April 2001

Front Matter

Ethos Magazine

Follow this and additional works at: http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/ethos

Recommended Citation
Available at: http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/ethos/vol2001/iss4/1

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Publications at Iowa State University Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ethos by an authorized editor of Iowa State University Digital Repository. For more information, please contact digirep@iastate.edu.
No money, No taste, No booze.

WHY VEISHEA CAN'T BOOK A DECENT BAND
Editor’s Note

Well, it’s been fun. A lot of hard work, maybe. And definitely not a smooth ride. But I can’t complain. For the most part, being Editor-in-Chief of Ethan magazine for nearly two years has served me well.

And I hope I have served you well. The magazine has gone through many, many changes as of late, and I’m sure you've noticed. But it's par for the course, right? I'm sure you've all done your fair share of changing too. And for some reason, this issue is all about it.

Our cover story on page 16, “Not Everything You Want,” begs the university for some variety in our Veishea musical choices. Ethan staff writer Bethany Kohoutek gets answers to some of the questions we've all been asking for years now.

In an unheard of lengthy interview on page 10, Ethan senior editor Dave Roepke tosses some rapid-fire questions at incoming ISU Prez Gregory Geoffrey and sees how well he can handle the pressure. This is only the beginning of the tests Geoffrey has to look forward to in filling Jischke’s rather large shoes. We wish him luck.

If we think we have it rough with new presidents and a lack of fulfilling entertainment, students at the University of Iowa really have something to cry about.

Thanks to a proposed ban on drink specials, they won’t even be allowed the luxury of crying into their beer. The city council wants to take away most of it. Bridget Bailey tells you about it on page 20.

And finally, we challenge you to do something with yourself over the summer. First time Ethan writer Kristin Guiter lets you know the perks of being an activist on campus on page 15. It’s never too late to pick up a cause.

So there you have it. This will be the last time you have to listen to one of my speeches, but at least I've given you something to think about. You might miss me when I'm gone, but don't worry. I'm leaving you in good hands.

My managing editor, Kate Kompas, will be taking over for me next year and I'm putting all my faith in her efforts. So look forward to even bigger and better changes from her and the rest of the Ethan staff in the future. Have a great summer. You’ll be back soon enough.

Kelsey Foutch
Editor-in-Chief

Get Smart

at the University Book Store

shop online at www.ubs.iastate.edu

IOWA STATE UNIVERSITY STORE

www.ubs.iastate.edu

The University Book Store is a self-supporting auxiliary service owned and operated by Iowa State University.
Putting on His Game Face
Bill Fennelly has rebuilt the ISU Women's basketball program and brought the Cyclone faithful back to Hilton. All this and he's a nice guy.
Paul Kix

Hilton South
When the Cyclones play the Big 12 tournament in Kansas City, Kelly's is the place to be.
Justin Kendall

Bad Moon Rising
Incoming ISU President Gregory Geoffroy has an unenviable task ahead of him. Is he ready?
David Roepke

How To Be An Activist
Who says ISU students are apathetic? Three student activists talk about how to get involved on campus.
Kristin Guiter

Not Everything You Want
We know why we can't have beer at Veishea. Why can't we have good music?
Bethany Kohoutek

Tapped Out
Iowa City officials are considering a ban on alcohol specials in bars.
Bridget Bailey

All The World's A Stage
Theater professor Pat Gouran reflects on his accomplishments in theater, film, and photography.
Shandra Wendorff

Hail to the Chief
Andy Toflin and Charlie Johnson, you've just won the GSB election by a landslide. What are you going to do next?
Jacqui Becker

Out of Sight, Out of Mind
Why getting busted might cost drug users an education.
Bethany Kohoutek

Shortcuts: Napster Alternatives
RIP Napster? Yeah, right.
Justin Kendall