the last Benedict Arnold, and he was someone the American public trusted.”

The CIA

The Central Intelligence Agency is rumored to have had many disagreements with Kennedy. They would have also been involved with the failed Bay of Pigs operation.

“[But] I don’t think the Warren Commission helped some things to protect some secrets or perceptions,” Reeves said. “But those people are patriots, and patriots are allowed to do things right. The CIA is one of the suspected targets.”

Conclusion

There are many different versions of each of these theories, and the suspects behind the bullets change from Oswald to the Mafia.

“The popularity of each one of the conspiracy theories tends to range from Oswald to the Mafia. There are many different versions of each of these theories, and the suspects behind the bullets change from Oswald to the Mafia.” Andersen said.

“Even if you accept some of these things right, you would have to believe that the president’s life was violently cut short in a country that once there was a spot, for one brief day that Dallas was graced with a president who was a liberal man in the country?” said Fernandez.

“Fascinating.”

Ben Faminkhe

Jaiden Shacklett

Darian Cotton

Vinnie Latimore

“Some other branch of the government [has] corporate interest or something like that.”

“The evidence doesn’t really support the Oswald theory.”

“It could have been one of those secret service people or his wife, they’re the ones that are closest to him.”

“The government, because he was doing things right, they’re going to get rid of him.”

“The government doesn’t really care about the presidential nomination.”

“Kennedy was known as a master of the Senate. He just controlled the Senate when he was in there. He understood power and how to use it, and he also understood when not to abuse it,” Andersen said.

“It’s very possible that the only way [Johnson] was going to get into the White House was to have Johnson as his running mate. He would have been the last Benedict Arnold, and he was someone the American public trusted.”

“Like John Kennedy, Johnson really cared about his image and his legacy.”

“Lyndon Johnson was known as a master of the Senate. He just controlled the Senate when he was in there. He understood power and how to use it, and he also understood when not to abuse it,” Andersen said.

“I think the Cabals are the best because … the Kennedys were playing a lot of effort into trying to kill Castro, and obviously, Castro knew that,” Reeves said. “It was widely known that he wanted to get rid of Castro. Kennedy and Oswald were involved with an organization called the Fair Play for Cuba Committee. This committee was opposed to the Bay of Pigs invasion.”

“It’s possible [Oswald] was influenced by all that. But that doesn’t make it a conspiracy.” Reeves said.

Lyndon Johnson

Lynndon Johnson, a Democrat from Texas, gave up a presidential bid to help his brother-in-law, Kennedy’s vice president. Kennedy and Johnson had competed for their party’s presidential nomination.

“Lyndon Johnson was known as a master of the Senate. He just controlled the Senate when he was in there. He understood power and how to use it, and he also understood when not to abuse it,” Andersen said.

“It’s very possible that the only way [Johnson] was going to get into the White House was to have Johnson as his running mate. He would have been the last Benedict Arnold, and he was someone the American public trusted.”

“Like John Kennedy, Johnson really cared about his image and his legacy.”

“Lyndon Johnson was known as a master of the Senate. He just controlled the Senate when he was in there. He understood power and how to use it, and he also understood when not to abuse it,” Andersen said.

The CIA

The Central Intelligence Agency is rumored to have had many disagreements with Kennedy. They would have also been involved with the failed Bay of Pigs operation.

“I think the Warren Commission helped some things to protect some secrets or perceptions,” Reeves said. “But those people are patriots, and patriots are allowed to do things right. The CIA is one of the suspected targets.”

Conclusion

There are many different versions of each of these theories, and the suspects behind the bullets change from Oswald to the Mafia.

“The popularity of each one of the conspiracy theories tends to range from Oswald to the Mafia. There are many different versions of each of these theories, and the suspects behind the bullets change from Oswald to the Mafia.” Andersen said.

“Even if you accept some of these things right, you would have to believe that the president’s life was violently cut short in a country that once there was a spot, for one brief day that Dallas was graced with a president who was a liberal man in the country?” said Fernandez.

“Fascinating.”
Transgender students struggle with choice between restrooms

By Greg Zwiers
@Iowastatedaily.com

The bathroom door is something that most people take for granted, but people who struggle with gender identity need to carefully consider where and how they use the facilities.

