As this issue's theme is the first amendment and its various interpretations, we felt it necessary to provide the text verbatim for our readers. In case you were wondering what exactly all the fuss is about, here it is—straight from the Constitution.

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.
As college students, we’re all professional procrastinators. Next time you’re feeling particularly lazy, why not expand your cultural film horizons? Our staff researched some of the most popular foreign films available for instant streaming on Netflix, all for your personal pleasure! You're welcome.
