Crop Minute for Week Beginning May 24, 2010

Integrated Crop Management News

Follow this and additional works at: http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/cropnews

Part of the Agricultural Science Commons, Agriculture Commons, and the Agronomy and Crop Sciences Commons

Recommended Citation
http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/cropnews/426

The Iowa State University Digital Repository provides access to Integrated Crop Management News for historical purposes only. Users are hereby notified that the content may be inaccurate, out of date, incomplete and/or may not meet the needs and requirements of the user. Users should make their own assessment of the information and whether it is suitable for their intended purpose. For current information on integrated crop management from Iowa State University Extension and Outreach, please visit https://crops.extension.iastate.edu/.
Crop Minute for Week Beginning May 24, 2010

Abstract
Erin Hodgson, ISU Extension entomologist, talks about current insect activity which is minimal but will increase with the rise in temperatures. Alison Robertson, ISU Extension plant pathologist, discusses whether the early application of fungicides creates any benefit and offers a quick update of current field diseases.

Disciplines
Agricultural Science | Agriculture | Agronomy and Crop Sciences

This article is available at Iowa State University Digital Repository: http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/cropnews/426
Crop Minute for Week Beginning May 24, 2010

Erin Hodgson, ISU Extension entomologist, talks about current insect activity which is minimal but will increase with the rise in temperatures. Alison Robertson, ISU Extension plant pathologist, discusses whether the early application of fungicides creates any benefit and offers a quick update of current field diseases.

Listen to the mp3 files of the May 24 Crop Minute.

This article was published originally on 5/24/2010. The information contained within the article may or may not be up to date depending on when you are accessing the information.

Links to this material are strongly encouraged. This article may be republished without further permission if it is published as written and includes credit to the author, Integrated Crop Management News and Iowa State University Extension. Prior permission from the author is required if this article is republished in any other manner.