Borden Award

Ron Huhn, V. M. 4, was presented the Borden Award of three-hundred dollars at the annual Veterinary Medicine Fall Banquet held in the Sun Room of the Memorial Union on September 30, 1964.

This award is given by the Borden Company to the veterinary student who has attained the highest cumulative grade point average at the end of his junior year in veterinary medicine. It is given at nine of the veterinary schools.

Besides achieving scholastic honors, Ron has been active on four university publications and is presently editor for the ISU Veterinarian, the student publication of the College of Veterinary Medicine. He is a member of the Jr. AVMA, Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Zeta honoraries, and is vice president of the veterinary medicine honorary, Phi Zeta.

Ron has participated in the Insight Seminars and has done undergraduate research work in the Department of Veterinary Physiology for the Atomic Energy Commission. He also holds the distinction of having been the only Veterinary Medicine sophomore in the United States to do research for the National Animal Disease Laboratory in 1963.

Cardinal Key Award

Last Spring Mylon Filkins, class of 65, was initiated into Cardinal Key. Cardinal Key is the highest men's honorary on campus. Members are selected on the basis of outstanding leadership, character, service and scholastic achievement. Mylon has been very active in Jr. A.V.M.A. activities, class activities and has also been active in all—university functions and in his church. The Veterinarian extends its congratulations to Mylon Filkins for this high recognition.

UpJohn Dinner

The fifth annual lecture symposium and senior-faculty dinner sponsored by the UpJohn Company was held on October 21, 1964. The lecturer was Dr. Nolen D. Connor, who spoke on Progestins: Physiology, Pharmacology and Clinical Use in the Female. The dinner was held at the Solar Inn. After the meal Dr. Jack Davidson, Director of Professional Relations at UpJohn, presented the UpJohn awards. The awards are based on excellence in the clinical aspects of both large and small animal medicine. The large animal award went to Keith Prasse and the small animal award went to Marlin Frank. Both received certificates, monogrammed leather therapy cases and fifty dollars.
Fall Banquet

The Sun Room at the Memorial Union provided the setting for the 1964 Jr. A.V.M.A. Fall Banquet which was held Sept. 30, 1964. This banquet provides a welcome for the freshmen to the Association and allows them to become acquainted with the function of their association, with their fellow members, and with the faculty.

General Wayne O. Kester of Golden, Colorado was the featured speaker. He spoke on past and present veterinary medicine and offered comments regarding each individual's responsibility to the future of this field.

The President of the Iowa Veterinary Association, Dr. Beaver of Grinnell, Iowa, was present to speak on the function of the Iowa Association. Dean Christensen made the annual Borden Award Presentation to Ron Huhn and introduced the faculty members present. The banquet, under the direction of Master of Ceremonies, Larry Wogahn and co-chairman Ron Huhn, proved to be a fruitful and interesting evening for all.
Freshman Class

The 1964 freshman class of the College of Veterinary Medicine at Iowa State University is composed of seventy-four members. There are forty-nine Iowa residents and twenty-five non-residents. There are two from Wisconsin, eight from Nebraska, two from Minnesota, four from Illinois, two from South Dakota, three from North Dakota, two from Virginia, one from New Jersey, and one from New York.

Eighteen members of the class are married; fifty-six are single; and five are service veterans.

The amount of preparation by the class of 1968 for Veterinary College is as follows: Forty-five with two years of college work, seventeen with three years, ten with four years, one with five years, and one with seven years. Seven members of the class have a B.S. degree. The average age of the class is twenty-one years.

Four of the freshman men are sons of veterinarians. They are Richard F. Kilburn, Kenneth R. Torrey, Daniel M. Woodworth, and David G. Wyatt.

The class is graced again this year with two women students, Karen Puntenney and Kay Harken.

We wish all of the students well in their labors of these next few years. The curriculum will provide a challenge well worth the effort required.
