Homecoming—1954

The Veterinary Alumni festivities for the 1954 Homecoming began at a luncheon in the Quadrangle. Four hundred alumni, faculty members, and students were served a luncheon of baked ham, potato salad, baked beans, fruit salad, ice cream and coffee. Following the luncheon, many of the alumni attended the football game to see a hard fighting ISC team defeated by Colorado. After the game, old acquaintances were renewed as the separate classes met at various parties and get-togethers. The enjoyment of the days activities was heightened by fair skies and pleasant temperatures.

Class of '34 Reunion
After attending the homecoming luncheon at the Veterinary Quadrangle and the football game, members of the Veterinary Medicine Class of 1934 gathered for a pre-arranged reunion dinner at the Sheldon-Munn Hotel. In attendance were: Dr. and Mrs. A. O. Garlie, Northfield, Minn.; Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Henderson, Ankeny, Iowa; Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Hendricks, Des Moines, Iowa; Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Hoyt, Dundee, Ill.; Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Hughes, Sleepy Eye, Minn.; and Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Ingmand, Red Oak, Iowa.

Also, Dr. D. L. Jones, Appleton, Wis.; Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Kanning, Truman, Minn.; Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Koll, Des Moines, Iowa; Dr. W. P. Muench, Mapleton, Minn.;
Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Paul, Clarence, Iowa; Dr. and Mrs. L. Proctor and son Ted, Oelwein, Iowa; and Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Weidemier, Marcus, Iowa.

Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Pollman, Appleton, Minn., attended the luncheon and game, but were unable to stay for the dinner. After dinner each alumnus spoke briefly about his present location, his family, and the type of work he has done since graduation.

Among the group present were two alumni that have served as president of their respective state veterinary medical association. Dr. Proctor was president of the Iowa Veterinary Medical Association in 1952, and Dr. Hughes was president of the Minnesota Veterinary Medical Association in 1953.

A letter received from Dr. R. W. Gerry of Studio City, Calif., expressed his regrets of being unable to attend the reunion.

It was suggested that a list of the names and addresses of all members of the class be prepared and that a copy be sent to each alumnus of the Class of 1934.

The group decided that a similar reunion should be held in 1959. Dr. H. G. Hoyt of Dundee, Ill., was elected as chairman for the next gathering 5 years hence. S.L.H.

The Iowa Veterinarian recently focused attention on an excellent illustrated article which appeared in the Waterloo Courier on May 9. It featured the activities of three Waterloo practitioners, Drs. Isaac Hayes, '37, R. L. Winegarden, '50, and John Guldner, '32. The Iowa Veterinarian commended such articles as one of the best means of informing the public of "veterinary activities and their relation to animal health".

Dr. Donald E. Zasper, WSC '42, became dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine, University of California, Davis, Calif. He has been in charge of ambulatory clinic and clinical pathology at the University of California. Dr. Jasper received his M. Dr. Bergman Receives Citation. For his effective contributions to the development of Iowa State College, Dr. Henry Dale Bergman, '10, received the Iowa State College Faculty Citation at the Alumni Day Program this past June. Dr. Bergman, dean emeritus of the School of Veterinary Medicine, has previously received the Alumni Recognition Medal for "his earnest and devoted efforts in behalf of the College." Congratulations to Dr. Bergman for this latest honor and for being the first to receive both of these awards.

Thanks, Doctor . . .
. . . for a summer well spent. These are the words of praise and comment from the Seniors. To you practitioners who employ students during the summer, please be assured that these men are most grateful to you for the opportunity to work and learn in the field. It certainly makes a big difference in their ability to handle cases in the clinic, too. May you continue to carry out this practice of hiring student assistants.

Award to Dr. Carey. The Chicago Merit Award, awarded by the Chicago Alumni Association to the veterinary alumnus of Iowa State College who has done most for "advancing human welfare," was presented in 1954, to Dr. James C. Carey, '19. Dr. Carey is a general practitioner at West Liberty, Iowa, and is nationally known for his original thinking. He works "by the Golden Rule" and has been asked by groups across the country to "give expositions on how best to service this important field." The citation further states that he is an active civic worker and "held in highest esteem—both in and out of the profession." Congratulations to Dr. Carey for this well deserved award for "advancing human welfare."

At the recent American Veterinary Medical Association meeting at Seattle, a committee reported that ants are serious enemies of cattle. They play host to the lancet fluke, one of the parasites that kills cattle. Workers collected ants at two different locations in New York and found almost a third of them to be infected with this fluke.

In addition to extraction of blood from the host and inflicting tissue damage, livestock parasites provide avenues of entrance for infective organisms. Pneumonia from lung worms, peritonitis from thorny-headed worms, and black disease of sheep from the effects of liver flukes are examples of lesions due to secondary bacterial invasion following parasite infestation.

A contributor of Town Journal gives these instructions for installing a non-tip outdoor water pan for pets: "Drive a stake into the ground, then place an angel-food cake pan over it (the stake goes through the center hole). Fill the pan with water for pets — they can't tip it over."

It would have taken a train 635 miles long to carry the dog food made in the United States in 1953.