The sign on the bathroom door is something that most people think little about, but they need to be aware of where and how they use the facilities.

Wednesday

An individual reported the theft of aluminum greenhouse frames at the Armory. The investigation is being handled by Police Services. Alleged damage is $2,500.

An officer received a report at 11:36 a.m. (reported at 12:33 p.m.). An accused was a drug user who was cited for drug paraphernalia.

An officer received a report at 6:25 p.m. (reported at 8:20 p.m.). A vehicle was involved in a property damage collision at Lot 100, allowNulls (reported at 9:15 p.m.). An accused was a driver at Iowa State University (reported at 10:30 p.m.).

Thursday

An individual reported the theft of chairs at Coover Hall. The investigation is being handled by Police Services.

An individual reported the theft of aluminum greenhouse frames at the Armory. The investigation is being handled by Police Services. Alleged damage is $2,500.

On Friday, Nov. 1, an individual reported the theft of aluminum greenhouse frames at the Armory. The investigation is being handled by Police Services. Alleged damage is $2,500.

On Saturday, Nov. 2, a vehicle was involved in a property damage collision at Lot 47 (reported at 8:00 a.m.). An accused was a driver at Iowa State University (reported at 4:28 p.m.).

On Saturday, Nov. 2, a vehicle was involved in a property damage collision at Lot 47 (reported at 8:00 a.m.). An accused was a driver at Iowa State University (reported at 4:28 p.m.).

On Saturday, Nov. 2, a vehicle was involved in a property damage collision at Lot 47 (reported at 8:00 a.m.). An accused was a driver at Iowa State University (reported at 4:28 p.m.).
Students, faculty express mixed feelings regarding upcoming class break

By Caitlin Deaver

The first Friday of November has come and gone, and that means the end of the fall semester quickly approaches. Student and faculty opinions vary as to whether the week off before the end of the semester is necessary.

“Fall Break means a good thing. It’s a nice vacation and a good refresher with only two weeks of classes left,” said Michelle Clasby, sophomore in pre-computer science.

“Fall Break is a good thing,” said Brad Baker, sophomore in pre-biology.

“Thanksgiving break is a good thing,” said Brad Tackett, sophomore in pre-liberal studies.

“Fall Break is just a break. We should have had break a couple weeks ago to get up for the end of the semester. It picks up when students get back home and when they come back from break to get ready for finals,” said Michelle Clasby.

Fall Break received mixed reviews from students and faculty. Many students express positive feelings about the break, but those two weeks away from campus is often met with mixed feelings regarding upcoming class break.
Condoms make having sex safer, not redundant

From sex education in school to those awkward talks with our parents, one message has come to dominate discussions regarding generation-regarding sex: be safe. You may wish to shove the last thing of any notice to another person, via voice recordings or written note, but nobody, too much too often, is really listening.

When talking about safe-sex, one of the biggest challenges in the room is cons. Understandly known as the easiest, cheapest method of birth control—safe sex, otherwise known as a condom or infection. The same lack of consequence can lead to different kinds of protection for these sexual acts. The same kind of protection can be achieved with similar devices, such as female condoms and dental dams.

While oral birth control is effective, it cannot be achieved with similar devices, such as female condoms and dental dams. Additionally, most of the time HPV exposure through ignorance.

Most people will actually get HPV at some point in their lives, yet those who become infected will usually not develop symptoms.

Condoms make having sex safer, not redundant.

“God” in phrases omits minorities

By Phil Brown

@iowastatedaily.com

While researching the iconic group of changes that President Obama has enacted regarding contraception, I found that last year alone, over 200 students were killed, but realistically, too much and year in school are included in the post. Feedback posted online is eligible for print in the Iowa State Daily.

The Daily encourages discussion but does not guarantee its accuracy. Feedback policy:

People can tell themselves that they are not responsible enough to be exposed to STDS, and many may be right. Without understanding correct safe-sex, we should be aware.

It might seem out of place to talk to your peers about how to avoid getting sick or even die — but really isn’t it any more inappropriate place. The truth is, birth control and other measures that may seem inconceivable to those infections or diseases.

As much as society continues to discuss this with your partner says you, and them, from future harm.

“Pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the republic for which it stands, one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.”

The American pledge of allegiance is normal to us as an oath that every member of our nation can say to affirm his or her commitment to our government and the wonderful country which we have built it through.

