1968

Book Review

P. T. Pearson
Iowa State University

Follow this and additional works at: https://lib.dr.iastate.edu/iowastate_veterinarian
Part of the Veterinary Medicine Commons

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://lib.dr.iastate.edu/iowastate_veterinarian/vol30/iss3/4

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals at Iowa State University Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Iowa State University Veterinarian by an authorized editor of Iowa State University Digital Repository. For more information, please contact digirep@iastate.edu.
Book Review

"An Atlas of Canine Surgery"

This atlas should be of great supplementary value to the beginning veterinary surgery student and should serve as a helpful reference text for the established veterinary surgeon. The authors intended for this to be a reference book and not a complete text book on abdominal surgery.

Such fundamental procedures as instrument use, incision techniques, suture patterns, sterile technique and instrument pack contents are discussed and well illustrated in the first section of the atlas. Some of the more common gastrointestinal, urogenital and hernia repair techniques in dogs are discussed in the major portion of the atlas. Each of these discussions consist of a list of indications, the operative technique, equipment needed and helpful illustrations. The atlas concludes with a number of miscellaneous procedures on other animals such as castration of the male cat and skunk deodorization.

POLICY OR SERVICE?

Do you want just a policy? Would you prefer a financial planning service to aid you in your financial and professional future—a professional service designed to help you correlate your plans, ambitions, and ideas—a service designed to bridge the gap between your lawyer, accountant, trust officer, and yourself? You need someone who knows his business to handle your financial, estate, and insurance matters for you . . . . for the rest of your life.

For Full Information, Call or Write

ERWIN L. REDMILES & ASSOCIATES

Specializing in Financial Planning For
The Professional Man

University Towers; Lincoln Way at Lynn
Ames, Iowa - Telephone; 292-3460 or 233-2695