Hey, colored boy, America doesn’t like you. You, colored girl, America doesn’t like you. Black, brown, yellow, red, buddhist, muslim, jew America does not like you. But don’t you care - don’t you dare. Because if you don’t like It back, there will be no desire. If you don’t like It back there will be no struggle. If you aren’t strong enough to fight back and like It no matter what walls It builds, there will be no change. And America will continue the same bullshit sales pitch and It will not like you.