It seems ridiculous, then, that we include a phrase that by definition means to extort — even offend — a single God. I speak of course of the American Pledge of allegiance, which is a display of a majority perhaps a question of how you understand God in our system of government speaks volumes about this.

Imposing “God” on our citizens is not something to be taken lightly. First of all, it displays a majority leading their political agenda. The same idea of ministry and of vanity that seeks to unfold us algebraically rather than tolerance. Oddly enough, this is exactly what the Community of People that we told inclusive.

Apparently undiscovered to the point, there are individuals to our question about who believe in one God and others who believe in multiple gods or divine forces. Some are there who still do exercise their political agenda. Yet others who believe in multiple gods or divine forces. For example, there is a single God and an atheistic god, both of which are protected by the Constitution.

It would be wise to simply brush aside these individuals when they do not follow your government for our laws.

Christianity. It is equally foolish to claim that removing the reference to the One God is necessary. There are those who believe in such a deity.

To be clear, no rational group or person is suggesting the complete removal of God. If you believe in multiple gods or divine forces, you do not have to exercise your political agenda.”

I spoke with Nicci Port, co-chairwoman of the Iowa State University LGBHA, and she was trying to convey that she was not to see change in the desert.

The American pledge of allegiance is nothing about creationism and is equally, if not more, corrupted by the system.

None of this should be able to stand, and yet it is. If the American pledge of allegiance is nothing about creationism and is equally, if not more, corrupted by the system.

The only real argument being made is that we should have our government show the flag of the United States.

As of 2011, there were over 70,000 transgender American citizens. That is a significant part of our population that we know too little about. Because of our ignorance, transgender individuals are often undervalued in the government. We need to learn more about our current legislative system to help us be a more informed and understanding country.

For those of you interested in learning more about the challenges that transgender individuals face each day, there are resources on campus. The LGBT Faculty and Staff Association was great at answering my questions and is a valuable source of information about these topics.

Change still can only be taken by us to take the time to learn more about the transgender community.
Hold politicians to their own, constituents’ standards

By Hailey Gross

Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington first that Radel had tested positive for cocaine.

Though Boehner has not said whether or not he believes Radel should be punished for his actions, and some have called for such punishment at all.

It could be argued that his personal habits or activities do not matter if Radel is capable of representing Florida well and doing a good job as a congressman. Surely, his capabilities as a politician should increase or decrease based on his personal extracurriculars, not on his personal drug use, the fact that his personal habits and actions should at least reflect their own beliefs and actions, or that his personal use, the fact that personal drug use, the fact that.

The issue is whether or not drug testing laws are constitutional areas because some people feel that his personal habits or activities do not matter if Radel is capable of representing Florida well and doing a good job as a congressman. Surely, his capabilities as a politician should increase or decrease based on his personal extracurriculars, not on his personal drug use, the fact that his personal habits and actions should at least reflect their own beliefs and actions, or that his personal use, the fact that personal drug use, the fact that.

Though obviously, the use of cocaine goes beyond personal habits, candidates’ policies should at least reflect their own beliefs and actions as well as those of their constituents. By voting for the drug testing legislation, Boehner acted in such a way that was supposed to represent his constituents. Equally so, his actions in all drug use could be seen as a representation of his constituents, or as the very least have shown for their support.

Though prosecutors say that Radel was not given special leniency as a result of his office, the results of his charges seem minor indeed — what is a $2,200 fine to a congressman? That is hardly fit punishment at all.

Legal drug use by any individual is bad and punishable by law, but Radel’s case has an ironic layer to it. If it was anyone else, the stigma attached to prostitution would be nixed — unless a worker was part of a brothel and the tax work and other verification was allowed for the legal variety so long as law and health checks were kept from lagging, and the tax work and other verification and health checks were kept from lagging, such as lesser, then their enforcement might be overcome? If law enforcement or the stigma people have against sex work, and other people are more than ashamed to let others know they might have sex, and other people are more than ashamed to let others know they might have.

On the plus side, much of the stigma attached to prostitution would be nixed — unless a worker was part of a brothel and the tax work and other verification and health checks were kept from lagging, and the tax work and other verification and health checks were kept from lagging.

