The goal of the iArch project is to make information regarding contemporary Indigenous architecture in North America accessible to the public. My role in this process was the conceptualization and communication of this interactive interface that would allow users to access, visualize and interpret this information.

Access
Stories behind every project

Visualize
Through diverse media types

Interpret
Connections between culture and architecture

Drawings
Video
Models

Indian Pueblo Cultural Center
- Albuquerque, New Mexico
- Built 1976
- Tribe: Pueblo
- Operated by 19 Indian Pueblos of New Mexico, this non-profit organization preserves the culture, history and art of the Pueblo people.

Additional Images

Color links to additional information

Icon connects to Project Types

Architects

Northwest Native canoe Center
Grand Ronde
Indian Pueblo
Pueblo of Santa Ana Opiter
Southern Ute
NAU

Lou Weller
- Full Biography
- Awards
- Projects