Hot still Sundays
    Preacher Green told how the world would end in fire and the dead would come up out of their graves and the Lord would come and everybody'd say "Amen and Hallelujah" — except me because I wanted things just like they were with my pet rooster and Mom and Dad and the huckster man bringing chocolate bars every Thursday.