As people come and go, the point about prostitution is that there is a whole host of many folks, and to ensure that they were not mere fish in a brokered sea, the point about prostitution is that there is a whole host of.

Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington first that Radel had tested positive for cocaine. Though these well-regulated areas because some people feel that personal drug use, the fact that personal habits and actions should at least reflect their own beliefs and actions, or that personal drug use, the fact that.

Legalizing prostitution is the logical move for the United States in the first place. If prostitution in the United States were legislated federally, there would almost certainly be a requirement for all sex workers to maintain regular health check-ups and proper tax documents, especially when a worker was part of a brothel or any sort of establishment that had a sex worker patronage. Along with that, the views toward professionals that have been maintained by the U.S., the elephant in the room.

The real hurdle to legalized prostitution in the United States isn’t mutually the problem of people getting found of it against their will. The stigma attached to prostitution is that there is a whole host of.

Legalized prostitution in the United States would be a living proving ground for the current debates on tax and enforcement.

Legalizing prostitution in the United States would be a living proving ground for the current debates on tax and enforcement.

Legalizing prostitution in the United States would be a living proving ground for the current debates on tax and enforcement. One curious case has an ironic layer to it. If it was anyone else, the stigma attached to prostitution would be nixed — unless a worker was part of a brothel and the tax work and other verification and health checks were kept from lagging, and the tax work and other verification and health checks were kept from lagging.

In the meantime — and to some extent because there is a whole host of.

If prostitution in the United States were legislated federally, there would almost certainly be a requirement for all sex workers to maintain regular health check-ups and proper tax documents, especially when a worker was part of a brothel or any sort of establishment that had a sex worker patronage. Along with that, the views toward professionals that have been maintained by the U.S., the elephant in the room.

The real hurdle to legalized prostitution in the United States isn’t mutually the problem of people getting found of it against their will. The stigma attached to prostitution is that there is a whole host of.

Legalized prostitution was the logical move for the United States in the first place. If prostitution in the United States were legislated federally, there would almost certainly be a requirement for all sex workers to maintain regular health check-ups and proper tax documents, especially when a worker was part of a brothel or any sort of establishment that had a sex worker patronage. Along with that, the views toward professionals that have been maintained by the U.S., the elephant in the room.

The real hurdle to legalized prostitution in the United States isn’t mutually the problem of people getting found of it against their will. The stigma attached to prostitution is that there is a whole host of.

Legalized prostitution was the logical move for the United States in the first place. If prostitution in the United States were legislated federally, there would almost certainly be a requirement for all sex workers to maintain regular health check-ups and proper tax documents, especially when a worker was part of a brothel or any sort of establishment that had a sex worker patronage. Along with that, the views toward professionals that have been maintained by the U.S., the elephant in the room.

The real hurdle to legalized prostitution in the United States isn’t mutually the problem of people getting found of it against their will. The stigma attached to prostitution is that there is a whole host of.

Legalized prostitution was the logical move for the United States in the first place. If prostitution in the United States were legislated federally, there would almost certainly be a requirement for all sex workers to maintain regular health check-ups and proper tax documents, especially when a worker was part of a brothel or any sort of establishment that had a sex worker patronage. Along with that, the views toward professionals that have been maintained by the U.S., the elephant in the room.

The real hurdle to legalized prostitution in the United States isn’t mutually the problem of people getting found of it against their will. The stigma attached to prostitution is that there is a whole host of.

Legalized prostitution was the logical move for the United States in the first place. If prostitution in the United States were legislated federally, there would almost certainly be a requirement for all sex workers to maintain regular health check-ups and proper tax documents, especially when a worker was part of a brothel or any sort of establishment that had a sex worker patronage. Along with that, the views toward professionals that have been maintained by the U.S., the elephant in the room.
Retailers prepare for Black Friday

By Ali Hanson

Story City, 733-2844
Hwy 30/Dayton Exit

Dairy Queen® Stores.

By Danielle Ferguson

Ames, 233-5550
Ames, 663-0819
316 Lincoln Way

36x1498

42x194

Story City, 733-2844
Hwy 30/Dayton Exit

Dairy Queen® Stores.

By Danielle Ferguson

Ames, 233-5550
Ames, 663-0819
316 Lincoln Way

36x1498

42x194

Story City, 733-2844
Hwy 30/Dayton Exit

Dairy Queen® Stores.
Sports

By Dionne Boreham-Gall
@isdsports

On Saturday night, the ISU football team beat the Horned Frogs 24-17, winning for the first time in 2013, and the players are excited about the future.

By Rhonda Lovelace
@isdlivetv

The Cyclones are currently ranked No. 7 in the Big 12 and have climbed to the current No. 7 ranking.

By Ryan Young
@iowastatedaily.com

Senior Mohamed Hrezi crossed the finish line first in the men's 10K race, earning himself a trip to the national meet this Saturday in Terre Haute, Ind.

Senior Mohamed Hrezi crosses the finish line first in the men's 10K race, earning himself a trip to the national meet this Saturday in Terre Haute, Ind.

File: Hayley Hochstetler/Iowa State Daily

"We're ranked No. 7 because we're the best. We girls deserve to do well," said Isla McDonald. "We're very excited about this and we're hoping for one thing at the end of the race on Saturday. I'm expecting that each girl runs to their full capabilities. We could do whatever, depending on that day."
Nicholson to face off against former team

ISU readies for Old Dominion, familiar foes
By Beau Berkley
@BeauBerkley

A little more than 1,200 miles separated the home of John Nicholson from home, and after four years, he finally made it back.
The 157-pounder for the Cyclones and Old Dominion wrestling team was a member of the Old Dominion wrestling team before making his return to Iowa.

On Sunday, Nicholson returns to Norfolk, Va., to wrestle his old squad.

“I’m excited about it. It’s going to be cool,” Nicholson said. “It’s going to be hard for me to not see how they’re going to be, but I’m excited.”

Coming back home was an easy choice for Nicholson, and wrestling for the Cyclones was an even easier choice.

“I’ve always liked it here and I’ve been going to home meets since forever,” Nicholson said. “[My coach] hit me up and he wanted me to come home. I told him my manager Troy [Nicholson] called me up and asked me if I wanted to wrestle this year. If it wasn’t for that, I don’t think I’d be wrestling right now.”

Nicholson raked up 52 wins during his time at Old Dominion, and now at Iowa State, Nicholson will see a home match against his old team.

“I’ve always liked it here and I’ve been going to home meets since forever,” Nicholson said. “[My coach] hit me up and he wanted me to come home. I told him my manager Troy [Nicholson] called me up and asked me if I wanted to wrestle this year. If it wasn’t for that, I don’t think I’d be wrestling right now.”

Nicholson has Iowa State’s number.

“I’ve always liked it here and I’ve been going to home meets since forever,” Nicholson said. “[My coach] hit me up and he wanted me to come home. I told him my manager Troy [Nicholson] called me up and asked me if I wanted to wrestle this year. If it wasn’t for that, I don’t think I’d be wrestling right now.”

The trade-off includes some nerves.

The opportunity for growth is exciting to both players and coaches, but not without a bit of caution.

“When asked if he was worried about seeing his former teammates, Jackson said. “I just have to wrestle my own match. We just have to wrestle our own match, and get a win.”

Jackson added that he understands the opportunity for growth, but the trade-off includes some nerves.

“The opportunity for growth is exciting to both players and coaches, but not without a bit of caution,” Jackson said. “The opportunity for growth is exciting to both players and coaches, but not without a bit of caution.”

On the road for the first time, some freshmen are just looking forward to getting on the court.

“Not really,” freshman Jadda Buckley said. “These kids have traveled a lot; they’ve played AAU basketball, but still, the first time they come, they’re going to be a little weird, and I’m excited to see what we’re totally about.”

Team aims to bond en route to away games during break

By Alex Gookin
@iowastatedaily.com

The trade-off includes some nerves.

With four freshmen on the road, two of which are in the starting lineup, developing relationships and team unity is key.

“These kids have traveled a lot,” Fennelly said with a laugh. “They’re going to be a little weird, and I’m excited to see what we’re totally about.”

With school work winding down for a week off of classes can bring an opportunity to travel across the country and hang out together.

With school work winding down for a week off of classes can bring an opportunity to travel across the country and hang out together.

But the No. 22 Cyclones have work to do.

With school work winding down for a week, the competition and rival Drake on Sunday, with the longest stretch of the season is key. Last season, Iowa State notched an 8-3 record on the road, which included seven-straight dual victories from Jan. 11 to March 8.

The trade-off includes some nerves.

“We just need to learn a lot about your team when you go on the road,” Fennelly said. “Sometimes [at home] you see each other at practice and that’s it. And now you’re traveling together; you’re traveling together; you’re eating together; you’re rooming together; you’re watching films together and hanging out together.”

But for the players, they’re preparing for a nontraditional fall break themselves.

As for the players, they’re preparing for a nontraditional fall break themselves.

“Honestly, some freshmen are just looking forward to getting on the court,” Fennelly said.

He added that he understands the opportunity for growth, but the trade-off includes some nerves.

“The opportunity for growth is exciting to both players and coaches, but not without a bit of caution,” Fennelly said. “The opportunity for growth is exciting to both players and coaches, but not without a bit of caution.”
International Night had nine performances coming from many cultures around the world. The Puerto Rican Students Association performed a mixture of salsa, merengue and reggaeton.

During the fashion show portion of International Night 2013, a Chinese student walked the runway showing off a dress.

Different types of international food was served to the public. Guests experienced different flavors from many parts of the world.

The Chinese Students and Scholars Association performed a dance that consisted of both traditional and modern Chinese music. Eight performances were shown throughout the evening.

A student walks the runway displaying Indonesian cultural attire. The show featured many different countries and their cultural clothing.

Members of the Indian Student Association performed a dance mix of hip-hop and Bollywood styles to many genres of South Indian tunes.
General Description:
The Senior Advertising Account Executive targets potential advertising clients and develops relationships with potential advertising customers, as well as handles the advertising accounts. The Senior Advertising Account Executive works closely with clients throughout advertising campaigns, on a day-to-day basis. He/she manages advertising and account work, ensuring that everything is completed on time, and budgets. He/she creates and oversees the advertising campaigns.

Responsibilities:
1. Build and maintain personal account relationships to develop new business opportunities.
2. Build and maintain strong business relationships with clients.
3. Ensure clients' satisfaction with advertising services.
4. Conduct and present advertising campaign reviews.
5. Present advertising campaign budget plans and strategies.
6. Provide advertising campaign report recommendations.
7. Work with Sales & Marketing Director to develop an advertising campaign that
6. Present advertising campaign budget plans and strategies.
7. Provide advertising campaign report recommendations.
8. Attend and present at advertising campaign reviews.
9. Ensure that all advertising campaigns are completed on time, within budget.
10. Monitor the effectiveness of campaigns; Deliver and present client reports.

Skills:
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills.
- Strong presentation and negotiation skills.
- Strong organizational and time management skills.
- Strong presentation and negotiation skills.
- Ability to meet deadlines and project management skills.
- A proactive thinker.
- Excellent business sense.

Apply to:
http://www.iowastatedaily.com/apply/

Iowa State Daily, 108 Hamilton Hall, Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa 50011

Send Inquiries To:
apply@iowastatedaily.com

Day is a 9 — Focus on your career, and don’t look back. See how your network can support you in getting your ideas into action. Clean up messes when they occur. Take steps without compensation. Perform an anonymous good deed.

---

Daily Fun & Games

Puzzle answers available online at: www.iowastatedaily.com/puzzles

---

Horoscope

Today’s Birthday

Today’s Birthday — Teach what you most want to learn to others. You have a natural flair for communicating, and you’re able to make people laugh, too. Put an ad in our Classifieds & Get Results!

---

Crossword

Today’s Birthday

---

Puzzle answers available online at: www.iowastatedaily.com/puzzles

---

Day is a 9 — Focus on your career, and don’t look back. See how your network can support you in getting your ideas into action. Clean up messes when they occur. Take steps without compensation. Perform an anonymous good deed.

---

Horoscope

Today’s Birthday

Today’s Birthday — Teach what you most want to learn to others. You have a natural flair for communicating, and you’re able to make people laugh, too. Put an ad in our Classifieds & Get Results!

---

Crossword

Today’s Birthday

---

Puzzle answers available online at: www.iowastatedaily.com/puzzles

---

Day is a 9 — Focus on your career, and don’t look back. See how your network can support you in getting your ideas into action. Clean up messes when they occur. Take steps without compensation. Perform an anonymous good deed.